Abducted School Girl Escapes

Alice Devine Is Returned To Her Home

Reported To Have Worked Bonds Loose

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Alice Devine, beautiful 17-year-old Lodi brunette, kidnaped from her home Monday night, was back safe with her family tonight as police of four states hunted her kidnaper who abandoned the girl in a local motel today.

Captain M. W. Lincesum, chief of the Sacramento Detective Bureau tonight announced the girl had been freed and said that he believed publication of the story of the kidnaping had prevented capture of the kidnaper.

Brought To Sacramento

Lincesum said Alice had been brought to Sacramento by her abductor from Lodi, who, when they neared Sacramento, placed her in the auto trunk, hands and feet bound with adhesive tape, and confined her in the Victoria Courts, Stockton Boulevard.

He left Alice in the Motel cabin, still taped up, with the remark he had to make a phone call and would be back shortly. The girl managed after three hours to free herself and placed frantic calls to the sheriff's office and California highway patrol. Patrol officers later released her.

Captain Lincesum said that there was no doubt that the kidnaper came downtown to contact the parents at a bar in a Sacramento hotel, but reading the afternoon papers, he had become frightened and had not returned to the auto court.

Miss Devine said she had not been abused in any way. While she had been trussed up, no attempt had been made to gag her.

Captain Lincesum, after being notified that the girl had been released, posted guards about the auto court and the bar where the original call to the girl's parents demanding ransom, had been placed last night.

Expects To Make Contact

The kidnaper expected to make contact with the parents at the bar where the ransom money was to be paid and both informed where they might find the girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Devine, the girl's parents, came to Sacramento late today to make contact with the kidnaper, bringing the $10,000 ransom which had been demanded. They were informed the girl had been found and the family was posted tonight in their automobile across from the hotel in an effort to identify the kidnaper.

Miss Devine watched cars pass in the hopes of identifying the car which, she said, had an Oregon license. While plain clothesmen sat at the bar and police guarded the block, it was hoped the kidnaper would appear. However, after hours on guard the watch was abandoned.

With hope waning that the kidnaper would be trapped, the Devines left tonight for their home in Lodi.

Officers were first notified of the kidnaping Monday night when a man walked into a Sacramento Hotel Bar and placed a long distance call to Lodi. The operator instructed the party to drop the coins in the box, which he failed to, but managed to pass the message to the Devine home: "If you want to know where your girl is, look for a note in the woodpile."

The telephone operator promptly called back, obtained the location of the call, and a description of the man. In turn, she called the Lodi number and learned that Alice Devine had gone to a photographer at 7 p. m. and had not returned home.

Sacramento police were in turn notified and got in touch with Lodi police and the hunt was started for the abductor.

The bartender on duty at the bar gave detectives a description of the abductor.

RETURNED HOME—Missing from her home for 26 hours, after reportedly being kidnapped, Alice Devine, 17, beautiful California school girl, returned to her home last night, but it could not be learned if her father, John E. Devine, wealthy fruit grower had paid the $10,000 ransom demanded. The girl is reported to have forced her bonds and escaped while the abductors were away.

U. S. Mayors Urged To Crub Union Actions

350 City Heads At Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 — (AP) — Curbs on labor union activities were urged today by several speakers before the United States Conference of Mayors, but AFL President William Green said "oppressive" legislation would produce "industrial warfare."

Taking a position apart from that of President Charles E. Wilson of the General Motors Corp., and others, Green said that workers will continue to make new wage demands as long as living costs keep rising. He added:

"If the government attempts to oppress labor, it will only drive labor to the left."

Former Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York cautioned against "hasty" legislation, but declared that the right to strike against the government—federal or local—"cannot be recognized."

The 350 municipal executives, midway through their annual conference here, heard this sequence of opinion on labor before proceeding tomorrow to draft their own legislative proposals:

1. Wilson offered a seven-point proposal to curb "labor monopolies." He would outlaw industry-wide bargaining and the "abuses of the closed shop," ban strikes by government employees, and strengthen the government's legal hand in crises like the coal strike.

2. Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, scene of last year's crippling power walkout demanded "some restrictions" on strikes against public utilities. He suggested, however, that if such strikes are banned, some other compensation be provided for utility workers.

3. Representative Case (R-SD) said his new strike-control bill was "better balanced" than last year's vetoed measure. In outlining its aims, he asserted "there is no natural right to conspire against the public welfare—even in the name of organized labor."

La Guardia Speaks

4. La Guardia urged that Congress fix a national policy on strikes against the government which would serve as a pattern for new state laws governing state and municipal employees. He supported generally President Truman's announced labor legislation program.

Wilson drew the biggest round of applause of the meeting. The automobile executive said the country again is threatened with a round of strikes like last winter's paralyzing stoppages, during which "consumers and customers generally took the rap." He continued:

"The American people cannot and will not stand for annual work stoppages and organized unemployment in one industry after another. Labor monopolies, like all other monopolies inevitably abuse their power. Americans do not like monopolies or dictators of any kind."

"AT THE BEGINNING"—George C. Marshall, new Secretary of State, goes over his first paper work at his desk yesterday afternoon as Michel McDermott, special assistant for press relations, looks on at right. He told newsmen "I have just reached my desk, so I am at the very beginning x x x."

Former House Member Linked Up By Auditor

Sgt.-At-Arms 'Bank' Short $125,563.72

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Several names, including those of a former House member and Kenneth Romney, former House sergeant-at-arms, were linked by an official audit today to a $125,563.73 shortage in the accounts of the sergeant-at-arms office.

The audit, conducted by Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren, was made public by Speaker Martin.

It said that a number of checks, some of which had never been presented to banks for payment, and some of which had been returned as uncollectable, were carried on the books of the sergeant-at-arms as "cash on hand."

Use Office As Bank

Members of Congress use the office as a "bank" and may have to make up the shortage through pro rata assessments.

The audit said $121,981.22 of the shortage was represented by:

$22,965 in checks issued by Romney and payable to "cash" but never banked.

$8,000 in checks signed by H. A. McKenzie, a former employe of the sergeant-at-arms, one for $7,500 not banked and one for $500 cashed by the Huntington National Bank, Columbus, Ohio, and drawn on the sergeant-at-arms.

$64,573.12 in checks of J. H. Smithwick, a former member of Congress.

$1,376.62 in orders on the sergeant-at-arms by Champ Pickens, identified in the report as a "promoter." Some of these orders were signed by Pickens and endorsed by John Foscue, secretary to former Representative McDuffy was not further identied.

A receipt for $25,066.48 dated November 14, 1938, and signed with the name of Frank J. Mahoney, former bookkeeper for the sergeant-at-arms, reading: "I, Frank J. Mahoney, have taken from the sergeant-at-arms office the amount of $25,066.48."

Congressional biographies list John Harris Smithwick as a Democrat who served in the House from Florida from 1919 to 1927 and was in the real estate business in Fort Myers, Fla., and Washington, D. C.

In addition to the $121,981.22, the audit disclosed, there are $3,582.51 in overdrafts of members of Congress "who will make good."

All the items except the congressional overdrafts, the audit related, were carried as "cash on hand."

Martin said the audit has been turned over to the attorney general for "whatever action he deems necessary." The justice department said Attorney General Tom Clark will assign the report to "the proper officials" tomorrow.

Served As Cashier

Romney, a Democrat, served as cashier or assistant sergeant-at-arms from 1915 to 1931. He was replaced on January 3 of this year by a Republican, William Russell of Pennsylvania.

The Cashier's office operated by the sergeant-at-arms as a "bank" for House members has been closed since the audit was undertaken shortly after Russell's election. It will reopen Thursday at 9 a. m., with withdrawals limited to 75 per cent of the withdrawer's deposits.

Martin said he did not know how the deficit would be made up but added that Romney has bonded for $50,000. In addition, the audit report pointed out, Joseph G. Rodgers, who preceded Romney as sergeant-at-arms, was bonded for the same amount.

"Although the miscellaneous items which were located totaled $121,981.22," Warren reported, "there are many indications that the shortage was much more than that before the time of the audit."

A memorandum copied from the cashier's notebook, Warren added, and dated June 27, 1945, lists as unpaid and uncollected a total of $143,863.77, including $83,879.22 charged to Smithwick and $28,809.46 charged to Mahoney.

The auditor added:

"Thirty-one miscellaneous items, totaling $121,981.22, dated between January 27, 1928, and November 14, 1938, some of which were signed by Kenneth Romney, the former sergeant-at-arms, J. H. Smithwick, a former member of Congress, and others, were carried as 'cash on hand.'

Some Not Presented

"Such items represented checks drawn on the sergeant-at-arms or commercial banks. Some of the latter never had been presented for payment and others had been returned as being uncollectible; also, a statement purported to have been

1,200 Students Hang Talmadge In Effigy

Offers To Submit To 'White Vote'

ATLANTA, Jan. 21 (AP)—A crowd of more than 1,200 shouting college students hanged Herman Talmadge in effigy on Georgia's capitol grounds today a few hours after he offered to let the controversy over the governorship be decided in a "democratic white primary" election.

A dummy denoting Herman, claimant to the governorship though a legislative election, was hanged from the statue of Tom Watson, famous Georgia agricultural leader, while the crowd whooped.

Declines To Address Crowd

Talmadge, who took possession of the executive offices last week by outmaneuvering retiring Governor Ellis Arnall, declined to address the crowd but did receive a delegation and later a group of pro-Talmadge students.

He demurred when the latter group offered to organize a demonstration in his behalf, asserting that "I want my friends to stay out of mob demonstrations."

The hundreds of students, representing Atlanta's colleges and others throughout the state, gathered in the center of the city's business district and then marched gaily to the state house.

Many of the students facetiously gave the Nazi salute and some bore swastika emblems. One banner proclaimed that Georgia "does not want a Nazi governor."

In the wake of a series of protest meetings over the state and with others scheduled, Talmadge made his proposal of a Democratic white primary election to settle the issue between himself and Lieutenant Governor M. E. Thompson, who claims office as acting governor, in an address to the legislature.

Earlier in the day, Thompson had challenged Talmadge to "contest with me before the voters of this state for the governorship." His statement was not clarified but friends said his proposal was that both run at the 1948 general election.

In his legislative address, Talmadge specified that first he wanted the legislature to adopt measures to permit exclusion of negroes from voting in the primary as they are now permitted to do under a United States Supreme Court ruling.

Offer Is Surprise

Talmadge's offer to submit the question to the people came in a surprise supplement to the prepared address which he delivered to a joint session of the House and Senate, and followed only a few hours a challenge from Lieut. Governor M. E. Thompson to agree to an election.

Thompson contends that Talmadge's election to the governorship by the legislature is illegal, and that as Lieutenant Governor, he became the acting executive following resignation of Ellis Arnall.

Talmadge proposed today that both he and Thompson resign as soon as the legislature completes its

Reds Want Atom Bomb Ban Treaty Fixed Right Away

Ask UN Control To Outlaw Weapon

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — Soviet Russia wants the atomic bomb and other weapons of mass destruction banned immediately by an iron-clad pact among the nations of the world.

Russia also wants the United Nations to draw up as quickly as possible the necessary controls to make certain that these prohibited weapons never again would be used to wage war.

This would be done by a disarmament commission which Russia has proposed. This commission also would draft proposals for the general reduction of arms and the reduction of armed forces.

Reliable Soviet sources thus summed up Russia's position on the atomic and arms question today.

They made it clear that Soviet Russia, with the largest army in the world, would leave the question of reduction of armed forces to be worked out by the disarmament commission.

The United States, which is the only nation that has used the atomic bomb and is, as far as is known now, the only nation possessing it, would be called upon under the Russian proposals to discard it immediately. The United States also would be required to destroy existing stocks of bombs within three months after the convention took effect.

The United States, for its part, has offered to give up the bomb when a system of effective international control is established.

Father Of 25 Sent To Prison

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—A 76-year-old father of 25 children was termed the "operator of a school of crime for 11 and 12 year old boys" today by Judge Charles E. Moylan as the judge sentenced him to two years imprisonment on charges of contributing to the delinquency of five juveniles.

The man, Fred Sheppard, who told Judge Moylan in Juvenile Court he had seven children by his first wife and 18 by his second, was accused of buying hams, turkeys, sugar and other stolen articles from five negro boys last month.

20 Persons Hurt When Jersey City Arena Seats Fall

8 Tiers Collapse As Fights End

JERSEY CITY, N. J. Jan. 21—(AP)—At lease 20 persons were injured, five of them seriously, when a stand of spectators' seats collapsed at the Jersey City Garden tonight during a fight program.

A spokesman at the Jersey City Medical Center said 20 persons were in the emergency room. Five of them were listed in serious condition.

There were no dead at the hospital, the spokesman said.

The ten-foot-high stand of eight tiers sagged and collapsed just as the feature fight ended. As the decision was announced, some 200 persons in the wooden stand arose together and jumped forward to descend.

The stand sagged and lurched forward with a cracking and a shattering crash. The spectators were hurled into a screaming, tangled mass of frightened people.

Police on duty at the arena and other spectators hurried to aid the stricken, and a call was issued for police reserves and medical aid. Four ambulances were summoned.

By the time the ambulances had arrived, others of the 2,500 spectators at the fight had been cleared from the auditorium, and the injured were hurried from several exits.

In the fight which had just ended as the single stand along one wall fell Dom Amorose, 135, of Jersey City, won from Eddie White, 135, of Jersey City. It had spectators on their feet much of the way, stamping and pounding.

Russian Demand Refused

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—A Russian demand that the United States arrest and turn over to Soviet authorities Kyrill Alekseev, who recently blasted at his homeland as a "hell of dictatorship," has been rejected, the State Department announced today.

'Can't Draft Marshall Into Political Office'

Series Of Kidnap Threats Are Made On Wheeling Boy

Police Guard Home Of Talbot Black

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 21—(AP)—The News-Register said today a series of kidnap threats had been made against the 3-year-old-son of a Follansbee mortician but nothing happened when the father went through with one set of instructions from the would-be kidnaper under the direction of authorities.

Taken To Safe Place

The newspaper said it had learned that after receiving telephoned and written demands for $10,000, Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Black took their son, Talbot, Jr., to what the father termed a place of safekeeping.

Black was quoted as saying he first received a telephone demand for $10,000 the night of January 10.

"If you call the police," Black said he was told, "your wife will soon be a widow."

Black reported the incident to the Brooke County Sheriff's office. City and state authorities and the Federal Bureau of Investigation were called into the case, the newspaper said.

A second warning came in a call from Steubenville, O., on Jan. 14, black was quoted as saying.

Later Black said he found a note which read in part "Last warning, it isn't safe to deal with the police."

Aroused At Night

Despite the fact the home was guarded, Black was aroused by the doorbell the night of Jan. 17. Armed with a pistol, he said he answered it and found a second note. That instructed the undertaker to obtain $10,000, board a bus at Steubenville from Pittsburgh, but to get off at Paris, Pa., leaving the money on the bus.

The newspaper said this plan, with plainclothes officers and other agents on the job at Paris, Pittsburgh and accompanying Black, was carried out in detail.

The bundle which contained some money, finally wound up in the claims department of the Bus Company at Pittsburgh.

There have been no further threats since January 18, although a guard still is maintained about the Black home.

Stops President Nomination Talk

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — General George C. Marshall, who has been mentioned as a possible presidential nominee, declared today that he "never could be drafted" for political office.

Then, with Democrats and Republicans applauding the seldom-equalled forthrightness of his statement, he took the oath as Secretary of State and promised to "do my best" with the vast problems crowding in upon him.

Marshall's statement, dictated to newsmen who greeted his train in the bleak manner, was obviously designed to disentangle his new job as Secretary of State from any political complications.

Mentioned For Presidency

Evidently he felt that such problems as relations with Russia, the future of Germany, atomic energy and world peace could best be tackled if he did not have to face Congress as a possible contender for the Presidency in 1948. He had been mentioned in speculation about the Democratic nomination.

"I will never become involved in political matters," he volunteered. "I never could be drafted."

For the White House oath-taking ceremony a short time later, the five-star general of the Army laid aside all military regalia. He was clad in civilian clothes, as if to symbolize the pecetime problems he will find so different from his wartime tasks.

Turning to President Truman after the ceremony, he said:

"I appreciate sincerely the honor and the compliment of your confidence. I'll do my best."

The reaction on Capitol Hill to his statement about politics was immediate and favorable.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) keynoted the general comment by telling reporters that the new secretary's announcement "puts him in a much stronger position as he assumes a task that will affect the destiny of this nation and the world."

Asked whether Mr. Truman had known in advance of Marshall's statement, White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said the Chief Executive "did not."

In its firmness and finality of tone, Marshall's announcement was compared with the historical comment attributed to William T. Sherman, Civil War general, who reputedly said of the presidency: "If nominated I will not accept. If elected I will not serve."

Capone Suffers Stroke, Rallies After 12 Hours

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 21 (AP) — Dr. Kenneth Phillips said tonight that Al Capone had rallied and regained consciousness after lying virtually at death's door for more than 12 hours from a stroke of apoplexy.

"All danger is passed for tonight," said the doctor as he emerged from the Capone villa on Palm Island.

"It is possible that he will survive the attack," the doctor added.

This startling change in the former Chicago Gang Leader's condition came after hope had been virtually abandoned and the last sacraments of the Catholic Church administered.

Dr. Phillips said he had made a cardiograph of Capone's heart action and was taking it to his office to study.

About a dozen persons who had gathered at the villa drove away in big, expensive automobiles soon after the doctor left.

The doctor said the rally began unexpectedly and Capone tried to

Gen. Eisenhower Ill With "Gastro Upset"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower entered Walter Reed Army Hospital today suffering an "acute gastro (stomach) upset," but physicians said they did not consider his condition serious."

They said he could leave the hospital tomorrow morning.

As a precaution, a cardiograph was made of the general's heart action. It was found to be normal. Blood-pressure tests also showed a reaction within normal limits, the War Department said.

The 56-year-old chief of staff was stricken this morning. He drove out to the hospital in his own car, however, and placed himself in the hands of physicians for observation.

West Virginia School Principal Quits To Take Job Digging Coal

BECKLEY, W. Va., Jan. 21 (AP)—Erskine Richmond, who digs coal when not engaged in the classroom, quit the principalship of a two-room school today with a declaration teachers could better their lot by joining the United Mine Workers.

"Since I can make almost twice as much mining coal as teaching school," said Richmond in a letter to County Superintendent B. B. Chambers, "I hereby resign as principal of Farley Hill School."

The Raleigh County Board of Education on January 6 announced Richmond's suspension on the ground he was neglecting his classroom duties in order to do an eight-hour stint digging coal at the Crab Orchard Company's mine.

The board alleged that Richmond sometimes dismissed school early in order to catch the 4:30 p. m. "man trip" going into the mine.

Last Saturday, the Board relented and announced Richmond's reinstatement.

He had said at the time of suspension that his income from digging coal was $320 a month, and from his teaching position, $173.

New York's Chinatown Welcomes New Year 4635 With Pageantry

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—The rich and poor of storied Chinatown tonight paid their debts, fasted—and prepared for feasting—as they welcomed their New Year, 4635 by the Chinese calendar.

Absent from the narrow, twisting streets of the picturesque lower Manhattan sector was the feverish cacophony and zany hi-jinks that shook the town to the rafters three weeks ago.

Residents of Chinatown usher in the young fellow at midnight with centuries old pomp and pageantry—and with characteristic oriental restraint.

By tradition, the solemn New Year's eve celebration calls for payment of all debts, strict fasting—then sumptuous dining.

Most important, it's the time for the studied wooing of "good omens," those legendary forerunners of china's "three happinesses"; longevity, prosperity and many children.

Incidentally, a child born before midnight tonight will be two years old tomorrow for the Chinese compute their ages on the number of calendar years in a life span.

"The Chinese New Year observance," said Shavey Lee, Mulberry street restaurateur and "mayor" of Chinatown, "is quiet and solemn and very much like the American observance of Christmas."

Martin said the audit has been turned over to the attorney general for "whatever action he deems necessary." The justice department said Attorney General Tom Clark will assign the report to "the proper officials" tomorrow.

Served As Cashier

Romney, a Democrat, served as cashier or assistant sergeant-at-arms from 1915 to 1931. He was replaced on January 3 of this year by a Republican, William Russell of Pennsylvania.

The Cashier's office operated by the sergeant-at-arms as a "bank" for House members has been closed since the audit was undertaken shortly after Russell's election. It will reopen Thursday at 9 a. m., with withdrawals limited to 75 per cent of the withdrawer's deposits.

Martin said he did not know how the deficit would be made up but added that Romney has bonded for $50,000. In addition, the audit report pointed out, Joseph G. Rodgers, who preceded Romney as sergeant-at-arms, was bonded for the same amount.

"Although the miscellaneous items which were located totaled $121,981.22," Warren reported, "there are many indications that the shortage was much more than that before the time of the audit."

A memorandum copied from the cashier's notebook, Warren added, and dated June 27, 1945, lists as unpaid and uncollected a total of $143,863.77, including $83,879.22 charged to Smithwick and $26,809.46 charged to Mahoney.

The auditor added:

"Thirty-one miscellaneous items, totaling $121,981.22, dated between January 27, 1928, and November 14, 1938, some of which were signed by Kenneth Romney, the former sergeant-at-arms, J. H. Smithwick, a former member of Congress, and others, were carried as 'cash on hand.'

Some Not Presented

"Such items represented checks drawn on the sergeant-at-arms or commercial banks. Some of the latter never had been presented for payment and others had been returned as being uncollectible; also, a statement purported to have been

1,200 Students Hang Talmadge In Effigy

Offers To Submit To 'White Vote'

ATLANTA, Jan. 21 (AP)—A crowd of more than 1,200 shouting college students hanged Herman Talmadge in effigy on Georgia's capitol grounds today a few hours after he offered to let the controversy over the governorship be decided in a "democratic white primary" election.

A dummy denoting Herman, claimant to the governorship though a legislative election, was hanged from the statue of Tom Watson, famous Georgia agricultural leader, while the crowd whooped.

Declines To Address Crowd

Talmadge, who took possession of the executive offices last week by outmaneuvering retiring Governor Ellis Arnall, declined to address the crowd but did receive a delegation and later a group of pro-Talmadge students.

He demurred when the latter group offered to organize a demonstration in his behalf, asserting that "I want my friends to stay out of mob demonstrations."

The hundreds of students, representing Atlanta's colleges and others throughout the state, gathered in the center of the city's business district and then marched gaily to the state house.

Many of the students facetiously gave the Nazi salute and some bore swastika emblems. One banner proclaimed that Georgia "does not want a Nazi governor."

In the wake of a series of protest meetings over the state and with others scheduled, Talmadge made his proposal of a Democratic white primary election to settle the issue between himself and Lieutenant Governor M. E. Thompson, who claims office as acting governor, in an address to the legislature.

Earlier in the day, Thompson had challenged Talmadge to "contest with me before the voters of this state for the governorship." His statement was not clarified but friends said his proposal was that both run at the 1948 general election.

In his legislative address, Talmadge specified that first he wanted the legislature to adopt measures to permit exclusion of negroes from voting in the primary as they are now permitted to do under a United States Supreme Court ruling.

Offer Is Surprise

Talmadge's offer to submit the question to the people came in a surprise supplement to the prepared address which he delivered to a joint session of the House and Senate, and followed only a few hours a challenge from Lieut. Governor M. E. Thompson to agree to an election.

Thompson contends that Talmadge's election to the governorship by the legislature is illegal, and that as Lieutenant Governor, he became the acting executive following resignation of Ellis Arnall.

Talmadge proposed today that both he and Thompson resign as soon as the legislature completes its

Reds Want Atom Bomb Ban Treaty Fixed Right Away

Ask UN Control To Outlaw Weapon

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — Soviet Russia wants the atomic bomb and other weapons of mass destruction banned immediately by an iron-clad pact among the nations of the world.

Russia also wants the United Nations to draw up as quickly as possible the necessary controls to make certain that these prohibited weapons never again would be used to wage war.

This would be done by a disarmament commission which Russia has proposed. This commission also would draft proposals for the general reduction of arms and the reduction of armed forces.

Reliable Soviet sources thus summed up Russia's position on the atomic and arms question today.

They made it clear that Soviet Russia, with the largest army in the world, would leave the question of reduction of armed forces to be worked out by the disarmament commission.

The United States, which is the only nation that has used the atomic bomb and is, as far as is known now, the only nation possessing it, would be called upon under the Russian proposals to discard it immediately. The United States also would be required to destroy existing stocks of bombs within three months after the convention took effect.

The United States, for its part, has offered to give up the bomb when a system of effective international control is established.

Father Of 25 Sent To Prison

BALTIMORE, Jan. 21 (AP)—A 76-year-old father of 25 children was termed the "operator of a school of crime for 11 and 12 year old boys" today by Judge Charles E. Moylan as the judge sentenced him to two years imprisonment on charges of contributing to the delinquency of five juveniles.

The man, Fred Sheppard, who told Judge Moylan in Juvenile Court he had seven children by his first wife and 18 by his second, was accused of buying hams, turkeys, sugar and other stolen articles from five negro boys last month.

20 Persons Hurt When Jersey City Arena Seats Fall

8 Tiers Collapse As Fights End

JERSEY CITY, N. J. Jan. 21—(AP)—At lease 20 persons were injured, five of them seriously, when a stand of spectators' seats collapsed at the Jersey City Garden tonight during a fight program.

A spokesman at the Jersey City Medical Center said 20 persons were in the emergency room. Five of them were listed in serious condition.

There were no dead at the hospital, the spokesman said.

The ten-foot-high stand of eight tiers sagged and collapsed just as the feature fight ended. As the decision was announced, some 200 persons in the wooden stand arose together and jumped forward to descend.

The stand sagged and lurched forward with a cracking and a shattering crash. The spectators were hurled into a screaming, tangled mass of frightened people.

Police on duty at the arena and other spectators hurried to aid the stricken, and a call was issued for police reserves and medical aid. Four ambulances were summoned.

By the time the ambulances had arrived, others of the 2,500 spectators at the fight had been cleared from the auditorium, and the injured were hurried from several exits.

In the fight which had just ended as the single stand along one wall fell Dom Amorose, 135, of Jersey City, won from Eddie White, 135, of Jersey City. It had spectators on their feet much of the way, stamping and pounding.

Russian Demand Refused

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — A Russian demand that the United States arrest and turn over to Soviet authorities Kyrill Alekseev, who recently blasted at his homeland as a "hell of dictatorship," has been rejected, the State Department announced today.

'Can't Draft Marshall Into Political Office'

Stops President Nomination Talk

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — General George C. Marshall, who has been mentioned as a possible presidential nominee, declared today that he "never could be drafted" for political office.

Then, with Democrats and Republicans applauding the seldom-equalled forthrightness of his statement, he took the oath as Secretary of State and promised to "do my best" with the vast problems crowding in upon him.

Marshall's statement, dictated to newsmen who greeted his train in the bleak manner, was obviously designed to disentangle his new job as Secretary of State from any political complications.

Mentioned For Presidency

Evidently he felt that such problems as relations with Russia, the future of Germany, atomic energy and world peace could best be tackled if he did not have to face Congress as a possible contender for the Presidency in 1948. He had been mentioned in speculation about the Democratic nomination.

"I will never become involved in political matters," he volunteered. "I never could be drafted."

For the White House oath-taking ceremony a short time later, the five-star general of the Army laid aside all military regalia. He was clad in civilian clothes, as if to symbolize the pecetime problems he will find so different from his wartime tasks.

Turning to President Truman after the ceremony, he said:

"I appreciate sincerely the honor and the compliment of your confidence. I'll do my best."

The reaction on Capitol Hill to his statement about politics was immediate and favorable.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) keynoted the general comment by telling reporters that the new secretary's announcement "puts him in a much stronger position as he assumes a task that will affect the destiny of this nation and the world."

Asked whether Mr. Truman had known in advance of Marshall's statement, White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said the Chief Executive "did not."

In its firmness and finality of tone, Marshall's announcement was compared with the historical comment attributed to William T. Sherman, Civil War general, who reputedly said of the presidency: "If nominated I will not accept. If elected I will not serve."

Series Of Kidnap Threats Are Made On Wheeling Boy

Police Guard Home Of Talbot Black

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 21—(AP)—The News-Register said today a series of kidnap threats had been made against the 3-year-old son of a Follansbee mortician but nothing happened when the father went through with one set of instructions from the would-be kidnaper under the direction of authorities.

Taken To Safe Place

The newspaper said it had learned that after receiving telephoned and written demands for $10,000, Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Black took their son, Talbot, Jr., to what the father termed a place of safekeeping.

Black was quoted as saying he first received a telephone demand for $10,000 the night of January 10.

"If you call the police," Black said he was told, "your wife will soon be a widow."

Black reported the incident to the Brooke County Sheriff's office. City and state authorities and the Federal Bureau of Investigation were called into the case, the newspaper said.

A second warning came in a call from Steubenville, O., on Jan. 14, black was quoted as saying.

Later Black said he found a note which read in part "Last warning, it isn't safe to deal with the police."

Aroused At Night

Despite the fact the home was guarded, Black was aroused by the doorbell the night of Jan. 17. Armed with a pistol, he said he answered it and found a second note. That instructed the undertaker to obtain $10,000, board a bus at Steubenville from Pittsburgh, but to get off at Paris, Pa., leaving the money on the bus.

The newspaper said this plan, with plainclothes officers and other agents on the job at Paris, Pittsburgh and accompanying Black, was carried out in detail.

The bundle, which contained some money, finally wound up in the claims department of the Bus Company at Pittsburgh.

There have been no further threats since January 18, although a guard still is maintained about the Black home.

Capone Suffers Stroke, Rallies After 12 Hours

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 21 (AP) — Dr. Kenneth Phillips said tonight that Al Capone had rallied and regained consciousness after lying virtually at death's door for more than 12 hours from a stroke of apoplexy.

"All danger is passed for tonight," said the doctor as he emerged from the Capone villa on Palm Island.

"It is possible that he will survive the attack," the doctor added.

This startling change in the former Chicago Gang Leader's condition came after hope had been virtually abandoned and the last sacraments of the Catholic Church administered.

Dr. Phillips said he had made a cardiograph of Capone's heart action and was taking it to his office to study.

About a dozen peradns who had gathered at the villa drove away in big, expensive automobiles soon after the doctor left.

The doctor said the rally began unexpectedly and Capone tried to

Gen. Eisenhower Ill With "Gastro Upset"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower entered Walter Reed Army Hospital today suffering an "acute gastro (stomach) upset," but physicians said they did not consider his condition serious."

They said he could leave the hospital tomorrow morning.

As a precaution, a cardiograph was made of the general's heart action. It was found to be normal. Blood-pressure tests also showed a reaction within normal limits, the War Department said.

The 56-year-old chief of staff was stricken this morning. He drove out to the hospital in his own car, however, and placed himself in the hands of physicians for observation.

West Virginia School Principal Quits To Take Job Digging Coal

BECKLEY, W. Va., Jan. 21 (AP)—Erskine Richmond, who digs coal when not engaged in the classroom, quit the principalship of a two-room school today with a declaration teachers could better their lot by joining the United Mine Workers.

"Since I can make almost twice as much mining coal as teaching school," said Richmond in a letter to County Superintendent B. B. Chambers, "I hereby resign as principal of Farley Hill School."

The Raleigh County Board of Education on January 6 announced Richmond's suspension on the ground he was neglecting his classroom duties in order to do an eight-hour stint digging coal at the Crab Orchard Company's mine.

The board alleged that Richmond sometimes dismissed school early in order to catch the 4:30 p. m. "man trip" going into the mine.

Last Saturday, the Board relented and announced Richmond's reinstatement.

He had said at the time of suspension that his income from digging coal was $320 a month, and from his teaching position, $178.

New York's Chinatown Welcomes New Year 4635 With Pageantry

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—The rich and poor of storied Chinatown tonight paid their debts, fasted—and prepared for feasting—as they welcomed their New Year, 4635 by the Chinese calendar.

Absent from the narrow, twisting streets of the picturesque lower Manhattan sector was the feverish cacophony and zany hi-jinks that shook the town to the rafters three weeks ago.

Residents of Chinatown usher in the young fellow at midnight with centuries old pomp and pageantry—and with characteristic oriental restraint.

By tradition, the solemn New Year's eve celebration calls for payment of all debts, strict fasting—then sumptuous dining.

Most important, it's the time for the studied wooing of "good omens," those legendary forerunners of china's "three happinesses"; longevity, prosperity and many children.

Incidentally, a child born before midnight tonight will be two years old tomorrow for the Chinese compute their ages on the number of calendar years in a life span.

"The Chinese New Year observance," said Shavey Lee, Mulberry street restaurateur and "mayor" of Chinatown, "is quiet and solemn and very much like the American observance of Christmas."

Legion Of Guardsmen's National Organizer Speaks Here Friday

State Department Will Be Organized

William Schulman, Jersey City, N. J., chairman of the National Organizing Committee of the Legion of Guardsmen, will be the presiding officer at a meeting here Saturday to organize the Department of Maryland of the organization.

Schulman also will be the speaker at a banquet Friday night which will mark the opening of the session.

The banquet Friday will be held in Queen City Hotel ball room and remarks are scheduled by Chief Judge William A. Huster, Associate Judge George Henderson, both former servicemen, by commanders of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets and Marine Corps League posts in this city, and by Robert J. Herstine, commander of Algonquin Post No. 2, Legion of Guardsmen, Cumberland, Capt. William R. Caskey, commander of Washington County Post No. 3, Legion of Guardsmen, Hagerstown, and John S. Holland, commander of Elmer A. Dize Post No. 1, Legion of Guardsmen, Crisfield.

Will Elect Officers

Delegates to the meeting will be present from Hagerstown and Crisfield as well as Cumberland, and it is expected that delegates also will attend from Baltimore and Silver Spring. Fort Cumberland Hotel will be headquarters for the session.

Business meetings Saturday morning and afternoon will be held in City Hall auditorium with Schulman presiding, and state officers will be elected at the afternoon session.

State delegates to the national convention to be held in New York February 21, 22 and 23 also will be named Saturday. Charles E. Gilford has been named, however, to represent Algonquin Post at the national meeting.

Further arrangements for the sessions here were made at a meeting of Algonquin Post Monday night, and will be completed at a committee meeting Friday in the office of Thomas F. Conlon, Liberty Trust Building.

Schulman, who is considered to be "in the running" for national commander, subject to the election to be held at the New York convention next month, is a native of New York City but has resided in New Jersey for 39 years.

Active In Fund Campaigns

Operator of three retail women's apparel stores, Schulman has been active in all civic affairs of Hudson county, N. J., and during the war took a leading part in War Loan, Red Cross and National War Fund campaigns. He is an ardent aviation enthusiast and pilot and owns his own plane.

Schulman, who first enlisted in the National Guard in 1928, was first sergeant when the National Guard went into federal service in 1941, but he was discharged after five days of federal service because he was overage, had a family and lacked sufficient teeth.

He served in the New Jersey State Guard from September 1941 until July 2, 1946, when he was discharged as a first sergeant.

Two Theft Cases Set For Trial

Logue And Morgan Plead Not Guilty

Two robbery cases are set for trial in Circuit Court today, according to Clerk of Court Robert Jackson, and will probably be taken up after the manslaughter case, now being heard, is concluded.

Robert Logue, indicted in holdups here and in Westernport, has entered a plea of not guilty. He is accused of robbing the Norris Grocery on Pennsylvania avenue here and the Kerns Grocery in Westernport. The court appointed John M. Robb to defend him.

Indicted with him is Albert Schimminger, who entered a plea of guilty Saturday through his counsel, Thomas B. Finan, Jr.

Thomas H. Morgan, charged with taking jewelry, watches and other articles valued at $2,900 from Bernstein's Furniture Store here, last December 31, is also scheduled to go on trial today.

Gray And White Sentenced

Raymond Gray and Thomas White, two local youths, were arraigned in Circuit Court yesterday on charges of robbery and after entering pleas of guilty were sentenced to serve two years each in the Maryland Reformatory for Males.

Gray's sentence is to run concurrently with a sentence passed on him recently in Juvenile Court. He is now serving a sentence, according to Associate Judge George Henderson, in the Maryland House of Correction, but an effort will be made to have him transferred to the Reformatory.

White's sentence was suspended on condition that he go to work, support his mother, remain on his good behavior and refrain from intoxicants of any kind.

A third youth, George Steward, indicted with Gray and White, is reported to be ill in Arizona.

The trio were charged with robbing Wilmont Loadman on a local street last October 3, and taking $50 from him. White and Gray were represented by Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Jr.

Shipley In Court

James W. Shipley, charged with paternity, who entered a plea of guilty, was not present when his name was called Monday afternoon for the judges to impose sentence. He was apprehended later by sheriff's deputies and brought into court today.

Shipley was ordered to pay $100 medical expenses to the mother of the child and $8 a month to support the child until it is 16 years of age. In event of default, he must serve one year in the House of Correction.

It was indicated that criminal appeals will be started Thursday or Friday.

Bus Terminal Plans To Be Discussed

Plans for the proposed bus terminal at the intersection of Bedford and North Centre streets will be reviewed at a meeting scheduled for next Monday, January 27, at 2 p. m. in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post, according to H. W. Smith, secretary of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

Members of the commission will discuss the plans with A. F. McDonald, Hagerstown, in charge of operations for the blue Ridge Transportation Company.

Undergoes Operation

W. R. E. King, 450 Columbia street, restaurant inspector for the Cumberland Health Department, is reported "doing fairly well" at Memorial Hospital, where he underwent an operation Monday. He was admitted last Thursday.

Price Drops On Major Items Are Not Expected For Six Months

Cut In Food Cost Expected By Many

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., January 21—Speaking in terms of majority opinion, the American people don't expect much in the way of price relief in the next six months.

Such is the evidence from a nationwide survey just completed by the Institute.

Food prices are an exception to the general trend. About as many persons expect food prices to drop as expect them to remain the same or go higher.

But, aside from food, majorities say they feel that prices will either remain stationary or go up within the next half year on a scheduled list of basic goods and services about which field reporters questioned them.

The question in the survey:

"Do you think that prices on the following items will be higher, lower, or about the same six months from now?"

	Higher or About Same	Lower	No Op.
Food	46%	48%	6%
Rent	83	13	4
Clothing	55	38	7
Automobiles	70	19	11
Mfg's Goods Radios, Refrigerators	65	30	5
Real Estate	56	37	7

College people, however, are more inclined to look for price drops on food, clothing, and manufactured goods than voters in other educational groups or the total voting population. Men and women show no marked differences in their thinking on the question.

Higher Prices?

A further breakdown of the findings brings out some other interesting facts. Limiting the analysis to the people who don't think prices are going down—that is, those who say prices will remain the same, or go up:

1. More of the people included in the survey think rents are going to increase than think they are going to stay where they are. The same hold true for thinking about automobile prices, and for the prices of manufactured goods such as radios and refrigerators. Public opinion may be conditioned here by repeated assertions that new wage demands are in the offing in industry and that if wage increases occur, price increases must follow.

2. On food, clothing, and real estate, more think prices will stay where they are than think they are going up even higher.

Georgia's Hot Time Not First Such Spectacle

The unique spectacle of two fighting for control of the state of Georgia is new in American government and dangerous. Herman Talmadge, 33-year-old son of the late Gene Talmadge, was elected by the Legislature to fill the place of his father who died before he had been sworn in. The elder Talmadge, incidentally, was elected by a minority vote—under Georgia's strange "county unit" system which gives rural counties an electoral strength in state elections greater than that of the populous counties.

Young Talmadge, of course, wasn't even a candidate in the election. Nevertheless, the Legislature elected him to succeed his father, in place of the Lieutenant-Governor who had been victorious in the regular election. This was on the excuse that around 600 voters wrote in young Talmadge's name in the regular election.

The old Governor, Ellis Arnall, has resigned after hanging on to the office until last Saturday, and now Lieutenant-Governor M. E. Thompson has established rival executive offices on the second floor of the state Capitol, pending Court adjudication. Sounds like a Balkan state, doesn't it? Georgia and the nation will be fortunate if they can get the succession straightened out without the sort of strife that has characterized such contests between rival governments in Balkan states.

But we have read and heard several commentators say that what is now happening in Georgia proves for the first time that dictatorship can happen here. Of course it can, but this is not the first time. All of which points the old moral that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. Vigilance has always asserted itself before. We are confident it will ultimately in Georgia. Up to now, spectacular as that show is, its a sideshow as compared with what occurred in Oklahoma in 1923.

Governor Jack Walton, out of a clear sky in September of that year, declared martial law. Though not as much in the way of excitement was going on then as could be found at a church sociable, nevertheless the troops were called out. As the story goes, Mr. Walton had reviewed the National Guard at the Summer encampment and had discovered that he was commander-in-chief of the state's armed forces. So, under the claim that the state was threatened with an insurrection he acted to show his authority. There followed what was probably the greatest example in our history of what suddenly unleased military power can mean.

Fortunately, the affair had a bloodless outcome largely due to the wisdom of Adjutant General Baird Markham who rode herd on Governor Walton without Mr. Walton realizing it. While technically obeying all orders of his command, General Markham nevertheless was able to avoid any shooting. While it all lasted, however, Governor Walton ravished the Bill of Rights. Habeas Corpus, trial by jury, the right to peaceful assembly, the guarantee against unwarranted search and seizure—those and other precious things went into the wastebasket.

The capital's police station was taken over by the National Guard. The courts were barred. A citizen had to have a pass to be on the streets after midnight. The State Fair, a great annual event, was called off by a Walton edict. Those are just a few of the high spots. Finally, the Legislature tried to meet and stop the man who had run amuck. Nothing doing. Mr. Walton ordered the militia to line up in front of the Capitol, ready to fire. The lawmakers beat a retreat. Finally, the Legislature did convene, and Governor Walton was impeached, and the State of Oklahoma lived an orderly life.

All of that is recalled merely as pertinent to what is now going on in Georgia. And speaking of Georgia, we remember that Henry Mechken—roughly quoted here—said that Stalin was a Georgian which meant the same thing in Russia that it did in this country. And let's not forget Huey Long.

Glimpse Of Utopia In Field Of Home Building

It is a debatable point whether a man who declares that the end of the nation's housing shortage is in sight has better vision than others who have aired their opinions on this subject or whether he is simply more of an optimist. But that, at any rate, is the position taken by Watson Malone of Philadelphia, president of the Middle Atlantic Lumbermen's Association.

Malone, in fact, is nothing if not confident. Is there anyone present, who by any chance, yearns for a six-room home built of the finest materials and fitting modern ideas of functional living space and traditional concepts of charm? According to Malone such homes will be available this year at from $6,000 to $7,000. For those who prefer large homes, he says, houses with three to four bedrooms can be built for $10,000 or less.

Considering that new dwellings of comparable size are now selling at approximately twice these figures and that there is no sign of a major decline in labor or material costs, Malone has given the construction industry a man-sized order to fill. It is difficult for people who have been desperately house-hunting for months to believe that a time is really at hand when it will not only be possible to buy a home at reasonable figures but when—to quote Malone—those desiring homes may expect them to be ready for occupancy thirty days after construction begins.

Most Americans hope Malone is right and wish him all possible luck with his prediction. There are few things the country could find better use for at the moment than a few million homes at reasonable prices. Perhaps what is needed is a few more optimists in the construction industry who really believe that it can be done.

Up To Congress

From L. Metcalfe Walling, administrator of the Wage-Hour Act, comes the statement that the portal-to-portal pay claims now being filed by labor unions are "greatly exaggerated." The ultimate liability of employers, he says, will be "only a small fraction of the amounts now being talked about." This estimate should be some comfort to the companies confronted by these suits, which now total more than $4,000,000,000.

But Walling's resume of the situation—he insists that not all time spent by an employe on an employer's premises need be considered, etc.—merely emphasizes that congressional action is needed to clear the air, since the mess was created by Congress' action in enacting the Wage-Hour Act.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE ORIGIN OF BEDSORES

THE care of a sick relative or friend at home frequently proves difficult for the novice. This is particularly if the patient is confined to bed for a prolonged period as in tuberculosis or following a fracture or stroke. The daily routine must include bathing, feeding, attention to the daily habits, and amusement designed to pass the lonely hours more quickly.

Since lying quietly for weeks is unnatural, many complications can arise. The bedsore, for example, often develops even tho the sufferer is receiving the best of care. The lesions appear usually over the bony prominence of the lower back where the skin is thin and contact greatest.

The first telltale evidence is a localized spot of redness, resembling inflammation. If allowed to continue, the skin cracks and the blemish enlarges quickly and begins to discharge a watery solution. With bacterial invasion, infection ensues, and eventually the region assumes the appearance of an ulcer with a circumscribed border. If unattended, spread is rapid and the lesion becomes several inches in diameter. Pain is exhibited, augmenting the misery of the original illness.

Altho it is generally conceded that local pressure over a long interval is all that is necessary to cause the tissues to break down, other factors must be taken into consideration. The force interferes with local circulation, leaving the overlying surface without proper nourishment. In some instances, the parts have little resistance and are weak because of the general condition of the individual. In consequence symptoms appear earlier than anticipated. The impaired vitality may be due to lack of proteins and, by administering extra quantities in the form of amino acids by vein or mouth, healing is encouraged; occasionally vitamin B is valuable along this line.

The home nurse can help in prevention by eliminating pressure over the involved area. Lying on an air mattress or inflated rubber ring is most beneficial and, if patient is turned or rolled on his side several times thruout the day, additional relief will be afforded. Washing the back thoroly with soap and water and massaging with alcohol, followed by the application of a fine powder is the regimen recommended. The mattress and covers should be checked for wrinkles and lumps which are common after resting in bed for several hours. The sheets and bedclothing must be changed in the presence of undue sweating because moisture adds to maceration of the tissues.

Should a lesion appear, these procedures must be adhered to meticulously. Furthermore, the ulceration will require scrupulous care. Many sufferers are benefitted by exposures to ultraviolet light and the heat rays given off by the infra-red lamp. Circulation is improved and repair hastened.

The sores must be kept clean to minimize bacterial invasion. Before anything is applied the region is cleansed with hydrogen peroxide, soap, or boric acid solution. After drying has occurred, one of several ointments or solutions may be employed. These include balsam of Peru, cod liver oil, vitamin D or A salve, tragacanth, dense pectin paste, gentian violet, and tincture of benzoin. The sulfonamides or penicillin have potent antiseptic qualities and are particularly useful if the type of invading germ is susceptible to the influence of these drugs.

MISNAMED

L. E. W. writes: Is there such a disease as rickets of the brain?

REPLY

No. The skull is affected frequently but not the brain itself. In fact, most tots with rickets are good natured and contented, showing no signs of irritability.

THYROID and BLOOD PRESSURE

R. C. writes: Could a goiter cause high blood pressure?

REPLY

Yes. When the thyroid is overactive, the pressure in the arteries (systolic) is often elevated altho the diastolic level remains low.

RUPTURED EARDRUM

C. V. writes: Does perforated eardrum lead to deafness?

REPLY

The symptom is often present temporarily, until healing occurs.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

BEA LILLIE

The great entertainer and England's foremost comedienne, Miss Beatrice Lillie, honored our radio show with one of her first American appearances since returning to the stage.

She was really thrilled at being on our show—and why not?—they haven't seen eggs in England for years.

When she asked to see the tubes, I was only too happy to give her some. How did I know she meant the subway?

She was a terrific hit with the Hollywood crowd. All evening long she discussed the pros and cons of smog and fog.

Miss Lillie came over here to replenish her wardrobe with some American styles. She told me "entre-nous" that she was awfully tired sewing those teabags together. The dresses looked fine, but she didn't know what to do with all those strings.

As for myself, I've always been in favor of English-cut styles. When I left my tailor with wescoat and crumpet in label, I went off half cock-neyed.

The clothing shortage in England is really tough though and I understand that the men there are being forced to retread their spats. Not only are there no two-pants suits in England, but the men are mighty luck that the fog is as thick as it is.

Federal Bureau Of Investigation Knew Of Intimidation Of Georgia Voters By Gene Talmadge; General Marshall "Leaked" News In 1941, May Tighten New Policy Of Retiring Secretary James F. Byrnes.

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—It was carefully hushed up at the time, but the political mess in Georgia might have been avoided if the Justice Department had gone ahead with a secret probe it conducted of the Talmadge election.

Last fall, the Justice Department had FBI men making a thorough check of Talmade intimidation and racial discrimination at the polls. This, under recent Supreme Court rulings, now is the direct concern of the federal government and can be prosecuted as a criminal offense.

The FBI investigation showed that Talmadge had sent instructions to the Georgia primary polls aimed at preventing negroes from voting. Although the evidence was conclusive, the Justice Department finally got cold feet. The case was dropped.

One obstacle the Justice Department ran up against was the fact that Eugene Talmadge was sick and they couldn't get to him for interrogation. Also son Herman Talmadge outbluffed the Justice boys and refused to answer questions unless a stenographer was present.

Final factor, however, was the fear federal government intervention in Georgia would boomerang, hurting the very same liberal forces the justice department wanted to help.

Marshall's War Leak

One of the most significant things to watch regarding the State Department under General Marshall will be whether he continues Jimmie Byrnes' policy of open diplomacy.

No secretary of state since Charles Evans Hughes has been as frank with the press as Byrnes. Hughes handled all press conferences himself, was a master at giving important background information, was generally frank and forthright. Byrnes, while not handling many conferences himself, went further than Hughes in making sure that a competent State Department official gave newsmen a general picture of what was happening inside diplomatic negotiations.

Byrnes also didn't object to most news leaks; felt the American people had the right to know about foreign policy.

However, some of those allegedly close to General Marshall say he may tighten up on the Byrnes policy and crack down on news leaks. This, of course, may be unfair to the new secretary of state; for, based on his own past record, Marshall has been quite a "leaker" himself. In fact, one cable seized from the files of the German foreign office now reveals that General Marshall was woeully discreet in the early stages of the European war and inadvertently let out important secrets to the enemy.

When the American army captured German files in Berlin, one of the most amazing cables they unearthed was sent by Nazi consul General Hans Borchers in New York, May 13, 1941, regarding a dinner-table conversation General Marshall had with a high American society woman. The cable read as follows:

"Mrs. Herbig told that she sat at a dinner between General Marshall and a member of the government and the possibilities of war in Europe were discussed and both stated that it was definite that Greenland, Iceland, and the Azores should be used as bases for troops in order to facilitate invasion of Norway, northern France, Spain, and Portugal. An attempt was being made to select qualified elements for a fifth column to Spain among prisoners and immigrants."

At that very same time, American newspapers were being bitterly condemned when some of them hinted that the United States was planning to use Iceland and the Azores as military bases.

A little later, when Maj. Gen. Henry Miller told a society lady in London about Allied plans for the Normandy invasion, he was promptly reduced to the rank of colonel and sent home from England.

NOTE—Mrs. Herbig is the code name for the Washington society woman who duped General Marshall. However, nothing has ever been done since the war about taking action against her.

Sweet Harmony Blows Away

Those who sat in President Truman's recent meeting with the six congressional leaders—three Dems and three Reps—say that, while useful, it does not mean sweet harmony between the White House and G.O.P. leaders on Capitol Hill.

Despite what you read in the newspapers, the bipartisan "Big Six" of both Democrats and Republicans will not function in any sense as did the Democratic Big Four, which conferred with the President once a week on legislative matters when the Democrats were in power. This practice would be continued if there is to be harmony and cooperation in a real sense.

However, it was mutually agreed to hold Big Six meetings "from time to time," at the call of the President, and then only on non-controversial, "unpartisan" subjects—as GOP Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan described it.

In other words, both sides are ready to cooperate, but at arms' length. There will be no scrapping of party lines on basic, legislative strategy. That was the underlying significance of the heralded White House-Big Six meeting, despite outward harmony.

Truman Advises Congress

Main thing President Truman discussed at his first "Big Six" conference was streamlining Congress. He expressed the hope that investigations will be conducted as much as possible by regular standing committees, instead of special committees, which, he said, was one objective of the Congressional Reorganization act passed last year.

"There's no sense in several committees investigating the same thing at the same time," Truman declared. "It's a waste of time and money, when one committee can do the job."

He suggested that Senate and House leaders get together and decide on who should investigate what, so as not to tread on each other's toes and fill the record with duplicating testimony.

Truman didn't commit himself directly on extension of his old Senate war investigating committee. Previously, however, he was quite blunt in discussing this with Democratic Senator Glenn Taylor of Idaho.

"When Senator Mead (N.Y.) became chairman of the committee," Truman explained, "I told him the committee should wind up its activities when the war ended. It was set up strictly as a wartime proposition and has done its job, in my opinion."

The president also told Taylor that he has two major objectives before leaving the White House. He said: "I hope to secure peace in the world and, secondly, I hope to put the nation's economy on a basis of full production and employment."

Arbitration By Compulsion Held Not To Be So Simple

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Labor courts, or compulsory arbitration of industrial disputes, are much discussed these days. A lot of fine people are for them.

They say, look at our courts of justice in every county seat, in every state capital, in Washington. They say, "To these courts we must submit the most important disputes involving property, contracts, liberty, life itself. Why then should there not be similar courts to settle these disputes between labor and capital, the wage earner and the wage saver?"

On the surface, the argument is persuasive. It seems simple and just. But it is not so simple, nor do I believe it just.

There is a vital difference between applying the judicial power to our customary suits at law and applying them to the problems of industry. The difference is this. In the customary case, judges deal with events that have already taken place They deal with contracts already entered into by the free will of the parties. If the contract has been broken, a court or jury tells the man who broke it how much damages he must pay.

May Interpret Contract

In other cases, a court may interpret a contract for the future guidance of the parties. But it is still dealing with a contract already freely agreed to. In either case the Court writes no new contract to take effect in the future. It is not the business of Courts to write contracts.

But that is what compulsory arbitration aims to do. It is designed to fix wages and working conditions in the future. To the extent that compulsory arbitration is effective, it takes mutual consent out of contracts. And that is something new and dangerous—subtracted from the American system.

To illustrate: Jones has a house for sale. He asks $10,000 for it. Smith wants to buy it and offers $8,000. Jones won't come down. Smith wont go up. But along comes the law. Let us suppose that it sets up a compulsory arbitration court with jurisdiction over real estate bargaining. The court hears the case and decides that the price shall be $9,000. The house cannot be sold for either more or less to anyone.

Is that right? I don't think so. And I see no difference in principle between a price fixed by law for a man's house or a price fixed by law for his time, which is part of his life. So on this question, I agree with the opposition expressed by organized labor and by the majority of business managers.

When we get away from free contracts, we are entering on dangerous ground. To me, it is an entering wedge for Fascism, whose major definition is the control of all business by government.

Arbitration Must Be Voluntary

This is nothing against arbitration. I believe in arbitration when the parties cannot agree. But the agreement to arbitrate must be voluntary, not compulsory.

You may ask, "But what do we do when strikes occur in vitally important public service industries, electric light and power, or railroads, or coal mining?" Well, while the right to quit one's job is in the Constitution (no involuntary servitude), the right to strike and still maintain the status of an employee is not in the Constitution. That is a privilege conferred by law. In essential industries, society can protect itself in many ways. It can withdraw the privileges conferred by the Wagner Act from those who starve or freeze the public to coerce the making of a contract. Coercion is not bargaining.

The compulsory arbitration, or contracts by the coercion of the law, is wrong in principle. It is equally wrong to coerce the innocent public by violence and strikes in essential industries.

Republicans Should Cut Budget So As To Reduce Payroll Taxes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—Almost every day since the Republicans have come into power in Congress, dispatches have gone forth saying at first that there would be a tax reduction and then saying that the prospect was "fading." It is but another way of saying that the budget cannot be cut and implying that the Republicans should have known better than to have even suggested such a thing.

This is the result of a strange psychology of spending which has prevailed in the national capital for nearly 15 years.

So accustomed is official Washington to the idea of spending the people's money that anyone who suggests reversing the tide seems like an intruder in a game reserved wholly for those who have confused "liberalism" with "liberality."

The war will have been over nearly two years by July 1st next, when the new fiscal year starts, and yet the Democratic administration is determined to spend $37,500,000,000 a year.

The largest pre-war budget was $9,000,000,000, and this was considered tremendous, so, allowing for the fact that prices have risen and costs have soared, a federal budget of even $18,000,000,000 would seem to be out of line for peacetime.

Yet when it is suggested that the Republicans might reduce the budget to about $30,000,000,000, the cry goes up that the government is about to be "wrecked" and that the task is impossible.

Repercussions Always Expected

No budget-cutting, public or private, was ever accomplished without repercussions of protest and dissent. But the cutting of the federal budget is attended also with cries of pain because vested interests have grown up in bureaucracy which insist on spending certain sums long after the public need for such expenditures has passed.

The Republican congressmen who first started the movement for a 20 per cent reduction in taxes ought to be given the thanks of their countrymen and encouraged to continue to press for that objective. For even if it were decided not to return a single dime of that sum eventually to the taxpayers and all of it were given over to retirement of public debt, it would be a worthwhile achievement to have been instrumental in some way in reversing the spending psychology and introducing a saving psychology at last.

There is more public pressure, of course, behind tax reduction than behind debt retirement. So for all practical purposes it is well that there is some pressure, because unless a start is made now toward eliminating waste and useless expenditures, the nation's credit standing will be impaired and a long-range inflation set up that will bring severe hardship to all the people.

One reason for the spending is the ease with which taxes are collected. The deduction of taxes on payrolls is a relatively inexpensive way of collecting billions. But, as this correspondent said when the payroll tax was adopted, it is perhaps the most expensive in the long run to the nation's economy. For what has happened is that the worker has looked only at his take-home pay and has insisted on getting a higher and higher sum from the employer in the hope of getting the latter really to absorb the tax. Despite the fact that employers indicate on the pay envelopes the amount deducted for taxes, the employee has been restless to recover the lost earnings. The rise in wage costs which the nation's economy is today compelled to endure and the drop in purchasing power of the dollar, which means a reduction in real incomes to workers, are largely due to the imposition of the payroll tax.

Budget Needs Pruning To Aid Workers

The most helpful step to America's economic structure would be to cut the federal budget sufficiently so as to eliminate a substantial part of the payroll tax altogether. If the withholding tax could be reduced to five or even ten per cent of the worker's income, it would not be such a steep cut into his pay envelope as today when about 20 per cent is lopped off before he takes his pay home. But as long as the Democratic administration and a substantial number of Democrats in Congress resist the cutting of federal expenses and insist that federal budgets around $37,000,000,000 are sacrosanct and can't be touched, there will be little relief for the worker.

What the nation needs is to remove the governmental temptation to extravagant spending. This can be done if the legislators begin thinking in terms of a $25,000,000,000 budget for the next couple years and begin to aim at a $20,000,000,000 maximum thereafter.

This would, to be sure, cut off some veterans' benefits, but the public treasury cannot stand handouts to able-bodied men indefinitely. The sooner Congress gets realistic on the matter of veterans' "benefits," the sooner the nation will begin to sleep comfortably at night without a thought of "recessions" and job insecurity which the present condition of the federal budget invites.

Georgia's Hot Time Not First Such Spectacle

The unique spectacle of two fighting for control of the state of Georgia is new in American government and dangerous. Herman Talmadge, 33-year-old son of the late Gene Talmadge, was elected by the Legislature to fill the place of his father who died before he had been sworn in. The elder Talmadge, incidentally, was elected by a minority vote—under Georgia's strange "county unit" system which gives rural counties an electoral strength in state elections greater than that of the populous counties.

Young Talmadge, of course, wasn't even a candidate in the election. Nevertheless, the Legislature elected him to succeed his father, in place of the Lieutenant-Governor who had been victorious in the regular election. This was on the excuse that around 600 voters wrote in young Talmadge's name in the regular election.

The old Governor, Ellis Arnall, has resigned after hanging on to the office until last Saturday, and now Lieutenant-Governor M. E. Thompson has established rival executive offices on the second floor of the state Capitol, pending Court adjudication. Sounds like a Balkan state, doesn't it? Georgia and the nation will be fortunate if they can get the succession straightened out without the sort of strife that has characterized such contests between rival governments in Balkan states.

But we have read and heard several commentators say that what is now happening in Georgia proves for the first time that dictatorship can happen here. Of course it can, but this is not the first time. All of which points the old moral that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. Vigilance has always asserted itself before. We are confident it will ultimately in Georgia. Up to now, spectacular as that show is, its a sideshow as compared with what occurred in Oklahoma in 1923.

Governor Jack Walton, out of a clear sky in September of that year, declared martial law. Though not as much in the way of excitement was going on then as could be found at a church sociable, nevertheless the troops were called out. As the story goes, Mr. Walton had reviewed the National Guard at the Summer encampment and had discovered that he was commander-in-chief of the state's armed forces. So, under the claim that the state was threatened with an insurrection he acted to show his authority. There followed what was probably the greatest example in our history of what suddenly unleased military power can mean.

Fortunately, the affair had a bloodless outcome largely due to the wisdom of Adjutant General Baird Markham who rode herd on Governor Walton without Mr. Walton realizing it. While technically obeying all orders of his command, General Markham nevertheless was able to avoid any shooting. While it all lasted, however, Governor Walton ravished the Bill of Rights. Habeas Corpus, trial by jury, the right to peaceful assembly, the guarantee against unwarranted search and seizure—those and other precious things went into the wastebasket.

The capital's police station was taken over by the National Guard. The courts were barred. A citizen had to have a pass to be on the streets after midnight. The State Fair, a great annual event, was called off by a Walton edict. Those are just a few of the high spots. Finally, the Legislature tried to meet and stop the man who had run amuck. Nothing doing. Mr. Walton ordered the militia to line up in front of the Capitol, ready to fire. The lawmakers beat a retreat. Finally, the Legislature did convene, and Governor Walton was impeached, and the State of Oklahoma lived an orderly life.

All of that is recalled merely as pertinent to what is now going on in Georgia. And speaking of Georgia, we remember that Henry Mechken—roughly quoted here—said that Stalin was a Georgian which meant the same thing in Russia that it did in this country. And let's not forget Huey Long.

Glimpse Of Utopia In Field Of Home Building

It is a debatable point whether a man who declares that the end of the nation's housing shortage is in sight has better vision than others who have aired their opinions on this subject or whether he is simply more of an optimist. But that, at any rate, is the position taken by Watson Malone of Philadelphia, president of the Middle Atlantic Lumbermen's Association.

Malone, in fact, is nothing if not confident. Is there anyone present, who by any chance, yearns for a six-room home built of the finest materials and fitting modern ideas of functional living space and traditional concepts of charm? According to Malone such homes will be available this year at from $6,000 to $7,000. For those who prefer large homes, he says, houses with three to four bedrooms can be built for $10,000 or less.

Considering that new dwellings of comparable size are now selling at approximately twice these figures and that there is no sign of a major decline in labor or material costs, Malone has given the construction industry a man-sized order to fill. It is difficult for people who have been desperately house-hunting for months to believe that a time is really at hand when it will not only be possible to buy a home at reasonable figures but when—to quote Malone—those desiring homes may expect them to be ready for occupancy thirty days after construction begins.

Most Americans hope Malone is right and wish him all possible luck with his prediction. There are few things the country could find better use for at the moment than a few million homes at reasonable prices. Perhaps what is needed is a few more optimists in the construction industry who really believe that it can be done.

Up To Congress

From L. Metcalfe Walling, administrator of the Wage-Hour Act, comes the statement that the portal-to-portal pay claims now being filed by labor unions are "greatly exaggerated." The ultimate liability of employers, he says, will be "only a small fraction of the amounts now being talked about." This estimate should be some comfort to the companies confronted by these suits, which now total more than $4,000,000,000.

But Walling's resume of the situation—he insists that not all time spent by an employe on an employer's premises need be considered, etc.—merely emphasizes that congressional action is needed to clear the air, since the mess was created by Congress' action in enacting the Wage-Hour Act.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

THE ORIGIN OF BEDSORES

THE care of a sick relative or friend at home frequently proves difficult for the novice. This is particularly if the patient is confined to bed for a prolonged period as in tuberculosis or following a fracture or stroke. The daily routine must include bathing, feeding, attention to the daily habits, and amusement designed to pass the lonely hours mogo quickly.

Since lying quietly for weeks is unnatural, many complications can arise. The bedsore, for example, often develops even tho the sufferer is receiving the best of care. The lesions appear usually over the bony prominence of the lower back where the skin is thin and contact greatest.

The first telltale evidence is a localized spot of redness, resembling inflammation. If allowed to continue, the skin cracks and the blemish enlarges quickly and begins to discharge a watery solution. With bacterial invasion, infection ensues, and eventually the region assumes the appearance of an ulcer with a circumscribed border. If unattended, spread is rapid and the lesion becomes several inches in diameter. Pain is exhibited, augmenting the misery of the original illness.

Altho it is generally conceded that local pressure over a long interval is all that is necessary to cause the tissues to break down, other factors must be taken into consideration. The force interferes with local circulation, leaving the overlying surface without proper nourishment. In some instances, the parts have little resistance and are weak because of the general condition of the individual. In consequence symptoms appear earlier than anticipated. The impaired vitality may be due to lack of proteins and, by administering extra quantities in the form of amino acids by vein or mouth, healing is encouraged; occasionally vitamin B is valuable along this line.

The home nurse can help in prevention by eliminating pressure over the involved area. Lying on an air mattress or inflated rubber ring is most beneficial and, if patient is turned or rolled on his side several times thruout the day, additional relief will be afforded. Washing the back thoroly with soap and water and massaging with alcohol, followed by the application of a fine powder is the regimen recommended. The mattress and covers should be checked for wrinkles and lumps which are common after resting in bed for several hours. The sheets and bedclothing must be changed in the presence of undue sweating because moisture adds to maceration of the tissues.

Should a lesion appear, these procedures must be adhered to meticulously. Furthermore, the ulceration will require scrupulous care. Many sufferers are benefitted by exposures to ultraviolet light and the heat rays given off by the infra-red lamp. Circulation is improved and repair hastened.

The sores must be kept clean to minimize bacterial invasion. Before anything is applied the region is cleansed with hydrogen peroxide, soap, or boric acid solution. After drying has occurred, one of several ointments or solutions may be employed. These include balsam of Peru, cod liver oil, vitamin D or A salve, tragacanth, dense pectin paste, gentian violet, and tincture of benzoin. The sulfonamides or penicillin have potent antiseptic qualities and are particularly useful if the type of invading germ is susceptible to the influence of these drugs.

It Says Here By BOB HOPE

BEA LILLIE

The great entertainer and England's foremost comedienne, Miss Beatrice Lillie, honored our radio show with one of her first American appearances since returning to the stage.

She was really thrilled at being on our show—and why not?—they haven't seen eggs in England for years.

When she asked to see the tubes, I was only too happy to give her some. How did I know she meant the subway?

She was a terrific hit with the Hollywood crowd. All evening long she discussed the pros and cons of smog and fog.

Miss Lillie came over here to replenish her wardrobe with some American styles. She told me "entre-nous" that she was awfully tired sewing those teabags together. The dresses looked fine, but she didn't know what to do with all those strings.

As for myself, I've always been in favor of English-cut styles. When I left my tailor with wescoat and crumpet in label, I went off half cock-neyed.

The clothing shortage in England is really tough though and I understand that the men there are being forced to retread their spats. Not only are there no two-pants suits in England, but the men are mighty luck that the fog is as thick as it is.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Federal Bureau Of Investigation Knew Of Intimidation Of Georgia Voters By Gene Talmadge; General Marshall "Leaked" News In 1941, May Tighten New Policy Of Retiring Secretary James F. Byrnes.

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—It was carefully hushed up at the time, but the political mess in Georgia might have been avoided if the Justice Department had gone ahead with a secret probe it conducted of the Talmadge election.

Last fall, the Justice Department had FBI men making a thorough check of Talmade intimidation and racial discrimination at the polls. This, under recent Supreme Court rulings, now is the direct concern of the federal government and can be prosecuted as a criminal offense.

The FBI investigation showed that Talmadge had sent instructions to the Georgia primary polls aimed at preventing negroes from voting. Although the evidence was conclusive, the Justice Department finally got cold feet. The case was dropped.

One obstacle the Justice Department ran up against was the fact that Eugene Talmadge was sick and they couldn't get to him for interrogation. Also son Herman Talmadge outbluffed the Justice boys and refused to answer questions unless a stenographer was present.

Final factor, however, was the fear federal government intervention in Georgia would boomerang, hurting the very same liberal forces the justice department wanted to help.

Marshall's War Leak

One of the most significant things to watch regarding the State Department under General Marshall will be whether he continues Jimmie Byrnes' policy of open diplomacy.

No secretary of state since Charles Evans Hughes has been as frank with the press as Byrnes. Hughes handled all press conferences himself, was a master at giving important background information, was generally frank and forthright. Byrnes, while not handling many conferences himself, went further than Hughes in making sure that a competent State Department official gave newsmen a general picture of what was happening inside diplomatic negotiations.

Byrnes also didn't object to most news leaks; felt the American people had the right to know about foreign policy.

However, some of those allegedly close to General Marshall may be may tighten up on the Byrnes policy and crack down on news leaks. This, of course, may be unfair to the new secretary of state; for, based on his own past record, Marshall has been quite a "leaker" himself. In fact, one cable seized from the files of the German foreign office now reveals that General Marshall was woefully discreet in the early stages of the European war and inadvertently let out important secrets to the enemy.

When the American army captured German files in Berlin, one of the most amazing cables they unearthed was sent by Nazi consul General Hans Borchers in New York, May 13, 1941, regarding a dinner-table conversation General Marshall had with a high American society woman. The cable read as follows:

"Mrs. Herbig told that she sat at a dinner between General Marshall and a member of the government and the possibilities of war in Europe were discussed and both stated that it was definite that Greenland, Iceland, and the Azores should be used as bases for troops in order to facilitate invasion of Norway, northern France, Spain, and Portugal. An attempt was being made to select qualified elements for a fifth column to Spain among prisoners and immigrants."

At that very same time, American newspapers were being bitterly condemned when some of them hinted that the United States was planning to use Iceland and the Azores as military bases.

A little later, when Maj. Gen. Henry Miller told a society lady in London about Allied plans for the Normandy invasion, he was promptly reduced to the rank of colonel and sent home from England.

NOTE—Mrs. Herbig is the code name for the Washington society woman who duped General Marshall. However, nothing has ever been done since the war about taking action against her.

Sweet Harmony Blows Away

Those who sat in President Truman's recent meeting with the six congressional leaders—three Dems and three Reps—say that, while useful, it does not mean sweet harmony between the White House and G.O.P. leaders on Capitol Hill.

Despite what you read in the newspapers, the bipartisian "Big Six" of both Democrats and Republicans will not function in any sense as did the Democratic Big Four, which conferred with the President once a week on legislative matters when the Democrats were in power. This practice would be continued if there is to be harmony and cooperation in a real sense.

However, it was mutually agreed to hold Big Six meetings "from time to time," at the call of the President, and then only on non-controversial, "unpartisan" subjects—as GOP Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan described it.

In other words, both sides are ready to cooperate, but at arms' length. There will be no scrapping of party lines on basic, legislative strategy. That was the underlying significance of the heralded White House-Big Six meeting, despite outward harmony.

Truman Advises Congress

Main thing President Truman discussed at his first "Big Six" conference was streamlining Congress. He expressed the hope that investigations will be conducted as much as possible by regular standing committees, instead of special committees, which, he said, was one objective of the Congressional Reorganization act passed last year.

"There's no sense in several committees investigating the same thing at the same time," Truman declared. "It's a waste of time and money, when one committee can do the job."

He suggested that Senate and House leaders get together and decide on who should investigate what, so as not to tread on each other's toes and fill the record with duplicating testimony.

Truman didn't commit himself directly on extension of his old Senate war investigating committee. Previously, however, he was quite blunt in discussing this with Democratic Senator Glenn Taylor of Idaho.

"When Senator Mead (N.Y.) became chairman of the committee," Truman explained, "I told him the committee should wind up its activities when the war ended. It was set up strictly as a wartime proposition and has done its job, in my opinion."

The president also told Taylor that he has two major objectives before leaving the White House. He said: "I hope to secure peace in the world and, secondly, I hope to put the nation's economy on a basis of full production and employment."

Arbitration By Compulsion Held Not To Be So Simple

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Labor courts, or compulsory arbitration of industrial disputes, are much discussed these days. A lot of fine people are for them.

They say, look at our courts of justice in every county seat, in every state capital, in Washington. They say, "To these courts we must submit the most important disputes involving property, contracts, liberty, life itself. Why then should there not be similar courts to settle these disputes between labor and capital, the wage earner and the wage saver?"

On the surface, the argument is persuasive. It seems simple and just. But it is not so simple, nor do I believe it just.

There is a vital difference between applying the judicial power to our customary suits at law and applying them to the problems of industry. The difference is this. In the customary case, judges deal with events that have already taken place They deal with contracts already entered into by the free will of the parties. If the contract has been broken, a court or jury tells the man who broke it how much damages he must pay.

May Interpret Contract

In other cases, a court may interpret a contract for the future guidance of the parties. But it is still dealing with a contract already freely agreed to. In either case the Court writes no new contract to take effect in the future. It is not the business of Courts to write contracts.

But that is what compulsory arbitration aims to do. It is designed to fix wages and working conditions in the future. To the extent that compulsory arbitration is effective, it takes mutual consent out of contracts. And that is something new and dangerous—subtracted from the American system.

To illustrate: Jones has a house for sale. He asks $10,000 for it. Smith wants to buy it and offers $8,000. Jones won't come down. Smith wont go up. But along comes the law. Let us suppose that it sets up a compulsory arbitration court with jurisdiction over real estate bargaining. The court hears the case and decides that the price shall be $9,000. The house cannot be sold for either more or less to anyone.

Is that right? I don't think so. And I see no difference in principle between a price fixed by law for a man's house or a price fixed by law for his time, which is part of his life. So on this question, I agree with the opposition expressed by organized labor and by the majority of business managers.

When we get away from free contracts, we are entering on dangerous ground. To me, it is an entering wedge for Fascism, whose major definition is the control of all business by government.

Arbitration Must Be Voluntary

This is nothing against arbitration. I believe in arbitration when the parties cannot agree. But the agreement to arbitrate must be voluntary, not compulsory.

You may ask, "But what do we do when strikes occur in vitally important public service industries, electric light and power, or railroads, or coal mining?" Well, while the right to quit one's job is in the Constitution (no involuntary servitude), the right to strike and still maintain the status of an employee is not in the Constitution. That is a privilege conferred by law. In essential industries, society can protect itself in many ways. It can withdraw the privileges conferred by the Wagner Act from those who starve or freeze the public to coerce the making of a contract. Coercion is not bargaining.

The compulsory arbitration, or contracts by the coercion of the law, is wrong in principle. It is equally wrong to coerce the innocent public by violence and strikes in essential industries.

Republicans Should Cut Budget So As To Reduce Payroll Taxes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—Almost every day since the Republicans have come into power in Congress, dispatches have gone forth saying at first that there would be a tax reduction and then saying that the prospect was "fading." It is but another way of saying that the budget cannot be cut and implying that the Republicans should have known better than to have even suggested such a thing.

This is the result of a strange psychology of spending which has prevailed in the national capital for nearly 15 years.

So accustomed is official Washington to the idea of spending the people's money that anyone who suggests reversing the tide seems like an intruder in a game reserved wholly for those who have confused "liberalism" with "liberality."

The war will have been over nearly two years by July 1st next, when the new fiscal year starts, and yet the Democratic administration is determined to spend $37,500,000,000 a year.

The largest pre-war budget was $9,000,000,000, and this was considered tremendous, so, allowing for the fact that prices have risen and costs have soared, a federal budget of even $18,000,000,000 would seem to be out of line for peacetime.

Yet when it is suggested that the Republicans might reduce the budget to about $30,000,000,000, the cry goes up that the government is about to be "wrecked" and that the task is impossible.

Reperecussions Always Expected

No budget-cutting, public or private, was ever accomplished without repercussions of protest and dissent. But the cutting of the federal budget is attended also with cries of pain because vested interests have grown up in bureaucracy which insist on spending certain sums long after the public need for such expenditures has passed.

The Republican congressmen who first started the movement for a 20 per cent reduction in taxes ought to be given the thanks of their countrymen and encouraged to continue to press for that objective. For even if it were decided not to return a single dime of that sum eventually to the taxpayers and all of it were given over to retirement of public debt, it would be a worthwhile achievement to have been instrumental in some way in reversing the spending psychology and introducing a saving psychology at last.

There is more public pressure, of course, behind tax reduction than behind debt retirement. So for all practical purposes it is well that there is some pressure, because unless a start is made now toward eliminating waste and useless expenditures, the nation's credit standing will be impaired and a long-range inflation set up that will bring severe hardship to all the people.

One reason for the spending is the ease with which taxes are collected. The deduction of taxes on payrolls is a relatively inexpensive way of collecting billions. But, as this correspondent said when the payroll tax was adopted, it is perhaps the most expensive in the long run to the nation's economy. For what has happened is that the worker has looked only at his take-home pay and has insisted on getting a higher and higher sum from the employer in the hope of getting the latter really to absorb the tax. Despite the fact that employers indicate on the pay envelopes the amount deducted for taxes, the employee has been restless to recover the lost earnings. The rise in wage costs which the nation's economy is today compelled to endure and the drop in purchasing power of the dollar, which means a reduction in real incomes to workers, are largely due to the imposition of the payroll tax.

Budget Needs Pruning To Aid Workers

The most helpful step to America's economic structure would be to cut the federal budget sufficiently so as to eliminate a substantial part of the payroll tax altogether. If the withholding tax could be reduced to five or even ten per cent of the worker's income, it would not be such a steep cut into his pay envelope as today when about 20 per cent is lopped off before he takes his pay home. But as long as the Democratic administration and a substantial number of Democrats in Congress resist the cutting of federal expenses and insist that federal budgets around $37,000,000,000 are sacrosanct and can't be touched, there will be little relief for the worker.

What the nation needs is to remove the governmental temptation to extravagant spending. This can be done if the legislators begin thinking in terms of a $25,000,000,000 budget for the next couple years and begin to aim at a $20,000,000,000 maximum thereafter.

This would, to be sure, cut off some veterans' benefits, but the public treasury cannot stand handouts to able-bodied men indefinitely. The sooner Congress gets realistic on the matter of veterans' "benefits," the sooner the nation will begin to sleep comfortably at night without a thought of "recessions" and job insecurity which the present condition of the federal budget invites.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

This is a story with a moral. Liars ought to love it.

Some years ago, I was running one of the big, brassy cabarets Kokomo Joe confuses with New York night life. One of the guys who used to bounce in and out of my office was an old-time press agent named Tim O'Hara. Tim didn't work for me. He used my office as a Scotch-and-watering stop, and paid off in laughs. If you were doing a movie about O'Hara, you'd try to get Barry Fitzgerald to play him.

Billy Rose

Every day or so, Tim would try to sell me on some wacky publicity stunt. He kept telling me I could steal a lot of white space if I kept a boa constrictor around the office as a pet. When Gary Cooper came to town, O'Hara wanted me to hire fifty short men to picket him. Once the darn near provoked an international incident by signing my name to a cable offering King Boris of Bulgaria a job as doorman. He was always poohpoohing the modern public relations counsel. He kept reciting the exploits of the old space pirates who had Anna Held bathe in milk, and smuggled lions into the Astor to ballyhoo a Tarzan picture.

I let this daffy drum-beater ramble, but never bit. Hoaxing an editor these days is as smart as picking a cop's pocket. You might slip one fakeroo past the city desk, but from then on even your legit stories wind up on page none. I liked Tim the Talker, but I couldn't afford to like Tim the Press Agent.

O'Hara used to tell me about his daughter, Katherine. Said she was a great beauty. I dismissed it as another of the old boy's build ups. One day Katherine came to see me. To my surprise, she lived up to her old man's advance notices. She affected the guys around the office like a peat fire on a nippy day. I changed her first name to Sugar and put her in the chorus.

Sugar O'Hara perked up my line like a red ribbon on a candy box. In opera-length hose and spangled fluff, she was that sighful little eyeful they sing about.

The second night, one of the customers got stuck on her. Tim O'Hara told me about him. He referred to Sugar's beau as "Charley Crew-haircut," but I could see I'm was impressed. The boy was out of one of those Back Bay families whose ancestors ate at the captain's table on the Mayflower. A month later, Sugar had a diamond to wear with her rhinestone costume. Tim told me the kids were going to get married as soon as the boy finished Harvard.

Here's where our little story sits down on the chewing gum.

One night, after the show, some of the boys in the band took a couple of the chorus kids up to Harlem. Sugar was one of them. They wound up at four o'clock in the morning in one of those joints which stay open later than the license says it should. A marcelled tenor was singing off-color lyrics to "Honeysuckle Rose." Sugar wished she hadn't come, but didn't want to be the bad sport who breaks up the party.

About five a. m., somebody said something to somebody, and a fight started. Tables got pushed around and pretty soon nobody cared who he punched. The cop on the beat blew a whistle and soon there were a lot of cops. They backed up the wagon and everybody—Sugar included—was taken to the station house. A detective found marihuana on one of the musicians.

It was the kind of story tabloid editors cried for in those days—Chorus Girls! Harlem! Slugfest! Narcotics! It was good for a front-page picture and a fat black headline. Sugar O'Hara phoned her father from the station house, and told him what had happened. Tim told her to sit tight and say nothing.

At six o'clock that morning, my front doorbell rang like crazy. I let Tim O'Hara in. He gave me the story in half a dozen fast sentences. "If this gets out," he said, "the boy's folks up in Boston will blow a big whistle on the marriage. Sugar's stuck on that kid, and it mustn't happen."

"Wish I could help you," I said. "I could call some of the boys on the city desks, but I don't think it would do any good. This kind of story sells too many papers. You'd have to own every sheet in town to kill it."

"I'm not asking you to do anything," said O'Hara. "Just let me be your press agent for the next hour."

I didn't know what he was driving at. The old boy sat down at my phone. The first number he called was Cortlandt 7-1212. "Journal?" he said. "Give me the desk. Hello, Herb? This is Tim O'Hara. I'm doing press for Billy Rose. Got a pip of a story for you. Sugar O'Hara, one of Billy's chorus girls, just got arrested in a Harlem dive. Big fight. Marihuana all over the place. She's engaged to a Boston blue-blood. Send a photographer right up. I'll get her to pose for some good leg shots."

He hung up on the Journal and winked at me as he started dialing the Telegram. And then I got it.

Sugar's father knew no city editor would print that kind of story if it came from an old phony like Tim O'Hara.

German Babies Aren't Named Adolf Any More

(AP) Newsfeatures

BERLIN — Berlin parents aren't naming their babies Adolph any more.

Hitler's name, a survey of the city's birth registry offices discloses, is in great disrepute at christenings. So are those of other leaders of the Nazi regime. There are few new little Hermanns, Josefs and Roberts.

The most popular names for boys are Peter, Michael, Gerd, Bernd and Joachim (which was a favorite long before the late Joachim von Ribbentrop became Nazi foreign minister). For girls the leaders are Monika, Karin, Helga, Rosemarie, Ursula and Ingrid.

But there's a new trend toward non-German names developing. This has brought to the fore such names as Donald, Henry, Andre, Johnny and Dimitri, Lilly, Mary, Claudia and Beatrice.

"This indicates," observed the Berlin Zeitung, "that Berlin has become a truly international city."

The newspaper also endorsed the abolition of Nazi-enforced restrictions on names. The Nazis had forbidden for "Aryan" babies biblical names which originated in the Old Testament. But Jews were compelled to give their children such names.

Choral Society To Sing Oratorio Elijah, May 20

Betty Wilson Named One Of Soloists

May 20 has been selected as the date for the second oratorio to be presented by the Cumberland Choral Society this year, Jack E. Platt, director, announces. The performance of the oratorio, "Elijah," by Mendelssohn will be sung in Allegany High School auditorium, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

At the present time soloists are being contacted and the first to be announced is Miss Betty Wilson, soprano, Frostburg, who will come from New York City, where she is studying voice. "This is in line with recognizing competent local soloists and properly presenting them as artists," Mr. Platt explained last night.

There will be four soloists and a boy soprano from a local school, in addition to approximately eight soloists, who will sing minor parts.

The chorus is also planning a program of secular music, sometime the latter part of March.

Corsets for middle-aged men are advocated. O. K., but Dad had better find that lost collar button before he gets laced up.

Kelly Engineering Employes Advocate "Sharing The Work"

Earl A. Johnson, president of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, CIO, said yesterday that members of the union employed in the engineering division of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company are advocating a "share-the-work" plan in connection with the recent furlough of six workers of the department.

Union officials said six millwrights were furloughed January 16 and that engineering division employes, all of whom are now working on a six and seven day week, have asked the adoption of the plan.

Johnson explained the plan would mean that the hours of work would be reduced to the normal 40 hour work week or less before furloughs could be placed into effect.

The problem, as the workers see it, is that it is not fair to furlough men while others are working more than 40 hours, union officials said.

All three shifts of the engineering department, except power house employes, met last Saturday to discuss the "share-the-work" plan and other grievances. Johnson said the union expects to work out some provisions for settlement of the issues.

A company spokesman said that in the present contract with the union, the company agreed not to rotate employes before furloughs are placed into effect. He also added that there are certain spots in the plant where rotation is not practical because of the skills involved.

Foresters Close Two-Day Session With Addresses

Hear Talks On Forest Work Here And Abroad

Describing the condition of forests in Europe as a result of the war, and outlining in detail the problems in wood and lumber production abroad, Edward Ritter, United States Forester of Philadelphia, Pa., addressed the closing session of District No. 1, Department of State Parks and Forests, at the Court House yesterday.

Ritter, who served with the Engineer Corps of the First Army in Europe during World War II, told the local foresters that it will be many years before Europe's woodlands are what they should be. Much valuable timberland was damaged and destroyed by heavy bombardments, he declared, and much timber still standing is useless for manufacturing or building.

He explained that nearly every tree in many sections has been slashed with shrapnel and shell fragments, and it cannot be sawed into lumber because the imbedded shrapnel damages saws. This land will have to be cleared and replanted he said.

Says Production Is Low

Describing methods of lumber production and types of saw mills used, Ritter said Europeans no not have many labor savings devices used here, because labor is cheap and most work is done by hand labor. This keeps production at a low scale he explained, and European countries have difficulty supplying their needs because of lack of equipment in many sections where there is timber, and because of the destroyed timber in other sections.

Much land has been turned into truck gardens to supply the nations with food, and there is practically no tree-planting program anywhere in Europe now, he said, except single acre tracts that individual forest rangers have been able to plant as tree nurseries.

Little of the progress, as known in the United States in the lumber industry, is evident in Europe he concluded.

Other speakers at yesterday's session included John Cotten, and Hugh Hancock, both of College Park, representing the Soil Conservation Service; Joseph H. Minke, District Game Warden; and George Kramer, Philadelphia, representing Region 7, United States Forest Service.

Cotton and Hancock explained the relation of timberland and timber development to soil conservation.

Cites Related Duties

Minke outlined the importance of good woodlands, forests and timber, to provide proper "coverage, homes and refuge" for wildlife. He declared the work of the Soil Conservation Service, The Department of Parks and Forests and the Fish and Game Commission are all related in many respects, and all have the task of conserving and preserving the resources of the state.

Kramer gave a demonstration on a minature saw mill, showing proper methods of cutting lumber, grading lumber and how to get the most useable lumber from timber. He illustrated his talk and demonstration with charts and figures.

The conference opened here Monday with State Forester Joseph F. Kaylor, Assistant State Forester Henry C. Buckingham and District Forester William H. Johnson in charge. District 1 includes Allegany, Garrett, Frederick and Washington counties. About 30 forestry and park employes participated.

Meet In Oakland

After the adjournment late yesterday, Kaylor, Buckingham, Johnson, A. R. Bond, assistant forester in charge of forestry conservation and several others left for a meeting of the Garrett County Forestry Board at 7 p. m. in William James Hotel, Oakland.

The meeting was addressed by Walter Dawson, Garrett County States Attorney. Members of the Garrett County Forestry Board include Lester Yutzy, Crellin, William Winterberg and Joseph Fahey, Grantsville and Blaine Friend of Friendsville. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss registration activity of producers of forest products and forestry department regulations, Johnson explained.

Poland Uncertain On Jewish Census

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The Polish foreign ministry estimated there are now 192,000 Jews in Poland—a figure nearly 100,000 higher than that of the Central Committee of Polish Jews.

A ministry spokesman said the disparity figures may be due to the fact that only about 80,000 Jews were registered with the central committee.

In recent months, about 160,000 Jews have been repatriated from Soviet Russia. Hundreds of Jews still are leaving Poland monthly, many of them illegally crossing the frontier into Czechoslovakia.

Suddenly from the crowd around the cage came a woman's cry, "My Lori, Lori, there you are!"

It was a 38-year-old German refugee woman, Elsa Zawada, whose parrot, Lori, had been lost during their flight from East Prussia in 1944.

Mrs. Zawada was able to identify the parrot as hers through a mutilation of the bird's left wing.

Because she doesn't have any food for the parrot, Mrs. Zawada said she couldn't give "Lori" a home yet.

Consumer Sales Tax Is Opposed By Food Dealers

Resolution Passed On Cuban Sugar

A resolution opposing a proposed "consumer sales tax" on he ground that it would "force retail merchants to assume the unpleasant and burdensome task of becoming state tax collectors" was passed last night at the monthly meeting of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association, held at the LaVale Fire Hall.

The resolution declared that this particular form of taxation falls most heavily upon the necessities of life, "thus placing the heaviest burden upon those least able to bear it."

Copies of the resolution will be sent to Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., the state senators from Allegany and Garrett counties, and to members of the House of Delegates from both counties. The association represents 250 food dealers in the two counties.

Seek More Sugar

In another resolution passed at the meeting, the association went on record as opposing further allocations of Cuban sugar to foreign countries at this time, and urging drastic reductions of future foreign allocations in favor of increased supplies for the United States.

The resolution points out that in 1946, 1,600,000 tons of the total 3,800,000 tons of Cuban sugar available for allocation by the Combined Food Board was shipped to foreign countries, even though Cuba is the major foreign source of sugar supply for this country and the United States has, since 1902, "acted to advance and maintain the economic stability of Cuba."

As a result of heavy allocations to countries other than the United States, American consumers are still under a rigid system of sugar rationing, 18 months after V-J day, the resolution states.

Copies were ordered sent to Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Senator Millard E. Tydings and Senator Herbert R. O'Conor.

Jackson Gives Talk

George F. Garlitz, retiring president, reported on last year's activities of the association, and the incoming officers, headed by Albert E. Windish, Cumberland, president, and Fred Crowe, Frostburg, vice president, took office.

J. Goodloe Jackson, secretary, told members in a brief address that selling America and the American way of life is the greatest job of salesmanship facing those in business and industry in this country today.

Jackon pointed out that America, with only 7 per cent of the world's population, produces 25 per cent of the world's goods and possesses 45 per cent of the world's wealth as a result of the free enterprise system.

Citing the production achievements of this country in the recent war, Jackson warned against those who praise the collectivist or totalitarian forms of government as opposed to democracy and free enterprise.

Two Charges Filed After Accident

Two charges of violating the state motor vehicle law were filed against Walter R. Fritz, Hyndman, Pa., at 1 p. m. yesterday following a one-car accident on Route 36 near Midland in which he was slightly hurt and two passengers escaped injury.

State Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who investigated, said Fritz, a Kelly-Springfield Tire Company employe, was "going too fast" when his car skidded on a slight curve, turned in a complete circle, striking the guardrail, then turned again, stopping crossways in the road.

Fritz was taken to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, for treatment of a head injuy and then was lodged in the Frostburg jail to await hearing this morning on charges of violating two motor vehicle laws, Rotruck stated.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barb, 508 Pearre avenue, Cumberland, were passengers in the car, according to Rotuck, who said they were uninjured.

Young Man Held In Firearms Case

A charge of discharging firearms within the city limits was filed against Wilbur Fogle, 23, 216 Piedmont avenue yesterday afternoon and City Police said he was arrested in connection with rifle and pistol bullet damage to construction equipment being used by William P. Roeder, 700 Holland street, president-treasurer of the Motor Transfer Company, in the Wills Mountain area.

Detective Edwin Lilya said two boys, each 16, will be witnesses in the case which is scheduled to be tried Thursday morning in Police Court.

According to Lilya, Fogle admits he was discharging firearms in the area Sunday afternoon but denies damaging the equipment.

Lilya said windows and headlights were shot out of a steam shovel, tires were shot off an air compressor and holes were shot in a shed in which some equipment was stored.

There are 38 pupils in Mrs. MacMannis' class and 37 in Mrs. Weakland's. The children have been studying different types of trains in their classes on transportation, the teachers said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

South End Fire Company was called to the corner of Oldtown road and Massachusetts avenue last night when a car owned by W. J. Dillon, 1800 block Oldtown road, caught fire. Firemen said a cover thrown over the motor caught fire and caused a slight amount of damage.

Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, will hold a general membership meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

South End Fire Company answered a false alarm from Box 615, Virginia avenue and First street, Monday night.

Part of the program at the Kiwanis Club meeting tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA will be devoted to the observance of the 32nd anniversary of Kiwanis International, after which Oscar Parrish, local magician, will entertain the members. His subject will be "The Hand Is Quicker Than the Eye."

Driver Is Injured When School Bus Leaves Highway

Two Vehicles Collide On Wiley Ford Road

A 23-year-old Mineral County, W. Va., school bus driver was reported critically injured early yesterday morning when the bus he was operating on the Fairview road, near Short Gap, left the road and plunged down a 50 foot bank. A 7-year-old schoolgirl who was the only passenger in the bus was slightly bruised in the crash.

West Virginia state police said the driver, Lee Ward, Route 2, Keyser, W. Va., was admitted to Allegany Hospital for treatment of possible chest and undetermined internal injuries. Attaches said his condition was "improved" last night.

Trooper L. E. Proudfoot, who investigated, said the child, Ruth Border, Route 2, Keyser, was slightly bruised but that examination at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, failed to disclose any other injuries.

Was Beginning Trip

Ward, a World War II veteran, was beginning his route and had just picked up the Border child, when the bus left the road, about two miles east of Short Gap, at 7:40 a. m., Trooper Proudfoot said.

The heavy bus had rounded a curve and was on a level stretch of the narrow road when it plunged practically straight down the bank, overturning several times before it came to rest on its right side in the creek, the trooper reported.

State police said they were unable yesterday to question the injured driver at the local hospital.

The body of the bus was badly damaged, Trooper Proudfoot said.

Will Receive Hearings

Two West Virginia motorists involved in a two-car collision on Wiley Ford road yesterday morning will receive hearings at 9 o'clock today before Magistrate C. A. Jewell in Ridgeley on charges of violating that state's motor laws.

Constable C. V. Barncord, who investigated and preferred charges, said Roy Wagner, Fort Ashby, is charged with reckless driving and that Jake Walker, Wiley Ford, faces a charge of obstructing the highway.

Constable Barncord said nobody was injured in the accident. The road was icy when the accident occurred, he added.

Manslaughter

power and lights in nearby towns. The trunk compartment at the rear of the machine was torn open by the force of the impact, he added, and tire chains and other articles were hurled a considerable distance.

The prosecutor also asserted "there seems to be some confusion as to where the men were riding, some saying Hughes was on Combs' lap and Dancer was on Moorehead's lap, while others had this reversed."

Find Broken Gin Bottle

Harris said a broken gin bottle was found near the wrecked car, and "there was a strong odor of alcohol" in the area.

Charles B. Hornbrook is foreman of the jury. William L. Wilson, Jr., is assisting Ryan in the defense, while Harris is being aided by Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

Stemp, a clean-cut young man, appeared in court wearing an Eisenhower jacket and other parts of his Army uniform. Stemp is employed at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, as were the two victims of the mishap.

Harris, in explaining the new covering "manslaughter by automobile," said it is a misdemeanor, and that the maximum penalty, upon conviction, is three years in prison.

Among witnesses summoned in the case were State Trooper A. M. Spioch, State Trooper Walter Wilt, Mansby Rodgers, Fred Kessner, Lt. John Doud of the State Police; M. Larmas, James Clevenger, James Simone, Betty Timbrook, Charles Boyland, Homer Knotts, Mrs. Robert Kilroy, James J. McKenzie, Chief of Westernport Police Burza Henline, James T. McGay and Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Other jurors, in addition to Hornbrook, the foreman, include, Charles G. Burkshire, Joseph S. Bewick, William Gephart, Thomas J. Leake, William H. Schafer, William H. Beeman, Owen W. Zimmerly, George S Parsenios, Alvin Haller, Iley S. Sponseller and George William Jones.

Domestic Users Asked To Conserve Natural Gas

Officials of the Allegheny Gas Company announced last night that the gas supply and distribution lines are already taxed to capacity and are now overburdened as a result of the present cold wave. The sereve cold weather is endangering the available supply, officials added.

Gas pressures in the lines are reduced to dangerously low levels and the gas supply to industrial users has already been drastically reduced. However, an official of the company pointed out that reducing the supply for industrial use will not be enough, adding that it is virtually necessary that domestic users conserve gas.

The company official pointed out that high winds and the sudden cold wave are causing the emergency, particularly in Pittsburgh and Washington, Pa., and that the prolonged cold spell in Western Pennsylvania has doubled the demand for natural gas.

The company made the following suggestions to conserve gas:

Don't use gas range to heat kitchen, and if gas is used to heat buildings set the thermostat at 65 degrees.

Don't use gas room heater to supplement furnace.

Use hot water sparingly.

Postpone laundering.

Don't leave hot water running and set hot water thermostat as low as possible.

A company spokesman said by following the suggestions consumers will do much to prevent any undue hardship.

If your family will not eat whole oysters, make a bisque which is made like a stew, only the oysters are finely chopped before adding to the other ingredients.

Consumer Sales Tax Is Opposed By Food Dealers

Resolution Passed On Cuban Sugar

A resolution opposing a proposed "consumer sales tax" on he ground that it would "force retail merchants to assume the unpleasant and burdensome task of becoming state tax collectors" was passed last night at the monthly meeting of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association, held at the LaVale Fire Hall.

The resolution declared that this particular form of taxation falls most heavily upon the necessities of life, "thus placing the heaviest burden upon those least able to bear it."

Copies of the resolution will be sent to Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., the state senators from Allegany and Garrett counties, and to members of the House of Delegates from both counties. The association represents 250 food dealers in the two counties.

Seek More Sugar

In another resolution passed at the meeting, the association went on record as opposing further allocations of Cuban sugar to foreign countries at this time, and urging drastic reductions of future foreign allocations in favor of increased supplies for the United States.

The resolution points out that in 1946, 1,600,000 tons of the total 3,800,000 tons of Cuban sugar available for allocation by the Combined Food Board was shipped to foreign countries, even though Cuba is the major foreign source of sugar supply for this country and the United States has, since 1902, "acted to advance and maintain the economic stability of Cuba."

As a result of heavy allocations to countries other than the United States, American consumers are still under a rigid system of sugar rationing, 18 months after V-J day, the resolution states.

Copies were ordered sent to Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Senator Millard E. Tydings and Senator Herbert R. O'Conor.

Jackson Gives Talk

George F. Garlitz, retiring president, reported on last year's activities of the association, and the incoming officers, headed by Albert E. Windish, Cumberland, president, and Fred Crowe, Frostburg, vice president, took office.

J. Goodloe Jackson, secretary, told members in a brief address that selling America and the American way of life is the greatest job of salesmanship facing those in business and industry in this country today.

Jackon pointed out that America, with only 7 per cent of the world's population, produces 25 per cent of the world's goods and possesses 45 per cent of the world's wealth as a result of the free enterprise system.

Citing the production achievements of this country in the recent war, Jackson warned against those who praise the collectivist or totalitarian forms of government as opposed to democracy and free enterprise.

Two Charges Filed After Accident

Two charges of violating the state motor vehicle law were filed against Walter R. Fritz, Hyndman, Pa., at 1 p. m. yesterday following a one-car accident on Route 36 near Midland in which he was slightly hurt and two passengers escaped injury.

State Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who investigated, said Fritz, a Kelly-Springfield Tire Company employe, was "going too fast" when his car skidded on a slight curve, turned in a complete circle, striking the guardrail, then turned again, stopping crossways in the road.

Fritz was taken to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, for treatment of a head injuy and then was lodged in the Frostburg jail to await hearing this morning on charges of violating two motor vehicle laws, Rotruck stated.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barb, 508 Pearre avenue, Cumberland, were passengers in the car, according to Rotuck, who said they were uninjured.

Young Man Held In Firearms Case

A charge of discharging firearms within the city limits was filed against Wilbur Fogle, 23, 216 Piedmont avenue yesterday afternoon and City Police said he was arrested in connection with rifle and pistol bullet damage to construction equipment being used by William P. Roeder, 700 Holland street, president-treasurer of the Motor Transfer Company, in the Wills Mountain area.

Detective Edwin Lilya said two boys, each 16, will be witnesses in the case which is scheduled to be tried Thursday morning in Police Court.

According to Lilya, Fogle admits he was discharging firearms in the area Sunday afternoon but denies damaging the equipment.

Lilya said windows and headlights were shot out of a steam shovel, tires were shot off an air compressor and holes were shot in a shed in which some equipment was stored.

There are 38 pupils in Mrs. MacMannis' class and 37 in Mrs. Weakland's. The children have been studying different types of trains in their classes on transportation, the teachers said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

South End Fire Company was called to the corner of Oldtown road and Massachusetts avenue last night when a car owned by W. J. Dillon, 1800 block Oldtown road, caught fire. Firemen said a cover thrown over the motor caught fire and caused a slight amount of damage.

Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, will hold a general membership meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

South End Fire Company answered a false alarm from Box 615, Virginia avenue and First street, Monday night.

Part of the program at the Kiwanis Club meeting tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA will be devoted to the observance of the 32nd anniversary of Kiwanis International, after which Oscar Parrish, local magician, will entertain the members. His subject will be "The Hand Is Quicker Than the Eye."

Driver Is Injured When School Bus Leaves Highway

Two Vehicles Collide On Wiley Ford Road

A 23-year-old Mineral County, W. Va., school bus driver was reported critically injured early yesterday morning when the bus he was operating on the Fairview road, near Short Gap, left the road and plunged down a 50 foot bank. A 7-year-old schoolgirl who was the only passenger in the bus was slightly bruised in the crash.

West Virginia state police said the driver, Lee Ward, Route 2, Keyser, W. Va., was admitted to Allegany Hospital for treatment of possible chest and undetermined internal injuries. Attaches said his condition was "improved" last night.

Trooper L. E. Proudfoot, who investigated, said the child, Ruth Border, Route 2, Keyser, was slightly bruised but that examination at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, failed to disclose any other injuries.

Was Beginning Trip

Ward, a World War II veteran, was beginning his route and had just picked up the Border child, when the bus left the road, about two miles east of Short Gap, at 7:40 a. m., Trooper Proudfoot said.

The heavy bus had rounded a curve and was on a level stretch of the narrow road when it plunged practically straight down the bank, overturning several times before it came to rest on its right side in the creek, the trooper reported.

State police said they were unable yesterday to question the injured driver at the local hospital.

The body of the bus was badly damaged, Trooper Proudfoot said.

Will Receive Hearings

Two West Virginia motorists involved in a two-car collision on Wiley Ford road yesterday morning will receive hearings at 9 o'clock today before Magistrate C. A. Jewell in Ridgeley on charges of violating that state's motor laws.

Constable C. V. Barncord, who investigated and preferred charges, said Roy Wagner, Fort Ashby, is charged with reckless driving and that Jake Walker, Wiley Ford, faces a charge of obstructing the highway.

Constable Barncord said nobody was injured in the accident. The road was icy when the accident occurred, he added.

power and lights in nearby towns. The trunk compartment at the rear of the machine was torn open by the force of the impact, he added, and tire chains and other articles were hurled a considerable distance.

The prosecutor also asserted "there seems to be some confusion as to where the men were riding, some saying Hughes was on Combs' lap and Dancer was on Moorehead's lap, while others had this reversed."

Find Broken Gin Bottle

Harris said a broken gin bottle was found near the wrecked car, and "there was a strong odor of alcohol" in the area.

Charles B. Hornbrook is foreman of the jury. William L. Wilson, Jr., is assisting Ryan in the defense, while Harris is being aided by Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

Stemp, a clean-cut young man, appeared in court wearing an Eisenhower jacket and other parts of his Army uniform. Stemp is employed at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, as were the two victims of the mishap.

Harris, in explaining the new covering "manslaughter by automobile," said it is a misdemeanor, and that the maximum penalty, upon conviction, is three years in prison.

Among witnesses summoned in the case were State Trooper A. M. Spioch, State Trooper Walter Wilt, Mansby Rodgers, Fred Kessner, Lt. John Doud of the State Police; M. Larmas, James Clevenger, James Simone, Betty Timbrook, Charles Boyland, Homer Knotts, Mrs. Robert Kilroy, James J. McKenzie, Chief of Westernport Police Burza Henline, James T. McGay and Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Other jurors, in addition to Hornbrook, the foreman, include, Charles G. Burkshire, Joseph S. Bewick, William Gephart, Thomas J. Leake, William H. Schafer, William H. Beeman, Owen W. Zimmerly, George S Parsenios, Alvin Haller, Iley S. Sponseller and George William Jones.

Domestic Users Asked To Conserve Natural Gas

Officials of the Allegheny Gas Company announced last night that the gas supply and distribution lines are already taxed to capacity and are now overburdened as a result of the present cold wave. The sereve cold weather is endangering the available supply, officials added.

Gas pressures in the lines are reduced to dangerously low levels and the gas supply to industrial users has already been drastically reduced. However, an official of the company pointed out that reducing the supply for industrial use will not be enough, adding that it is virtually necessary that domestic users conserve gas.

The company official pointed out that high winds and the sudden cold wave are causing the emergency, particularly in Pittsburgh and Washington, Pa., and that the prolonged cold spell in Western Pennsylvania has doubled the demand for natural gas.

The company made the following suggestions to conserve gas:

Don't use gas range to heat kitchen, and if gas is used to heat buildings set the thermostat at 65 degrees.

Don't use gas room heater to supplement furnace.

Use hot water sparingly.

Postpone laundering.

Don't leave hot water running and set hot water thermostat as low as possible.

A company spokesman said by following the suggestions consumers will do much to prevent any undue hardship.

If your family will not eat whole oysters, make a bisque which is made like a stew, only the oysters are finely chopped before adding to the other ingredients.

No Indictment Found In Keyser Furniture Case

Bar Association Is Studying Incident

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Jan. 21 — Because of insufficient evidence, no idictment was returned today by the January term grand jury of Mineral County Circuit Court against Mrs. Anna T. Spencer and her father, J. T. Britton, who were accused of transporting furniture belonging to Mrs. Spencer's husband, Richard, from their home on Armstrong street, extended, to Virginia.

Britton, however, was indicted for carrying a revolver unlawfully in connection with the alleged incident, which occurred last month.

The grand jury was charged to make a thorough investigation of alleged irregularities in connection with the removal of the furniture from Spencer's home. It was reported that Spencer was lodged in the Mineral county jail on a non-support charge after which his wife and father-in-law allegedly removed his furniture from his home and took it out of the state. The furniture was later returned to the home.

The grievance committee of the Mineral County Bar Association is investigating the incident but it still has some witnesses to query in Virginia.

Sperling Not Indicted

The grand jury also failed to return an indictment, because of insufficient evidence, in the case of Charles Sperling, Knobley Mountain section, who was charged with threatening the life of Game Protector Claude Rice, Keyser, last September. Rice charged that he found Sperling hunting unlawfully in the Knobley mountain section and that the latter trained his gun at him and warned him away.

Two felony indictments each were returned against three men charged with the armed robbery of $728 from William Sugars, aged recluse, at his home in Emoryville last month. Those indicted are Clement Highberger, Clement "Doc" Reed and Russell Abernathy, all of Elk district.

James Glass and William Zais, both of McCoole, Md., were indicted on a misdemeanor count, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl.

Judge Ernest A. See took under advisement the petition of E. L. Tyler, Keyser attorney, protesting the payment of $704.27 for conducting the case of the state against Alvin Fazenbaker and Russell "Junior" Michael, who were found guilty of involuntary manslaughter last January and sentenced to a year in Mineral county jail here in the death of Police Chief Charles Dornon January 9, 1946.

Since the two defendants were not convicted of a felony but were actually found guilty of a misdemeanor, court costs should not exceed $292.37, the petition stated. The youths were also fined $500 each as part of the sentence, and they cannot be released from jail when their year's term is up until the fines and court costs are paid, it was stated.

Motion Presented

In the damage suits of Charles Wimer and Mrs. Ada Wimer vs. the L. and A. Bus Company, in which Wimer asks $10,000 and Mrs. Wimer $25,000 damages from an accident which occurred on McMullen highway when they were passengers on an L. & A. bus, Gus Muntsing, Moorefield, attorney for the defendant bus company, presented a motion for a bill of particulars, covering the various items of damages claimed in the original bills of complaint. The court took the motion under consideration. E. L. Tyler and N. Howard Rogers represent the plaintiffs.

In the case of the state vs. Ervin Lowell, appealed from C. A. Jewell, justice of the peace. Ridgeley, a petition by the defendant for dismissal of the case was granted. Lowell paid his fine of $25 and court costs. The case grew out of a traffic violation in Frankfort district in December, 1946. After Lowell was found guilty before Justice Jewell, he appealed his case to the Circuit Court.

Two insurance adjustment suits pending before the court for several months were disposed of today when Judge See signed orders requiring the defendant company, the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Bel Air, Md., to pay to the complainants Lydia Strachan by Hugh D. Strachan and Hugh D. Strachan each the sum of $2,502.50, total $5,005. The litigation grew out of a fire loss at the Strachan property in Blaine.

Edward L. "Brassy" Cooper originally sentenced to serve one year in jail for the unlawful use of an automobile and then paroled, was arrested for violating the parole and placed back in jail to finish out his sentence. However, upon payment of the accumulated costs of his trial amounting to $6 and upon his promise to leave the state he was released from jail upon order of Judge See.

Personals

Mrs. Paul Sanders, the former Miss Mary Deremer, Fort Ashby, who has been employed in the Union station, Washington, since 1940, is spending some time with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deremer. She will join her husband, Captain Paul Sanders of the U. S. Marines who is stationed on the Island of Truk, in April.

Mrs. Milton Shumate, Keyser, and Mrs. Melvin J. Foley, Westernport, have been admitted to Potomac Valley hospital.

TODAY'S TALK — Things Said Unthinkingly Are Regretted Later

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The things that we do say that bring hope, comfort or renewed courage to many, leave us plenty of joy and saitisfaction. It's the things we say unthinkingly, in the heat of anger, or spitefully, that we always later regret.

We are not held accountable for the things we do not say. Law suits are initiated only upon things said, written, or perhaps witnessed. The unsaid things cause no trouble. Even evil rumors soon die, if untrue. One's reputed character blows them soon away.

The listener rarely gets into trouble. It's the idle, and explosive talker, who often loses a friend, is misjudged, or is avoided. But Heaven blesses the one who has something helpful to say, and who says it with conviction and feeling, as well as sincerity. We all read things that we may not agree with, but which we read because our mind is stimulated and we are made to think.

Ambrose Bierce was a great newspaper reporter and short story writer, but he wrote so many bitter things, and said so many bitter things, that one biographer wrote a book about him and called it "Bitter Bierce." One of the best books about the late President Roosevelt that I have read, is by Frances Perkins. She reveals so many things Roosevelt said in odd moments that emphasized his simple and human side—his "off-parade" self. He told to her many things that he never broadcast. It's a revealing book, about a man whom she confessed she was biased in writing about.

Many of the great minds of the world left but a single book to promote their fame. It isn't the many, but the much, that counts. Marcus Aurelius left but a single book—but its fame is worldwide. I like brief books. They leave so much more behind in the mind than big, overwritten books. The best book lives.

Jessie Lynch Williams wrote many things in his lifetime, and was a very popular writer, but I have but one book of his in my library, called "Not Wanted," long out of print, but a little classic. The same may be said about many a writer. We ought to say, or write something worthwhile however, or nobody will be benefitted!

LaSalle Faculty Honors Jubilarian At Dinner Here

A dinner was held last night in observance of the diamond jubilee of Rev. Bro. Denis Edward, F.S.C., Ph. D., supervisor of schools for the Baltimore province of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, by Rev. Bro. Clement, F.S.C., and the faculty of LaSalle High School at the Brothers' home, Hanover street.

Beginning his 60 years as a teacher at the Immaculate Conception School, Baltimore, Brother Edward was assigned three years later to Calvert Hall College there. He taught in Jersey City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and at Rock Hill College, Ellicott City.

In 1911, he assumed the presidency of LaSalle College in Philadelphia. At his invitation, Dr. Frank P. Graves, later commissioner of education for the state of New York, began his series of lectures on the history of education which eventually formed the basis for several volumes on this topic. Dr. Graves paid tribute in his books to Brother Edward for the latter's aid in presenting the Catholic theory of education.

During World War I Brother Edward was in charge of St. John's College, Washington, organizing a school for commerce and finance. He was appointed president of St. Thomas College, Scranton, Pa., in 1921, which later became the University of Scranton. During his nine-year term many innovations were introduced, including the inauguration of teachers' institutes, symphony orchestra music appreciation courses and increased attention to nurses' education.

A frequent visitor to Cumberland, Brother Edward served for some time as president of the Catholic Educational Association of Pennsylvania.

Winning $180,000 on an investment of two cents in a points pool, a British coal miner says he doesn't know what to do with it. There are only about 40,000,000 other Britishers who would gladly advise him.

World Cafeteria Ousted By World Capital

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's delegates to the United Nations may not be able to try the "home cooked" meals the World Cafeteria offers right now on the site of the permanent U.N. home.

The cluttered little restaurant, its prophetic name chosen 13 years ago, is directly across First Avenue from the slum site which the U.N. will raze to erect its world capital. But the cafeteria, like other tenants, has been told it must move. Within a week after U.N. picked the area, real estate operators had bought the property fronting it—including that which houses the World Cafeteria.

WARNING!

The GAS Supply Is Critical!

Prolonged cold weather has doubled the demand for natural gas.

Gas supply and distribution lines—already taxed to capacity—are now overburdened as a result of the present cold wave, with gas pressures in the lines now running dangerously low in this area.

We have already drastically reduced all industrial consumption.

That will not be enough. It is vitally necessary that domestic users use less gas.

LaSalle Faculty Honors Jubilarian At Dinner Here

A dinner was held last night in observance of the diamond jubilee of Rev. Bro. Denis Edward, F.S.C., Ph. D., supervisor of schools for the Baltimore province of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, by Rev. Bro. Clement, F.S.C., and the faculty of LaSalle High School at the Brothers' home, Hanover street.

Beginning his 60 years as a teacher at the Immaculate Conception School, Baltimore, Brother Edward was assigned three years later to Calvert Hall College there. He taught in Jersey City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and at Rock Hill College, Ellicott City.

In 1911, he assumed the presidency of LaSalle College in Philadelphia. At his invitation, Dr. Frank P. Graves, later commissioner of education for the state of New York, began his series of lectures on the history of education which eventually formed the basis for several volumes on this topic. Dr. Graves paid tribute in his books to Brother Edward for the latter's aid in presenting the Catholic theory of education.

During World War I Brother Edward was in charge of St. John's College, Washington, organizing a school for commerce and finance. He was appointed president of St. Thomas College, Scranton, Pa., in 1921, which later became the University of Scranton. During his nine-year term many innovations were introduced, including the inauguration of teachers' institutes, symphony orchestra music appreciation courses and increased attention to nurses' education.

A frequent visitor to Cumberland, Brother Edward served for some time as president of the Catholic Educational Association of Pennsylvania.

Winning $180,000 on an investment of two cents in a points pool, a British coal miner says he doesn't know what to do with it. There are only about 40,000,000 other Britishers who would gladly advise him.

Seven Area Men Enlist In Army

Seven Cumberland area men went to Baltimore yestaerday for physical examination prior to entering the Army, the local recruiting office announced. They are:

Rudolph Robert Rexrode, 20, 122 Harrison street, formerly with the Navy, signed up for service with the First Cavalry Division in Japan.

David Lewis Rinker, 24, of 858 Sperry Terrace, formerly with the Signal Corps, is rejoining the Signal Corps for a three year enlistment.

Samuel William Mauk, 25, of 32 Howard street, who served as a cook in a former tour of duty, who is enlisting for three years.

Carl Charles Kaefer, 20, Frostburg, enlisting for 18 months.

Eugene William Foutz, 28, formerly a staff sergeant with the 170th Medical Battalion for three years, who is rejoining the medical Corps for a three year term as a sergeant.

Myles Joseph John Byrne, 18, of Ocean, enlisting for 18 months.

Robert Julian Brown, 18, of 34 North Water Street, Frostburg, enlisting in the Air Force for a three year period.

World Cafeteria Ousted By World Capital

NEW YORK (AP)—The world's delegates to the United Nations may not be able to try the "home cooked" meals the World Cafeteria offers right now on the site of the permanent U.N. home.

The cluttered little restaurant, its prophetic name chosen 13 years ago, is directly across First Avenue from the slum site which the U.N. will raze to erect its world capital. But the cafeteria, like other tenants, has been told it must move. Within a week after U.N. picked the area, real estate operators had bought the property fronting it—including that which houses the World Cafeteria.

The GAS Supply Is Critical!

Prolonged cold weather has doubled the demand for natural gas.

Gas supply and distribution lines—already taxed to capacity—are now overburdened as a result of the present cold wave, with gas pressures in the lines now running dangerously low in this area.

We have already drastically reduced all industrial consumption.

That will not be enough. It is vitally necessary that domestic users use less gas.

If everyone cooperates and follows the instructions for saving fuel that are outlined in this advertisement . . . it will help to prevent undue hardship.

We thank you for your complete cooperation throughout this emergency and assure you that your gas company is doing everything possible to increase the gas supply available to you and your neighbors.

Everyone must help save this precious fuel!

1. Don't use your gas range to heat the kitchen.

2. If you heat with gas set your thermostat at 65°—still lower at night.

Advice To The Lovelorn

He Lied To His Girl About His Age; She Found Out And Is Angry

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

A great many letters come in from girls who are worried over the respective ages of themselves and the men in whom they are interested in. Some of them are older than their boy friends, and they wonder if it will make a difference; others are very much younger, and they have doubts about that.

Here, however, is a "Lonesome Vet," as he signs himself, who is struggling with the same type of problem, from a somewhat different angle.

He explains that he is rooming with a friend he met while they were both in the Navy, and the friend introduced him to a girl with whom he immediately fell in love.

"I never thought that would happen to me," he writes, "because I never cared for girls. Anyway, at first we went out together and had swell times until one day she began to ask questions such as where I lived, how old I was, etc. My friend knew the girl very well, and had told me she was 21. Well, I was 19, going on 20, but I lied to her and told her I was 22, as I afraid we would break up if I told her my real age.

"But she found out my real age somehow or other, and told me she didn't want to see me again because I had lied to her. I tried seeing her afterward but it was no use. Then I tried writing her a letter and apologizing, but didn't get an answer.

"I was going to quit working in this town and go back home, but my friend told me I could find a lot of other nice girls. Miss Fairfax, I know you tell fellows like me to find other girls and have a good time, but if you love a girl it's hard to forget her and go with others. Love isn't very easy to forget no matter how hard and long you try. How can I apologize and get this girl back, because I love her and miss her very much? I have her picture and I asked my friend to ask her if she wanted it back and he told me she said I could keep it. Would that mean anything?"

I would never dispute the fact, "Lonesome Vet," that "love isn't very easy to forget," and that it's very hard indeed to put out of your mind a girl to whom you have lost your heart.

It's not because I think it's easy that I advise anyone to do it, I advise it because, difficult as it is, it actually can be done, and because it's the only sensible thing to do in many cases. I'm not saying that you should go about trying to do it right away. We'll get to that in a minute. But I am saying that you, and thousands of others like you who write to me saying: "I can't forget," should try to believe that, however incredible it may seem to you at the time, you can and will "forget" in the course of time, using the word "forget" in the sense of "get over" a blighted romance. For it happens to everyone. No matter how convinced they are that they'll go through life mourning a past love, they eventually do get over it. They can't help themselves. Time and nature see to that.

But before you decide the time has come for you to "forget"—as I'm sure you have sense enough to do if your pursuit of this girl proves hopeless—let's see if there might be anything you could do in a last attempt to get her to listen to you.

Have you asked this young man who is a friend of both of you to explain the situation to her? He might be able to make her understand that your lying about your age was, in effect, really a compliment instead of an insult to her. If she were an intelligent girl, she should be able to realize that a young man of fine feelings could easily do such a thing out of deference to some one he loved, and that she would be very foolish to take it as indication that he was a chronic liar. Harmless "social" fibs are told every day in the year by thousands of otherwise perfectly honest people with the purpose of saving other people embarrassment.

In addition to your friend trying to make peace between you, there is always the plan many other young men use of bombarding the girl with flowers, candy and notes, until she breaks down. But keep off the telephone, where she can always hang up on you! As for her saying for you to keep her picture, it could mean either that she still has an interest in you, or that she's completely indifferent.

The whole thing seems so trivial for the girl to be making such an issue of, however, that I think you should face the possibility that she may just be using it as an excuse to break away from you. But go ahead and try your luck again, if you want to. If you don't get any response soon, though, I'd start that business of "forgetting."

O'Conor, Markey Vote Recount Is Begun By Senate

Investigators Will Go Into 5 Counties

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 21 (AP)—The Senate investigation into the contested election of former Gov Herbert R. O'Conor to the United States Senate resumed today with the beginning of a recount here of some 19,000 votes cast in Anne Arundel County in the November 5, 1946, election.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), chairman, and Sen. Francis J. Myers (D-Pa.) member of the sub-committee on privileges and elections of the Senate Committee and Rules and Administration, arrived to oversee the start of the probe.

Anne Arundel First

Anne Arundel is the first of five counties in which ballots cast are to be investigated. Voting machine results in Baltimore City and Montgomery County have already been examined, with the result that Brig. Gen. D. John Markey, O'Conor's opponent in the senatorial race, gained about 400 votes.

Other counties yet to be checked are Baltimore, Prince George's, Howard and St. Mary's.

In active charge of the probe is Louis Wyman, counsel for the old Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee, where Markey first registered his protest. Also here is Lt. Col. Golden P. Kratz, a Nebraska attorney and former military government officer in the European Theater, who will replace Wyman upon his separation from the Army, which is expected shortly.

The 78 Anne Arundel ballot boxes were moved under guard from the County Court House to the second floor of the post office, where the recount is being made. Wyman ordered that the room be closed to all but counters, committee officials and designated representatives of O'Conor and Markey, so that there will be no interference with the work. Even the red indelible pencils to be used in tallying the ballots will be issued by a clerk within the room. No writing implements may be carried in by the counters.

To Be Presented

Both O'Conor and Markey will be represented by four watchers, who may dispute any ballot. Five committee investigators will actually handle the ballots and make an official count.

Markey has charged that Anne Arundel county election judges failed to count more than 1,200 ballots. William Purnell, who with George Cochran Doub is serving as attorney for Markey, said some of these ballots were rejected illegally.

Attorneys for O'Conor are William C. Walsh and William L. Marbury.

The football Yankees and the baseball Yankees now have the same ownership. Let's hope this doesn't so confuse the infielders that they start booting the ball.

Maryland Senate Approves 16 Bills In Burst Of Speed

Several Will Allow Salary Increases

ANNAPOLIES, Md., Jan. 21 (AP)—The Senate showed a burst of legislative speed today, approving 16 minor legislative council measures and one local bill in the biggest bill passing day since the General Assembly convened January 1.

Of the bills passed several would allow salaries of officials such as those of the Department of Legislative reference and of the court of Appeals to be set in the budget rather than by specific statute.

One of the measures would exempt members of the armed forces from payment of state income taxes on up to $1,500 during the calendar years 1944, '45 and '46.

Meanwhile, the laggard house had not yet passed a bill. It was 39 minutes in session and received nine bills, some of which would set salaries of various county employes.

Under them local officials would decide compensation of bailiffs in Prince George's and Howard Counties, court criers in Prince Georges, and court stenographers in Washington, Allegany and Garrett Counties.

The Senate received but one new bill—the 144th—which would permit election judges to count a ballot if a cross-mark extended "beyond the square" of a ballot so long as the point of intersection of the cross mark is within the square.

This measure was introduced by Republican Senator Hoff of Caroline County.

The two main committees of the Senate continued their study of routine measures today, the Finance Committee reporting favorably six bills and the judiciary group two.

From the floor Senator Bolton (D-Balto.) chairman of the judiciary committee, announced his group would hold a hearing tomorrow at 10:30 on Senate Bill 31 which would establish a state commission on alcoholism.

The bill would set up clinics for alcoholics at Johns Hopkins hospital, University of Maryland Hospitals, one in Western Maryland and another on the eastern shore. It would appropriate $100,000 annually to be used by the commission as provided in the budget.

Rising on a point of personal privilege, Senator Storm (D-Frederick) assailed an editorial of the Baltimore Sun of Sunday morning criticizing a bill he introduced to set wage ranges for the chief clerk and stenographer in the Frederick County Treasurer's office.

Storm said his bill was aimed at increasing rather than lessening home rule.

In a letter to the editor of the Sun, which he quoted in his speech, Storm said, "don't fire indiscriminately at new Senators and new bills until you identify them as hostile to good government."

The editorial, he said, was the second in the Sun criticizing introduction of local measures into the General Assembly.

Delegate James (D-Harford) introduced a bill in the House which would require street car and trackless trolley operators to observe the same regulations on streets and highways as motor vehicle operators.

It would provide fines or jail terms for street car and trackless trolley operators, the same as for pivate car and tuck owners, convicted of reckless driving. It also would require them to observe speeding regulations, stop signs, right-of-way, and other vehicular rules.

Similar bills in recent sessions, aimed at the Baltimore Transit Company, have met defeat.

World War Two veterans would be exempted from the prerequisite of two years college work before beginning the study of law under a House Bill introduced by Delegate McGrath (D-Prince George's).

Delegate See (R-Allegany) introduced a bill which would eliminate the property ownership requirement for qualification as candidates for Mayor and the City Council in Cumberland.

The Dorchester county delegation sponsored a bill increasing the Cambridge tax levy limit from $1 to $1.70.

Ralph (Bottles) Capone, Al's brother, was reported flying here from Mercer, Wis., where he has a home and operates a cocktail lounge. Chicago members of the family were called, and it was said that Al's aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ermio Capone; a sister, Mrs. Mafalda Mariote, and a brother, Matthew, also were preparing to leave for Miami.

Dr. Phillips could not say how well Capone might fight off the effects of what he termed "an acute emergency stroke."

Mrs. Mae Capone, Al's wife, summoned the doctor to the Palm Island Villa where Al has spent many quiet sunny days, often loafing on a mahogany decked cabin cruiser tied up to a boat dock.

The man who literally battled into the spotlight as "public enemy No. 1" clung grimly to life, however, and hours after he was stricken his gate guards, after examining newsmen through a peephole, told them "Al feels fine."

Al's son, Sonny, was with his mother at the bedside. Dr. Phillips spent most of the day there, and returned tonight.

Tonight the usually dark two-story villa was brilliantly lighted and big, expensive cars arrived and departed. For some the gates were unlocked and swung open. A priest left the house about 8:30 p. m., and the doctor returned after being absent for a short time.

The gangleader of prohibition days has long suffered from paresis and had lapsed mentally to the point where a former associate described him as being "nuttier than a fruit cake."

There were many rumors that Capone was still active in the underworld or in some important business enterprise. But Dr. Joseph Moore of Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore was quoted as stating that Al had the mentality of a 12-year-old.

7 Fire Companies Fight $250,000 Blaze

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 21 (AP)—Fire caused by the explosion of a gasoline tank gutted the L. R. Cooke Chevrolet Company here late today, causing damage estimated at $250,000.

The loss included from 30 to 40 privately owned automobiles left at the garage.

Seven companies of firemen fought the wind-fanned flames in 15 degree weather for one and one half hours before bringing the blaze under control.

Three hours later six fire companies continued to pour water on the smouldering one and one-half story brick structure.

The fire broke out in the late afternoon rush hour and sent huge clouds of black smoke towering over the city's shopping district, one block to the north.

Several hundred residents, shoppers and office workers returning home were attracted to the scene.

L. R. Cooke, owner of the garage and implement company, said his loss would approximate $200,000 to the building and contents. He estimated the value of the burned automobiles at another $50,000.

Cooke said the blaze originated from the explosion of a gas tank on the tractor of a trailer truck.

O'Conor, Markey Vote Recount Is Begun By Senate

Investigators Will Go Into 5 Counties

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 21 (AP)—The Senate investigation into the contested election of former Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor to the United States Senate resumed today with the beginning of a recount here of some 19,000 votes cast in Anne Arundel County in the November 5, 1946, election.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), chairman, and Sen. Francis J. Myers (D-Pa.) member of the sub-committee on privileges and elections of the Senate Committee and Rules and Administration, arrived to oversee the start of the probe.

Anne Arundel First

Anne Arundel is the first of five counties in which ballots cast are to be investigated. Voting machine results in Baltimore City and Montgomery County have already been examined, with the result that Brig. Gen. D. John Markey, O'Conor's opponent in the senatorial race, gained about 400 votes.

Other counties yet to be checked are Baltimore, Prince George's, Howard and St. Mary's.

In active charge of the probe is Louis Wyman, counsel for the old Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee, where Markey first registered his protest. Also here is Lt. Col. Golden P. Kratz, a Nebraska attorney and former military government officer in the European Theater, who will replace Wyman upon his separation from the Army, which is expected shortly.

The 78 Anne Arundel ballot boxes were moved under guard from the County Court House to the second floor of the post office, where the recount is being made. Wyman ordered that the room be closed to all but counters, committee officials and designated representatives of O'Conor and Markey, so that there will be no interference with the work. Even the red indelible pencils to be used in tallying the ballots will be issued by a clerk within the room. No writing implements may be carried in by the counters.

To Be Presented

Both O'Conor and Markey will be represented by four watchers, who may dispute any ballot. Five committee investigators will actually handle the ballots and make an official count.

Markey has charged that Anne Arundel county election judges failed to count more than 1,200 ballots. William Purnell, who with George Cochran Doub is serving as attorney for Markey, said some of these ballots were rejected illegally.

Attorneys for O'Conor are William C. Walsh and William L. Marbury.

Legion To Seek Names Of Dead War Veterans

Committee Named By Farrady Post

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Jan. 21 — Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, appointed a committee last evening to secure the names of all deceased war veterans, who have died since 1930 and are buried in local cemeteries, including Allegany, Percy, German Lutheran, Eckhart, Vale Summit, St. Michael's and Porter.

The Legion Post makes an effort each year to place a marker and flag on the grave of each veteran of the Civil War, Spanish American, World War I and from now the same attention will be given to the graves of veterans of World War II. On account of the shortage of material during the war, it was impossible to secure markers and only a flag was placed on the graves on Memorial Day during the past four years. When markers become available, the memorial committee of the post will make an effort to secure them for the unmarked graves.

The Legion has a complete list of all veterans in Frostburg and adjoining cemeteries up to May 1932. The names of veterans who have died since May, 1932 are desired so that the list may be completed.

Persons knowing the names of such veterans and the cemetery in which they are buried, together with the location of the graves, are asked to furnish the information to any member of the committee consisting of Postmaster Michael J. Byrnes, William Festerman or Rudolph Nickel.

Anniversary Is Planned By Barton Hose Company No. 1

By DAVID E. KIRK

BARTON, Jan. 21—Plans for the celebration of the 28th anniversary of Barton Hose Company No. 1 were discussed last night at the regular meeting of the company.

William Kyle, chairman of the committee, reported that a banquet will be held Wednesday, February 19, in the Presbyterian Church, followed by a dance in the armory. The Ladies Guild of the church will serve the banquet. A list of guests was approved and invitations will be mailed some time this week, Kyle stated. Others assisting Kyle will be Harmon Gannon, Fred Kyle, Forrest Mowbray, George Beeman and Joseph Shuhart.

Ervin Neilson and James Russell Kiddy were voted into the company and will receive their obligation at the next regular meeting, February 3.

The amusement committee is composed of Jess Kimble, chairman; William Kyle, assistant; Howard Wilkes, William Chappell, Forrest Mowbray, John Howell, George Saville, Fred Kyle, Dewey Bradley and David E. Kirk.

Other committees approved by Henry Howell, president, who presided at the meeting were: Kitchen, John Howell, chairman; George Saville, Fred Kyle, Dewey Bradley, Earl Metz and David E. Kirk; games, Forrest Mowbray, chairman; Leon Kirk, Henry Howell, Joseph Shuhart and James Chappell.

Alternates, Harmon Gannon, Jesse Kimble, Russell Kiddy, George Beeman and Gilbert Warnick.

The annual report of Joseph Shuhart, treasurer, was made.

A check for $5 was ordered paid to the March of Dimes Committee of this community.

Forrest Mowbray and William Chappell, members of the executive committee of the Allegany-Garrett Firemen's Association, made a report on the special meeting held Sunday afternoon in Midland. The next meeting of the committee will be held in Barton Sunday, February 2, in the armory at 2 p. m. with Barton's firemen as host. Forrest Mowbray is chairman of the committee appointed to make arrangements for same.

Gilbert Warnick and Thomas Chappell were added to the house committee to be served with Leon Kirk, Joseph Shuhart, Russell Kiddy and William Kyle, whose names were previously announced.

Is Sponsoring Drive

Paul Davis, adjutant of Barton Post No. 189, American Legion, stated today that the Barton post is sponsoring the March of Dimes drive in this community.

He stated that Lonaconing, Midland and Barton have joined together to put on the drive known as the Georges Creek Region "March of Dimes" drive.

A letter asking contributions was sent to all organizations by Mrs. Jesse Smith, secretary of the drive and of Lonaconing, and some misunderstanding has occurred causing organizations to feel that another community is requesting funds from Barton's organizations and business houses, when Barton is having a drive of their own.

Davis wishes to point out that the three towns are together and anyone having any contributions are requested to make checks payable to Morgan Riley, treasurer of the March of Dimes Committee, 7 Church street, Lonaconing.

The Barton Legion will get the same credit for donations sent to the treasurer as those sent directly to the Legion headquarters.

Boy Scouts Meet

Plans were made last night at the meeting of Barton Troop No. 25, Boy Scouts of America, to attend the scout-parent roundup to be held Thursday, February 13 at Bruce High School, Westernport, sponsored by the Tri-Towns District Scouting of which Barton is a member.

Barton troop will put on a compass relay contest and will take part in a musical contest which is to be part of the entertainment, Kyle stated.

Legion To Seek Names Of Dead War Veterans

Committee Named By Farrady Post

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Jan. 21 — Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, appointed a committee last evening to secure the names of all deceased war veterans, who have died since 1930 and are buried in local cemeteries, including Allegany, Percy, German Lutheran, Eckhart, Vale Summit, St. Michael's and Porter.

The Legion Post makes an effort each year to place a marker and flag on the grave of each veteran of the Civil War, Spanish American, World War I and from now the same attention will be given to the graves of veterans of World War II. On account of the shortage of material during the war, it was impossible to secure markers and only a flag was placed on the graves on Memorial Day during the past four years. When markers become available, the memorial committee of the post will make an effort to secure them for the unmarked graves.

The Legion has a complete list of all veterans in Frostburg and adjoining cemeteries up to May 1932. The names of veterans who have died since May, 1932 are desired so that the list may be completed.

Persons knowing the names of such veterans and the cemetery in which they are buried, together with the location of the graves, are asked to furnish the information to any member of the committee consisting of Postmaster Michael J. Byrnes, William Festerman or Rudolph Nickel.

Thieves Can Face Music

BERLIN—(AP)—An orchestra playing in Berlin's Operetta House has been silenced by thieves who stole its four most important instruments, an accordian, clarinet and two saxophones.

In addition, the thieves took the stage clothes of the theater's tenor.

Because instruments are virtually irreplaceable, an appeal was published in the press for the loan of some so that the show could go on.

Kimble Would "Freeze" Wages

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 21. (AP)—If the Republican minority in Maryland's Legislature has its way, the salaries of state employes stipulated in the new budget act would be "frozen" and could not be altered without legislative approval.

This notice was served by Minority Leader Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) at a meeting of the Senate Finance committee.

"We should stipulate that this budget cannot be amended after the Legislature adjourns," he declared. "We should say this is the budget until we come back."

He criticized the procedure whereby heads of various state departments may appeal for revisions in salary items set in the budget after adjournment subject to the Governors approval.

Salary revisions have been "made sometimes within 15 days after we leave," Kimble told the committee.

Kimble pointed out that a similar "freeze" of salaries was put into the budget passed by the 1937 Legislature, in which the Democrats were in the majority, while former Republican Governor Harry W. Nice, was in office.

The provision prohibiting salary changes was dropped in 1939 when Governor O'Conor, a Democrat, took office, Kimble said.

Market Dealings Among Slowest Of Past Year As Leaders Stumble

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—A few pivotal stocks managed to keep in the plus division of today's market but dealings were among the slowest of the past year and the majority of leaders stumbled.

The proceedings turned sluggish after a fairly active opening and the ticker tape frequently was motionless. Declines of fractions to a point or so predominated at the close. Transfers of 690,000 shares compared with 800,000 the day before and were the smallest for a full stretch since last August 19.

Stocks breasting the current included Armour, up 1 at 14⅝; Westinghouse 1 at 24⅞, Detroit Edison ½ at 26½ (following a proposed 10 per cent stock dividend), Sears Roebuck ½ at 36⅝, International Harvester ¾ at 72, United States Steel ⅜ at 70 and N. Y. Central ⅛ at 19.

Eastman Kodak dropped 4 points at 218. Great Northern was off 1¼ at 43¾, Santa Fe 1 at 91, Du Pont 1 at 182, American Smelting 1¼ at 53¾, American Can 1 at 93½ and United Airlines 1⅜ at 21½.

Others to back water were Bethlehem, General Motors, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, Kennecott, General Electric, Union Carbide, Philip Morris, United States Gypsum, Schenley, Standard Oil (NJ), American Water Works, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Improved in the curb were American Cyanamid, American Gas, Lone Star Gas (on a lifted dividend), Pennroad and St. Regis Paper. Lower were Cities Service, Electric Bond & Share, Pantepec and Raytheon. Turnover here was 200,000 shares versus 210,000 yesterday.

Bonds moved irregularly in the market. A few rail favorites climbed a point or more while most of the carrier obligations were off fractionally.

Dealings continued relatively light with total sales of $3,381,000 compared with $3,720,000 Monday.

Some United States Governments in the intermediate maturities showed slight gains in over-the-counter trading, with the 2⅞s of '55-'60 up ⅛ at 112 6/32 bid.

Market Dealings Among Slowest Of Past Year As Leaders Stumble

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—A few pivotal stocks managed to keep in the plus division of today's market but dealings were among the slowest of the past year and the majority of leaders stumbled.

The proceedings turned sluggish after a fairly active opening and the ticker tape frequently was motionless. Declines of fractions to a point or so predominated at the close. Transfers of 690,000 shares compared with 800,000 the day before and were the smallest for a full stretch since last August 19.

Stocks breasting the current included Armour, up 1 at 14⅝; Westinghouse 1 at 26¾, Detroit Edison ½ at 28½ (following a proposed 10 per cent stock dividend), Sears Roebuck ½ at 36⅝, International Harvester ¾ at 72, United States Steel ⅝ at 70 and N. Y. Central ⅛ at 19.

Eastman Kodak dropped 4 points at 218. Great Northern was off 1⅜ at 43⅜, Santa Fe 1 at 91, Du Pont 1 at 182, American Smelting 1¼ at 53¾, American Can 1 at 93½ and United Airlines 1⅜ at 21½.

Others to back water were Bethlehem, General Motors, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, Kennecott, General Electric, Union Carbide, Philip Morris, United States Gypsum, Schenley, Standard Oil (NJ), American Water Works, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Improved in the curb were American Cyanamid, American Gas, Lone Star Gas (on a lifted dividend), Pennroad and St. Regis Paper. Lower were Cities Service, Electric Bond & Share, Pantepec and Raytheon. Turnover here was 200,000 shares versus 210,000 yesterday.

Bonds moved irregularly in the market. A few rail favorites climbed a point or more while most of the carrier obligations were off fractionally.

Dealings continued relatively light with total sales of $3,381,000 compared with $3,720,000 Monday.

Some United States Governments in the intermediate maturities showed slight gains in over-the-counter trading, with the 2½s of '55-'60 up ⅛ at 112 6/32 bid.

After School Play Is Supervised

After school should usually be a time for active play outdoors. But children need guidance here, for naturally active boys and girls will sometimes play to the point of excessive fatigue, while a more restrained child may sit quietly, often indoors, even though he has been doing that all day. Each child should be helped to find and enjoy the kind of activity he needs most.

Strauss Summoned

MUNICH, Germany, Jan. 21. (AP)—The composer Richard Strauss has been summoned by a denazification court in Garmisch to determine whether he profited under the Hitler regime.

After School Play Is Supervised

After school should usually be a time for active play outdoors. But children need guidance here, for naturally active boys and girls will sometimes play to the point of excessive fatigue, while a more restrained child may sit quietly, often indoors, even though he has been doing that all day. Each child should be helped to find and enjoy the kind of activity he needs most.

Officers Are Chosen

Charles C. McKearn, fire inspector has been re-elected without opposition, as president of the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association. Other officers re-elected:

Detective Lt. R. Emmett Flynn, secretary, and Detective B. Frank Gaffney, treasurer, both unopposed. Officer Curtis McA. Kime was elected vice-president.

Trustees elected are Officers John G. Powers, Roscoe M. Nuse and J. Carl Stouffer, of Police Department.

Advises every sufferer from Rheumatic—Arthritic—Sciatic—Neuritic Pains to try Muscle-Rub.
Here's the true story of a man who took treatments, used all kinds of remedies for his sciatic, neuritic pains without being helped in the slightest degree. Then one day he saw an advertisement of Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. He used it as directed and in 3 days the pains were relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.

By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHAT'S AN AMERICAN?

When is an American not an American? Young Jerome Gordon wants to know.

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"Here is a problem which has been puzzling me for quite a while. Does the mere fact of having been born in the United States automatically make a person superior to a person born anywhere else? To me it doesn't, because I was taught to believe that men made the country, not vice versa. If studying history taught me anything it was that while environment and opportunities differ with the country, basically men do not.

"I am thinking particularly of the men I served with in the army. So often they, while supposedly fighting for all the things implied in our great democratic declaration of equality and brotherly love, they proved by their actions that they were indifferent to all such principles. For example, it seemed all right to them to cheat a Frenchman because they were Americans. But a Frenchman was wrong when he tried to cheat back.

"I would be ashamed to even relate what some of the American G.I.'s did, excusing themselves by saying 'I am an American.' I may be putting it badly but what I am trying to get at is this. To my mind, being born an American doesn't give one a right to walk roughshod over those born in foreign countries . . . to arrogantly dismiss anything foreign as not worth while, without even an investigation into its merits."

JEROME GORDON, age 23,
4345 West 18th street, Chicago 23, Ill.

You've hit on one of the most vital truths and degrading faults in our national life, Gordon. And it doesn't apply only to veterans. It applies equally well to those who harbored vicious national intolerance during the war and are still openly biased against any one with a foreign background.

Of course this is absurd. America was founded by "foreigners" and populated by "foreigners." Its great names are nearly all of foreign derivation. Its customs are a heritage from long past centuries . . . from people who lived and worked and loved and prayed and fought long before the American vision came into being.

We are not one people. We are Americans. We are a melting pot of all peoples who share our vision. That sharing of the great democratic vision is the test of all true Americanism. Without that vision you are not a real American although you have a dozen naturalization papers or may have ancestors who came over on the Mayflower.

A Daughter of Son of the American Revolution may be as truly unAmerican in viewpoint if they harbor national intolerance and contempt for all other ways of life as any bomb throwing anarchist. The only thing that can make you a true American is something in your heart—not something written on a scrap of paper.

If you really believe that all men have a right to equal opportunity and equal freedom, whether they be black or white, yellow or brown, then you have the spiritual and mental birthright which makes you an American.

If you scoff at the Jews and snort at the Catholics and condemn a negro to ride in a Jim Crow car, you are no true American although you are blood kin to the Adamses and the Cabots and the Lodges.

One of the most absurd and contemptible signs of our un-Americanism is our scorn for anyone who speaks a foreign language. Actually the scorn should be on the reverse. It is as absurd for us not to be able to speak French as it is for a Frenchman not to be able to speak English.

Being born in America does not make anyone superior. It may indeed make us a target for world wide criticism. The Jews are ahead of most of us when it comes to managing family life and controlling their children. The Catholics make the Columbians and Ku Klux Klan look like cheap phoneys when it comes to exemplifying those words which we carry on all our coins—"In God we trust.' And the average amiable negro has it all over the peevish Yankee when it comes to disposition.

We are not superior merely because we were born in the United States. We have a thousand outstanding faults. Our national food is probably the worst in the world. The ignorance of our young women as regards domestic science would make a Zulu matron blush. The wildness of our young men driving their cars is comparable only to the frenzied Asiatic who runs amuck.

In the language of the old West, it would be much better for us to jerk up our own pants before we begin criticizing our neighbor's suspenders.

Unless you share that vision which inspired the founding fathers of America . . . unless you see that star which has drawn thousands of devout and freedom loving people to our shores, you are no American. You are just a mongrel, and not a very high grade one at that.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21.—My old friend, Dick Powell, is becoming a full-fledged movie producer. He'll join hands with Sam Bischoff, who was with Dick when he was a Warners star. They have formed the Regal Films, Inc., and will release with the United Artists set up.

You could be sure that Dick would select a thriller for his first and thriller it is,—"The Pitfall," by Jay Dratler, which comes out as a novel later this month. The picture gets going about the first of April and, of course, Dick is the star. Sidney Lanfield will direct and, if the boys are lucky, they hope to have Ida Lupino for the leading femme role.

Ruth Harbert joins the fast growing rank of women producers. She won her chance at Eagle-Lion through an original story, "Convicted," which she submitted to Brynie Foy.

For 10 years Ruth was an associate editor on Cosmopolitan and she knows story value. Then she went to Eagle-Lion as a story analyst and "Convicted" is her first try for story writing for the screen. Here's wishing her good luck.

Ruth is Dick Berlin's sister, and do I need to tell you that Dick is the guiding genius of the Hearst magazines.

Since Laurence Olivier won a critics' award for "Henry V" and the praise of every other motion picture scribbler in the U.S.A., J. Arthur Rank has given him the green light to do with "Hamlet" just what he did with "Henry V."

The picture is scheduled to start in March, and if Vivian Leigh is robust enough, she will appear with Larry. Now, I ask you what will they do with their American commitments. They certainly can't make a picture and get back to England by the first of March, or can they?

Ironic that Helen Walker should have killed a soldier. She, as much as any young actress, did outstanding war work. She has 13 citations from the blood bank, her house was an open canteen during the war and she is credited with having made more appearances at the Masquers than any other young Hollywood actress.

That's the thing that's really breaking her heart. Although she has been in great pain the last week, her despondency is the thing that the doctors have to fight. She feels life is over for her.

Many of her friends in Palm Springs say that Helen had had only one cocktail and that she was hurrying back to Hollywood because she was wanted at the studio early in the morning.

There's a very amusing story told about Michael Redgrave, who arrived in Hollywood today to play opposite Joan Bennett in "The Secret Beyond the Door." When Redgrave, who incidentally was one of the 10 percent who wasn't seasick on the S.S. America, checked in at his New York Hotel he was afraid he would be robbed.

He had heard many stories of wild American gangsters so he hid his wallet. Next day, he couldn't remember where he had put his money. Two hours' search revealed it under the mattress of the other twin bed. The first place thieves look, but apparently the last Redgrave did.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Brian Donlevy will try and forget his unhappy marital experience by flying to London. He'll confer with Lowell Bennett, the I.N.S. correspondent . . . Vic Mature shares his basket luncheon at the studio now with Peggy Cummins. . . A very nice cocktail party was the one given by Maria Montez and Jean Pierre Aumont for their house guest, Claude Dauphin. He is returning to Paris.

Maria wore one of her Paris frocks. I don't wonder she says the pocketbook is empty, her clothes are so beautiful . . . Joan Edwards has leased her New York apartment to James Mason and if she returns unexpectedly he'll have something else to be mad at. Hear tell Joan may sue her radio sponsor for changing the format of the show, or can you do that? . . . Edith Fellows (Mrs. Freddie Fields) expects her baby April 1 . . .

An invitation to attend the re-birthday party of Ruth St. Denis, famous dancer, says the invitation, "Do not bring any presents, but carry a notebook to jot down a few things I want to say." What a dancer Ruth was in her heyday. Well, maybe this is another heyday, too . . . Richard Green is writing a book on his war experiences . . . A deal may be set any minute for Barry Fitzgerald to play the lead in Eugene O'Neill's play, "The Moon of the Misbegotten." Arthur Shields, the producer of the play, is Barry's brother. Not that I'm trying to say that he needs that pull to get the part . . . Dana Andrews and his wife arrived back in town Sunday morning from their two weeks' vacation. I'm glad it's he who was to face Sam Goldwyn and not me. But then Dana doesn't have to worry about a thing, that's how good an actor I think he is . . . My friend, Izzy Rappaport opens a half-million dollar movie palace in Baltimore. Well, I can't say he doesn't need it after playing in the Hippodrome. Abbott and Costello, his close friends, won't be able to be there on account of Sue Simmons has the chicken pox and she's holding up the finish of their current picture.

That's all today.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis
Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.
Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.
No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

WHAT'S AN AMERICAN?

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"Here is a problem which has been puzzling me for quite a while. Does the mere fact of having been born in the United States automatically make a person superior to a person born anywhere else? To me it doesn't, because I was taught to believe that men made the country, not vice versa. If studying history taught me anything it was that while environment and opportunities differ with the country, basically men do not.

"I am thinking particularly of the men I served with in the army. So often they, while supposedly fighting for all the things implied in our great democratic declaration of equality and brotherly love, they proved by their actions that they were indifferent to all such principles. For example, it seemed all right to them to cheat a Frenchman because they were Americans. But a Frenchman was wrong when he tried to cheat back.

"I would be ashamed to even relate what some of the American G.I.'s did, excusing themselves by saying 'I am an American.' I may be putting it badly but what I am trying to get at is this. To my mind, being born an American doesn't give one a right to walk roughshod over those born in foreign countries . . . to arrogantly dismiss anything foreign as not worth while, without even an investigation into its merits."

You've hit on one of the most vital truths and degrading faults in our national life, Gordon. And it doesn't apply only to veterans. It applies equally well to those who harbored vicious national intolerance during the war and are still openly biased against any one with a foreign background.

Of course this is absurd. America was founded by "foreigners" and populated by "foreigners." Its great names are nearly all of foreign derivation. Its customs are a heritage from long past centuries . . . from people who lived and worked and loved and prayed and fought long before the American vision came into being.

We are not one people. We are Americans. We are a melting pot of all peoples who share our vision. That sharing of the great democratic vision is the test of all true Americanism. Without that vision you are not a real American although you have a dozen naturalization papers or may have ancestors who came over on the Mayflower.

A Daughter of Son of the American Revolution may be as truly unAmerican in viewpoint if they harbor national intoleraunce and contempt for all other ways of life as any bomb throwing anarchist. The only thing that can make you a true American is something in your heart—not something written on a scrap of paper.

If you really believe that all men have a right to equal opportunity and equal freedom, whether they be black or white, yellow or brown, then you have the spiritual and mental birthright which makes you an American.

If you scoff at the Jews and snort at the Catholics and condemn a negro to ride in a Jim Crow car, you are no true American although you are blood kin to the Adamses and the Cabots and the Lodges.

One of the most absurd and contemptible signs of our un-Americanism is our scorn for anyone who speaks a foreign language. Actually the scorn should be on the reverse. It is as absurd for us not to be able to speak French as it is for a Frenchman not to be able to speak English.

Being born in America does not make anyone superior. It may indeed make us a target for world wide criticism. The Jews are ahead of most of us when it comes to managing family life and controlling their children. The Catholics make the Columbians and Ku Klux Klan look like cheap phoneys when it comes to exemplifying those words which we carry on all our coins—"In God we trust." And the average amiable negro has it all over the peevish Yankee when it comes to disposition.

We are not superior merely because we were born in the United States. We have a thousand outstanding faults. Our national food is probably the worst in the world. The ignorance of our young women as regards domestic science would make a Zulu matron blush. The wildness of our young men driving their cars is comparable only to the frenzied Asiatic who runs amuck.

In the language of the old West, it would be much better for us to jerk up our own pants before we begin criticizing our neighbor's suspenders.

Unless you share that vision which inspired the founding fathers of America . . . unless you see that star which has drawn thousands of devout and freedom loving people to our shores, you are no American. You are just a mongrel, and not a very high grade one at that.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21.—My old friend, Dick Powell, is becoming a full-fledged movie producer. He'll join hands with Sam Bischoff, who was with Dick when he was a Warners star. They have formed the 'Regal Films, Inc., and will release with the United Artists set up.

You could be sufe that Dick would select a thriller for his first and thriller it is,—"The Pitfall," by Jay Dratler, which comes out as a novel later this month. The picture gets going about the first of April and, of course, Dick is the star. Sidney Lanfield will direct and, if the boys are lucky, they hope to have Ida Lupino for the leading femme role.

Ruth Harbert joins the fast growing rank of women producers. She won her chance at Eagle-Lion through an original story, "Convicted," which she submitted to Brynie Foy.

For 10 years Ruth was an associate editor on Cosmopolitan and she knows story value. Then she went to Eagle-Lion as a story analyst and "Convicted" is her first try for story writing for the screen. Here's wishing her good luck.

Ruth is Dick Berlin's sister, and do I need to tell you that Dick is the guiding genius of the Hearst magazines.

Since Laurence Olivier won a critics' award for "Henry V" and the praise of every other motion picture scribbler in the U.S.A., J. Arthur Rank has given him the green light to do with "Hamlet" just what he did with "Henry V."

The picture is scheduled to start in March, and if Vivian Leigh is robust enough, she will appear with Larry. Now, I ask you what will they do with their American commitments. They certainly can't make a picture and get back to England by the first of March, or can they?

Ironic that Helen Walker should have killed a soldier. She, as much as any young actress, did outstanding war work. She has 13 citations from the blood bank, her house was an open canteen during the war and she is credited with having made more appearances at the Masquers than any other young Hollywood actress.

That's the thing that's really breaking her heart. Although she has been in great pain the last week, her despondency is the thing that the doctors have to fight. She feels life is over for her.

Many of her friends in Palm Springs say that Helen had had only one cocktail and that she was hurrying back to Hollywood because she was wanted at the studio early in the morning.

There's a very amusing story told about Michael Redgrave, who arrived in Hollywood today to play opposite Joan Bennett in "The Secret Beyond the Door." When Redgrave, who, incidentally was one of the 10 percent who wasn't seasick on the S.S. America, checked in at his New York Hotel he was afraid he would be robbed.

He had heard many stories of wild American gangsters so he hid his wallet. Next day, he couldn't remember where he had put his money. Two hours' search revealed it under the mattress of the other twin bed. The first place thieves look, but apparently the last Redgrave did.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Brian Donlevy will try and forget his unhappy marital experience by flying to London. He'll confer with Lowell Bennett, the I.N.S. correspondent . . . Vic Mature shares his basket luncheon at the studio now with Peggy Cummins. . . A very nice cocktail party was the one given by Maria Montez and Jean Pierre Aumont for their house guest, Claude Dauphin. He is returning to Paris.

Maria wore one of her Paris frocks. I don't wonder she says the pocketbook is empty, her clothes are so beautiful . . . Joan Edwards has leased her New York apartment to James Mason and if she returns unexpectedly he'll have something else to be mad at. Hear tell Joan may sue her radio sponsor for changing the format of the show, or can you do that? . . . Edith Fellows (Mrs. Freddie Fields) expects her baby April 1 . . .

An invitation to attend the rebirthday party of Ruth St. Denis, famous dancer, says the invitation, "Do not bring any presents, but carry a notebook to jot down a few things I want to say." What a dancer Ruth was in her heyday. Well, maybe this is another heyday, too . . . Richard Green is writing a book on his war experiences . . . A deal may be set any minute for Barry Fitzgerald to play the lead in Eugene O'Neill's play, "The Moon of the Misbegotten." Arthur Shields, the producer of the play, is Barry's brother. Not that I'm trying to say that he needs that pull to get the part . . . Dana Andrews and his wife arrived back in town Sunday morning from their two weeks' vacation. I'm glad it's he who was to face Sam Goldwyn and not me. But then Dana doesn't have to worry about a thing, that's how good an actor I think he is . . . My friend, Izzy Rappaport opens a half-million dollar movie palace in Baltimore. Well, I can't say he doesn't need it after playing in the Hippodrome. Abbott and Costello, his close friends, won't be able to be there on account of Sue Simmons has the chicken pox and she's holding up the finish of their current picture.

That's all today.

Lefty Grove Elected To Hall Of Fame

Baseball Writers Also Name Frisch, Cochrane, Hubbell

Names Of 39 Players Appear On Ballots

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—(AP) — Four players — Pitchers Carl Hubbell and Lefty Grove, Second Baseman Frankie Frisch and Catcher Mickey Cochrane — have been elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers' Association of America, it was announced tonight.

The pool was completed Jan. 15 and included votes of 161 members of the Baseball Writers' Association.

It was the first time since Rogers Hornsby was elected in 1942 that any player received 75 per cent of the votes required before a player is named to the game's national shrine.

Balloting was restricted to writers who have been members of the association for ten years or more and the voting was confined to players who were active in 1921 and had completed their careers before 1946.

Only Hubbell, Frisch, Cochrane and Grove were nominated on the requisite 121 ballots of the 161 cast.

Altogether names of 39 players appeared on the ballots in the current election.

HONORED — Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, of Lonaconing, retired major league pitcher, who was among four big leaguers named to Baseball's Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers' Association of America, pitched for 17 years in the American League with the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox before retiring in 1941. He made his debut in the majors in 1925 after having been sold to the A's by the Baltimore Orioles for $105,000. The A's traded him to Boston along with Max Bishop and Rube Walberg for two players and $125,000 in 1933. He pitched in 616 games, won 300, lost 141 for a .680 average and an earned run mark of 3.09. Lefty will mark his 47th birthday on March 6.

LEFTY GETS THRILL

"It's news to me, but I'm tickled to death," Lefty Grove told a News reporter when advised at his Lonaconing home last evening that he had been elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame.

Lefty was contacted about 10 p. m., and said it was the first thing he knew about being elected to the honored position.

"It's quite a thrill to feel that my name will be included in the Hall of Fame with other great baseball players," Lefty concluded.

Teddy Yarosz Cops 39th Bout In Row

Zivic Whips Armitage, Fontaine Stops Rico

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21 (AP) — Tommy Yarosz, 167, of Monaca, Pa., brother of former middleweight Champion Teddy Yarosz, ran his current victory string to 39 staight here tonight with a technical knockout of Young Jimmy Nelson, 169, Buffalo, U. Y., in the sixth round of one of three 10-round feature bouts.

Proteges of another former champion, ex-welterweight boss Fritzie Zivic, won handily in the other features. Charley (Young) Zivic, 151, Pittsburgh, avenged a previous setback by outpointing Jackie Armitage, 147, of New Kensington, Pa., in 10 rounds. Juste Fontaine, 139, Pittsburgh, required only three of the scheduled 10 rounds to carpet Chester Rico, 140, of New York, for the full count.

Durocher Weds Laraine Day

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21 (AP)—Screen Actress Laraine Day and Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, returned here by plane late today after she had obtained a Juarez, Mex., divorce and later was married in El Paso, Tex., to the fiery baseball man.

In El Paso, Justice of the peace Charles Windberg, Jr., announced that he had performed the marriage ceremony early this afternoon. Miss Day's Los Angeles attorney had said earlier that Durocher had telephoned him they were married.

Justice Windberg said he had not confirmed the marriage sooner because he had been asked to keep it a secret. Henry Garcia, El Paso county marriage license clerk, had said he had issued the license and turned it over to W. C. Roche, El Paso attorney who earlier had obtained Miss Day's Mexican divorce. Garcia said Durocher had given his age as 39 and Miss Day as 26.

AMVETS IDLE SUNDAY; NEW YORK HERE FEB. 2

The Amvets professional basketball team will be idle on Sunday night, Bob Whip, business manager announced last night.

No game has been booked although efforts were made to bring a strong road team here.

The Amvets will resume action on Sunday, February 2, with the New York Bombardiers, featuring Zack Clayton, formerly of the Globe Trotters, as the attraction.

On Sunday, February 9, the Whiz Kids of Memphis, Tenn., will play here, while on Sunday, February 16, the Baltimore Bullets will be back for a return engagement.

The team's practice session tonight has been cancelled.

Our idea of a soft snap would be the job of costume designer for that Hollywood studio which is planning to produce a film about Adam and Eve.

LaSalle Quintet Cleans Up Series With Fort Ashby

Explorers Win 42-19 On Eagles' Floor

LaSalle High School's basketball team swept its series with Fort Ashby High School by winning the second game by the score of 42 to 19 on the Fort Ashby court last night.

Jack "Moon" Stotler and "Bobby" Vanderhout led the LaSalle offensive with 13 and 11 markers.

LaSalle played brilliant defensive ball in limiting the Eagles to only six field goals on their home floor. Four of the six Fort Ashby players who participated in the game failed to score a field goal, including Donald Linn, high point man of the West Virginia quint.

Oberhaus Stars As Amvets Win

Paul Gets 28 Points As Caseys Bow, 52-39

Coach Norman Gerdeman's Cumberland Amvets scored their first victory of the second half championship race of the Interstate Basketball League last night when they took the Cumberland Knights of Columbus into camp on SS. Peter and Paul court by the score of 52 to 39.

The defeat was the second for the Caseys in as many nights.

Paul Oberhaus went on a scoring spree for the winners and collected 28 points. He sank 13 shots from the field and added two points at the foul line. Dick Boyle played a nice defensive game for the Amvets.

"Ace" Baker was high scorer for the Knights with an even dozen points.

A doubleheader will be played tonight on SS. Peter and Paul court. Lonaconing will play Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, and the Mt. Savage VFW will meet Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion. Lineups:

It was Fort Hill's fourth straight league triumph and kept the Hilltoppers deadlocked with Allegany for first place after Coach Walter Bowers' quint rolled over Bruce High's quint in Westernport to the tune of 39 to 15.

Bruce was held to five baskets. Moran's basket was the only points credited to the Westernport team in the first half.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Quarterback Sid Luckman, key player of the National Football League Champion Chicago Bears, has signed a new two-year contract extending through the 1948 season, Owner-Coach George Halas of the Bears announced tonight.

Keyser Extends Streak; Beats Ridgeley, 31-23

Clark's Unbeaten Club Wins 12th Straight

By JOHN K. BORCHERT

The Keyser High Golden Tornado continued to sweep aside all opposition as they handed the Ridgeley Blackhawks their second defeat in two nights by a 31-23 count before 750 spectators last night in Keyser high gymnasium.

The game wasn't close until the final period when the Blackhawks got "hot" and scored 13 points to almost pull the game out of the fire.

Keyser rang up eight straight points before Jim Flanagan broke the ice for Ridgeley with a charity toss. Tom Quinn and Marvin Lee sandwiched foul throws around Alfred Abe's one-handed fielder to give the Clarkmen a 10-3 quarter-time lead.

Don Cline's foul conversion and Don Horner's one-handed goal moved the Tornado lead to ten points (13-3) before Abe hit the hoop on another one-handed shot for Ridgeley. Cline and Fred Blamer's free throws and Lee's lay-up basket moved the Keyser count to 17-5 before Abe converted twice from the foul line to make the half-time score 17-7, Keyser.

Keyser Gains 21-7 Lead

Lee's set shot and Cline's dash down the court for a lay-up goal sent the Black and Gold's lead to 21-7 before Ridgeley scored in the third period. Flanagan's gift toss and Abe's basket left Keyser with a 21-10 advantage as the final period began.

Clyde "Fats" Wilson and Lee traded free throws as the final period began. Bill Brehany scored a basket and charity toss but Horner tallied two points on a lay-up shot to make the score 24-14, Keyser. Big Joe Moss, scoreless for three periods, came to life with a free throw and a basket to close the margin to seven points (24-17) but Blamer converted twice from the free throw line to boost the Tornado's margin to nine points at 26-17.

Abe's set shot from the corner before the automatic time out and Brehany's basket from near midcourt after the four minute rest period pulled Ridgeley within five points of Keyser at 26-21. Quinn sank a gift toss and Blamer scored on a fast break to put Keyser out of danger at 29-21. Wilson's basket and Blamer's fielder closed the scoring as Keyser won its twelfth consecutive game. It was the second loss in seven games for Ridgeley.

Alfred Abe paced Ridgeley both on the court and in the scoring column with ten points while Fred Blamer had nine points and Marvin Lee eight to lead Keyser.

Ridgeley Reserves Lose

In the preliminary the Keyser Reserves trimmed the Ridgeley Reserves 30-14. Jaworak paced the Keyser Reserves with seven points while Leo Day had four for Ridgeley. Keyser led 6-4, 10-4, and 15-4 at the quarters.

Lefty Grove Elected To Hall Of Fame

Baseball Writers Also Name Frisch, Cochrane, Hubbell

Names Of 39 Players Appear On Ballots

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—(AP)—Four players — Pitchers Carl Hubbell and Lefty Grove, Second Baseman Frankie Frisch and Catcher Mickey Cochrane — have been elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers' Association of America, it was announced tonight.

The pool was completed Jan. 15 and included votes of 161 members of the Baseball Writers' Association.

It was the first time since Rogers Hornsby was elected in 1942 that any player received 75 per cent of the votes required before a player is named to the game's national shrine.

Balloting was restricted to writers who have been members of the association for ten years or more and the voting was confined to players who were active in 1921 and had completed their careers before 1946.

Only Hubbell, Frisch, Cochrane and Grove were nominated on the requisite 121 ballots of the 161 cast.

Altogether names of 39 players appeared on the ballots in the current election.

HONORED — Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, of Lonaconing, retired major league pitcher, who was among four big leaguers named to Baseball's Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers' Association of America, pitched for 17 years in the American League with the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox before retiring in 1941. He made his debut in the majors in 1925 after having been sold to the A's by the Baltimore Orioles for $105,000. The A's traded him to Boston along with Max Bishop and Rube Walberg for two players and $125,000 in 1933. He pitched in 616 games, won 300, lost 141 for a .680 average and an earned run mark of 3.09. Lefty will mark his 47th birthday on March 6.

LEFTY GETS THRILL

"It's news to me, but I'm tickled to death," Lefty Grove told a News reporter when advised at his Lonaconing home last evening that he had been elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame.

Lefty was contacted about 10 p. m., and said it was the first thing he knew about being elected to the honored position.

"It's quite a thrill to feel that my name will be included in the Hall of Fame with other great baseball players," Lefty concluded.

Teddy Yarosz Cops 39th Bout In Row

Zivic Whips Armitage, Fontaine Stops Rico

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21 (AP) — Tommy Yarosz, 167, of Monaca, Pa., brother of former middleweight Champion Teddy Yarosz, ran his current victory string to 39 staight here tonight with a technical knockout of Young Jimmy Nelson, 169, Buffalo, U. Y., in the sixth round of one of three 10-round feature bouts.

Proteges of another former champion, ex-welterweight boss Fritzie Zivic, won handily in the other features. Charley (Young) Zivic, 151, Pittsburgh, avenged a previous setback by outpointing Jackie Armitage, 147, of New Kensington, Pa., in 10 rounds. Juste Fontaine, 139, Pittsburgh, required only three of the scheduled 10 rounds to carpet Chester Rico, 140, of New York, for the full count.

Durocher Weds Laraine Day

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21 (AP)—Screen Actress Laraine Day and Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, returned here by plane late today after she had obtained a Juarez, Mex., divorce and later was married in El Paso, Tex., to the fiery baseball man.

In El Paso, Justice of the peace Charles Windberg, Jr., announced that he had performed the marriage ceremony early this afternoon. Miss Day's Los Angeles attorney had said earlier that Durocher had telephoned him they were married.

Justice Windberg said he had not confirmed the marriage sooner because he had been asked to keep it a secret. Henry Garcia, El Paso county marriage license clerk, had said he had issued the license and turned it over to W. C. Roche, El Paso attorney who earlier had obtained Miss Day's Mexican divorce. Garcia said Durocher had given his age as 39 and Miss Day as 26.

Barton High School battled Fort Hill on even terms for two quarters last night then went down to defeat before Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's Sentinels in a W.M.I. League contest in Barton. The score was 46 to 36.

Barton battled the Cumberlanders to a 12-12 score at the quarter and led at the intermission, 25-24. In the third period, however, after the score had been knotted at 28-28, goals by Freeland, Dean and Lattimer sent the Sentinels ahead and they remained in front to the final whistle. Fort Hill led at the close of the third period, 36-31.

Allegany Tops Bruce

It was Fort Hill's fourth straight league triumph and kept the Hilltoppers deadlocked with Allegany for first place after Coach Walter Bowers' quint rolled over Bruce High's quint in Westernport to the tune of 39 to 15.

AHS used an even dozen players and all broke into the scoring column but two as the Campobello outfit blanked the Grindlemen at the quarter, 8-0, led 13-2 at the halfway and held the long end of a 27-6 score at the close of the third period. Bruce was held to five baskets, Moran's basket was the only points credited to the Westernport team in the first half.

Beall Beats Coney

Beall High School went on a rampage at Lonaconing, scoring 32 field goals, to swamp Central by the lopsided score of 75 to 25. Quarter scores were 12-5, 29-11 and 54-16.

High scoring honors went to Truly, who racked up 17 points. Nelson and Farrady scored 13 and 11 markers. The defeat was Central's fourth straight in the league. The lineups:

CHICAGO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Claude "Buddy" Young, Negro halfback at the University of Illinois, tonight announced his decision to quit school on the plea that he needed to make a living for his wife and 18-month old child.

Young, who scored two touchdowns in Illinois 45 to 14 triumph over UCLA in the Pasadena Rose Bowl contest New Years Day, had two more years of competition at Illinois.

Young, who has been absent from the Illinois campus and failed to participate in his semester examinations, said he would play in the College All-Star professional game at Los Angeles next Sunday.

Young emphasized he had received no offers to play professional football, but was receptive.

Bears Sign Luckman To Two-Year Contract

CHICAGO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Quarterback Sid Luckman, key player of the National Football League Champion Chicago Bears, has signed a new two-year contract extending through the 1948 season, Owner-Coach George Halas of the Bears announced tonight.

Halas did not disclose terms, but the former Columbia University star, a veteran of eight pro-seasons, reportedly received $17,500 a season previously. His new pay-check may be around $20,000.

The Bears last Saturday announced the signing of Bob Fenimore, Oklahoma A. & M. halfback, to a three-year contract.

Keyser Extends Streak; Beats Ridgeley, 31-23

Clark's Unbeaten Club Wins 12th Straight

By JOHN K. BORCHERT

The Keyser High Golden Tornado continued to sweep aside all opposition as they handed the Ridgeley Blackhawks their second defeat in two nights by a 31-23 count before 750 spectators last night in Keyser high gymnasium.

The game wasn't close until the final period when the Blackhawks got "hot" and scored 13 points to almost pull the game out of the fire.

Keyser rang up eight straight points before Jim Flanagan broke the ice for Ridgeley with a charity toss. Tom Quinn and Marvin Lee sandwiched foul throws around Alfred Abe's one-handed fielder to give the Clarkmen a 10-3 quarter-time lead.

Don Cline's foul conversion and Don Horner's one-handed goal moved the Tornado lead to ten points (13-3) before Abe hit the hoop on another one-handed shot for Ridgeley. Cline and Fred Blamer's free throws and Lee's lay-up basket moved the Keyser count to 17-5 before Abe converted twice from the foul line to make the half-time score 17-7, Keyser.

Keyser Gains 21-7 Lead

Lee's set shot and Cline's dash down the court for a lay-up goal sent the Black and Gold's lead to 21-7 before Ridgeley scored in the third period. Flanagan's gift toss and Abe's basket left Keyser with a 21-10 advantage as the final period began.

Clyde "Fats" Wilson and Lee traded free throws as the final period began. Bill Brehany scored a basket and charity toss but Horner tallied two points on a lay-up shot to make the score 24-14, Keyser. Big Joe Moss, scoreless for three periods, came to life with a free throw and a basket to close the margin to seven points (24-17) but Blamer converted twice from the free throw line to boost the Tornado's margin to nine points at 26-17.

Abe's set shot from the corner before the automatic time out and Brehany's basket from near midcourt after the four minute rest period pulled Ridgeley within five points of Keyser at 26-21. Quinn sank a gift toss and Blamer scored on a fast break to put Keyser out of danger at 29-21. Wilson's basket and Blamer's fielder closed the scoring as Keyser won its twelfth consecutive game. It was the second loss in seven games for Ridgeley.

Alfred Abe paced Ridgeley both on the court and in the scoring column with ten points while Fred Blamer had nine points and Marvin Lee eight to lead Keyser.

Ridgeley Reserves Lose

In the preliminary the Keyser Reserves trimmed the Ridgeley Reserves 30-14. Jaworak paced the Keyser Reserves with seven points while Leo Day had four for Ridgeley. Keyser led 6-4, 10-4, and 15-4 at the quarters.

Bob Feller Signs One-Year Contract With Cleveland

Salary With Bonus May Reach $90,000

By FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND, Jan. 21 (AP)—Blazing Bob Feller signed a one-year contract with the Cleveland Indians today, stipulating the fireball strikeout king would receive $??,000 for his 1947 mound chores.

Six bonus clauses tacked on the end of the document, all based on attendance figures, accounted for the interrogation marks in Feller's possible earnings, but President Bill Veeck, wearing a wide grin and his inevitable open-neck sports shirt, said Bob could easily soar over $80,000 this season.

Both declined to chat about the base pay called for in the document, but the assorted scribes and photographers who filled the ball club's offices for the signing ceremony agreed among themselves that it was "about $50,000."

If the $50,000 base is correct, indications were that the former Iowa farm boy who last season set an all-time strikeout record of 348 could go as high as $90,000 this season.

The best guesses were that the bonus clauses called for $7,500 when adult home paid attendance reaches 700,000, and $7,500 for each additional 100,000 attendance until 1,000,000 is reached. After that the bonus per 100,000 attendance drops to $5,000, with only two bonuses in that category allowed.

Thus, should the Indians attract 1,200,000 adult paid admissions at home (last season they drew 1,057,289) Feller could hit the all-time top of $90,000, with $40,000 coming via the bonus route.

Feller said he thought too much emphasis was being placed on the signing of his contract and wanted to talk about the Cleveland chances in the coming flag chase. He thought the addition of Joe Gordon at second base would be a big help.

The mound star said he would shoot to beat "any record I can" this season, but would not concentrate on strikeouts as he did in 1946.

"I would like to win 30 games," Feller said. "I never have won 30, but maybe this year. I think we have a better ball club."

SEEKS 30 WINS—Bob Feller, fireball artist of the Cleveland Indians, signed a one-year contract yesterday and may receive as high as $90,000 this year, including bonuses. Feller said he would like to win 30 games. "I have never won 30, but maybe this year. I think we have a better ball club."

Bahr Is Dissatisfied With Pirate Contract

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21—(AP)—Edson Bahr, rookie hurler who led the Pittsburgh Pirates pitchers in earned run averages last season, has written General Manager Roy Hamey from his home in Seattle that he is not satisfied with his contract.

Bahr, who won eight and lost six games, kept his contract rather than return it unsigned. The young hurler pointed out his 1946 record and asked Hamey to reconsider the matter in light of his prospective value to the team this season.

He said that Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo), recently elected president of the Western Baseball League, will join him in sponsoring the resolution.

Holdout Of Four Players Puzzles Phils' Official

Rowe, Northey, Hughes Ennis Refuse To Sign

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies, whose only trouble used to be in trying to get out of the National League cellar, were confronted today with a new woe — the holdout of four star performers.

Del Ennis
PHILS

"I never knew I had so many great ball players who were indispensable to my club," General Manager Herb Pennock declared.

At the same time he stated that unless pitchers Schoolboy Rowe and Tommy Hughes and Outfielders Del Ennis and Ron Northey sign, they won't be permitted to go to spring training.

"All these individuals," Pennock said, "seem to think they were the only ones to bring the Phils to fifth place. In my day it took nine men to win a ball game."

The onetime New York Yankees' pitching great was not too upset about the holdouts, however. He said the major drawback in the signing of Rowe and Hughes lay in a bonus clause which the Phils had placed in their contracts.

The clause stipulated that the amount of salary would be contingent on the number of games won. Both Rowe (11-4) and Hughes (6-9) flatly refused to accept the bonus clause and Pennock said he had reconsidered and would mail the two new pacts naming flat salaries.

The general manager seemed disheartened that Ennis, 21-year old rookie of the year last season, had refused the Phils' terms. He reiterated that the Phils were "trying to do their best for Del." Pennock would not say how much he had offered Ennis that it was reported from other sources that Del had rejected a $12,000 contract.

Regarding Northey, however, Pennock was more adamant. Herb said he sent the burly outfielder—a distinct disappointment last season—a contract calling for the same salary he received in 1946.

"And I did that against my best judgment and the counsel of others because I thought that if I overlooked his poor year last season and sent him the same figure he would buckle down and give us the best he had."

"Now can you imagine a fellow like that?" he declared. "He turned it down."

Blacksmiths Fish As Exercise Boys And Grooms Strike

Make Protest Against "Green" Stable Hands

By JAMES F. FOWLER

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 21 (AP)—Blacksmiths "went fishing" at Hialeah Park today while a crowd of 16,077 braved a threat of rain to see Mrs. E. D. Jacobs' Stan Tracy win the mile and a sixteenth graded $4,000 Featherbeds Purse, first turf course feature of the young meeting.

H. L. Donovan's lightly backed Blue Sash failed by a length to catch the $12.70 for two shot while beating Sam Garfield's F. B. Eye by a half length for the place. The winner was teletimed in 1:48 1-5.

Track Safety Director John Madala said a survey of the stable area showed that none of the approximately 40 blacksmiths had showed up for work, reportedly in protest against "green" stable hands' inability to hold horses while they were being shod.

Madala said he learned the platers intended to continue their "fishing trip" until Thursday noon, when a general meeting of blacksmiths had been called.

Some horsemen indicated that even an extended, total walkout by shoers would not mean the sport would have to be suspended, even if it had to carry on under duress and with smaller fields.

Hialea's President John C. Clark said the blacksmiths had made no representations of any kind to him. Clark continued to express optimism over the general situation caused by the strike of grooms and exercise boys.

Although the four-day strike continued, Madala said "over 500" men were at work today.

CAPON VALLEY GROUP FORMS ROD-GUN CLUB

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Jan. 21—The new Capon Valley Rod and Gun Club has been organized at Wardensville with thirty members.

Officers named were F. P. Baker, president; Chester Merriman, secretary, and A. W. Jenkins, treasurer.

The group will send one delegate to the Martinsburg district meeting of sportsmen to make recommendations to the Conservation Commission for the 1947 season.

The same seasons on game as last year with the exception of a shorter season on wild turkeys and a closed season on quail and grouse are favored by the new organization.

New Castle Quits Mid-Atlantic; Daily Seeks Eighth City

EBENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 21.—Wanted—a town willing to support Class C baseball and within striking distance of Erie, Oil City, Butler, Vandergrift and Johnstown in Pennsylvania; Youngstown, Ohio, and Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Elmer Daily, president of the Middle Atlantic League, reported a vacancy today when New Castle, Pa. was forced to drop out because of inability to get a playing field in shap and equip it with lights by May 1. The circuit operated as a six-club affair last season and last October admitted Vandergrift.

Daily said a seven-club league would be "impractical" because of too many open dates on the schedule.

CATAMOUNTS PREPARE FOR WEST LIBERTY

KEYSER, W. Va., Jan. 21—Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Potomac State Catamounts, victorious in two of their last three starts, began drills today in preparation for their West Virginia State Conference clash with the West Liberty Hilltoppers this Friday at 8:30 p. m. in the Catamount gymnasium.

The Cats will be seeking revenge on West Liberty for their lone conference football setback at the hands of the Hilltoppers. West Liberty has dropped its two loop games to date while the Loughmen have two victories in seven league starts. One of the Cats' wins was a 46-45 edging of Salem College; this being the Tigers only conference loss.

Potomac State beat Davis-Elkins 66-64, Bluefield 49-40, and lost to Concord 60-44 in a three-day trip last week into the southern West Virginia section.

Bob Feller Signs One-Year Contract With Cleveland

Salary With Bonus May Reach $90,000

By FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND, Jan. 21 (AP)—Blazing Bob Feller signed a one-year contract with the Cleveland Indians today, stipulating the fireball strikeout king would receive $??,000 for his 1947 mound chores.

Six bonus clauses tacked on the end of the document, all based on attendance figures, accounted for the interrogation marks in Feller's possible earnings, but President Bill Veeck, wearing a wide grin and his inevitable open-neck sports shirt, said Bob could easily soar over $80,000 this season.

Both declined to chat about the base pay called for in the document, but the assorted scribes and photographers who filled the ball club's offices for the signing ceremony agreed among themselves that it was "about $50,000."

If the $50,000 base is correct, indications were that the former Iowa farm boy who last season set an all-time strikeout record of 348 could go as high as $90,000 this season.

The best guesses were that the bonus clauses called for $7,500 when adult home paid attendance reaches 700,000, and $7,500 for each additional 100,000 attendance until 1,000,000 is reached. After that the bonus per 100,000 attendance drops to $5,000, with only two bonuses in that category allowed.

Thus, should the Indians attract 1,200,000 adult paid admissions at home (last season they drew 1,057,289) Feller could hit the all-time top of $90,000, with $40,000 coming via the bonus route.

Feller said he thought too much emphasis was being placed on the signing of his contract and wanted to talk about the Cleveland chances in the coming flag chase. He thought the addition of Joe Gordon at second base would be a big help.

The mound star said he would shoot to beat "any record I can" this season, but would not concentrate on strikeouts as he did in 1946.

"I would like to win 30 games," Feller said. "I never have won 30, but maybe this year. I think we have a better ball club."

SEEKS 30 WINS—Bob Feller, fireball artist of the Cleveland Indians, signed a one-year contract yesterday and may receive as high as $90,000 this year, including bonuses. Feller said he would like to win 30 games. "I have never won 30, but maybe this year. I think we have a better ball club."

Bahr Is Dissatisfied With Pirate Contract

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21—(AP)—Edson Bahr, rookie hurler who led the Pittsburgh Pirates pitchers in earned run averages last season, has written General Manager Roy Hamey from his home in Seattle that he is not satisfied with his contract.

Bahr, who won eight and lost six games, kept his contract rather than return it unsigned. The young hurler pointed out his 1946 record and asked Hamey to reconsider the matter in light of his prospective value to the team this season.

Legislation Is Sought To Probe Pro Sports

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) announced tonight he will introduce in the senate tomorrow a resolution calling for a sweeping investigation of professional sports "with particular reference to attempts at bribery and other corruption."

He said that Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo), recently elected president of the Western Baseball League, will join him in sponsoring the resolution.

Gowdy Joins Giants

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—(AP)—Hank Gowdy, coach of the Cincinnati Reds all the while Bill McKechnie was manager, was signed as an aide to Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants today.

Gowdy, a member of the Boston Brave miracle team of 1914, was the first big league player to enlist in World War I and served through the second as a major.

Holdout Of Four Players Puzzles Phils' Official

Rowe, Northey, Hughes Ennis Refuse To Sign

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies, whose only trouble used to be in trying to get out of the National League cellar, were confronted today with a new woe — the holdout of four star performers.

Del Ennis
PHILS

"I never knew I had so many great ball players who were indispensable to my club," General Manager Herb Pennock declared.

At the same time he stated that unless pitchers Schoolboy Rowe and Tommy Hughes and Outfielders Del Ennis and Ron Northey sign, they won't be permitted to go to spring training.

"All these individuals," Pennock said, "seem to think they were the only ones to bring the Phils to fifth place. In my day it took nine men to win a ball game."

The onetime New York Yankees' pitching great was not too upset about the holdouts, however. He said the major drawback in the signing of Rowe and Hughes lay in a bonus clause which the Phils had placed in their contracts.

The clause stipulated that the amount of salary would be contingent on the number of games won. Both Rowe (11-4) and Hughes (6-9) flatly refused to accept the bonus clause and Pennock said he had reconsidered and would mail the two new pacts naming flat salaries.

The general manager seemed disheartened that Ennis, 21-year old rookie of the year last season, had refused the Phils' terms. He reiterated that the Phils were "trying to do their best for Del." Pennock would not say how much he had offered Ennis that it was reported from other sources that Del had rejected a $12,000 contract.

Regarding Northey, however, Pennock was more adamant. Herb said he sent the burly outfielder—a distinct disappointment last season—a contract calling for the same salary he received in 1946.

"And I did that against my best judgment and the counsel of others because I thought that if I overlooked his poor year last season and sent him the same figure he would buckle down and give us the best he had."

"Now can you imagine a fellow like that?" he declared. "He turned it down."

Blacksmiths Fish As Exercise Boys And Grooms Strike

Make Protest Against "Green" Stable Hands

By JAMES F. FOWLER

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 21 (AP)—Blacksmiths "went fishing" at Hialeah Park today while a crowd of 16,077 braved a threat of rain to see Mrs. E. D. Jacobs' Stan Tracy win the mile and a sixteenth graded $4,000 Featherbeds Purse, first turf course feature of the young meeting.

H. L. Donovan's lightly backed Blue Sash failed by a length to catch the $12.70 for two shot while beating Sam Garfield's F. B. Eye by a half length for the place. The winner was teletimed in 1:48 1-5.

Track Safety Director John Madala said a survey of the stable area showed that none of the approximately 40 blacksmiths had showed up for work, reportedly in protest against "green" stable hands' inability to hold horses while they were being shod.

Madala said he learned the platers intended to continue their "fishing trip" until Thursday noon, when a general meeting of blacksmiths had been called.

Some horsemen indicated that even an extended, total walkout by shoers would not mean the sport would have to be suspended, even if it had to carry on under duress and with smaller fields.

Hialea's President John C. Clark said the blacksmiths had made no representations of any kind to him. Clark continued to express optimism over the general situation caused by the strike of grooms and exercise boys.

The strike of some 800 grooms and exercise boys was called by President Clayton Trippy in protest over the cancellation of payment of special $10 awards by the track.

Although the four-day strike continued, Madala said "over 500" men were at work today.

CAPON VALLEY GROUP FORMS ROD-GUN CLUB

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Jan. 21—The new Capon Valley Rod and Gun Club has been organized at Wardensville with thirty members.

Officers named were F. P. Baker, president; Chester Merriman, secretary, and A. W. Jenkins, treasurer.

The group will send one delegate to the Martinsburg district meeting of sportsmen to make recommendations to the Conservation Commission for the 1947 season.

The same seasons on game as last year with the exception of a shorter season on wild turkeys and a closed season on quail and grouse are favored by the new organization.

New Castle Quits Mid-Atlantic; Daily Seeks Eighth City

EBENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 21.—Wanted—a town willing to support Class C baseball and within striking distance of Erie, Oil City, Butler, Vandergrift and Johnstown in Pennsylvania; Youngstown, Ohio, and Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Elmer Daily, president of the Middle Atlantic League, reported a vacancy today when New Castle, Pa. was forced to drop out because of inability to get a playing field in shap and equip it with lights by May 1. The circuit operated as a six-club affair last season and last October admitted Vandergrift.

Daily said a seven-club league would be "impractical" because of too many open dates on the schedule.

KEYSER, W. Va., Jan. 21—Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Potomac State Catamounts, victorious in two of their last three starts, began drills today in preparation for their West Virginia State Conference clash with the West Liberty Hilltoppers this Friday at 8:30 p. m. in the Catamount gymnasium.

The Cats will be seeking revenge on West Liberty for their lone conference football setback at the hands of the Hilltoppers. West Liberty has dropped its two loop games to date while the Loughmen have two victories in seven league starts. One of the Cats' wins was a 46-45 edging of Salem College; this being the Tigers only conference loss.

Potomac State beat Davis-Elkins 66-64, Bluefield 49-40, and lost to Concord 60-44 in a three-day trip last week into the southern West Virginia section.

Bob Snyder Succeeds Adam Walsh As Coach

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21. (AP)—Bob Snyder, for the last two seasons backfield coach of the Los Angeles Rams, was named today by Owner Dan Reeves as the new head coach of the National Football League club.

Snyder, 33, was signed to a one-year contract at an undisclosed salary to succeed Coach Adam Walsh, who resigned unexpectedly at the end of the 1946 season.

Snyder starred at Ohio University, Athens, O., has been in pro football since 1936 and is recognized as one of the greatest T-formation coaches in the business. He was credited with developing Bob Waterfield of the Rams, one of the best of the T-formation quarterbacks.

George Trafton continues as line coach of the Rams.

Gridders To Fly

STATE COLLEGE Pa., Jan. 21 (AP)—Penn State officials were informed today that the Washington State football party will fly to Hershey, Pa., for the Sept. 27 game against the Nittany Lions. The Pacific Coast gridders plan to travel by air three times in 1947.

Monte Cristo Rides Again

That old romanticist, Alexandre Dumas, used to complain that his son Alexandre Dumas, fils, did entirely too much preaching in his plays. The elder Dumas—a stout Republican, by the way—thought it was best just to tell the story and let the implications fall where they may. He'd be greatly surprised to see the uses to which his own work was being put these days.

John Crosby

"The Baroness is an object lesson to us all which should teach us that hate groups and agitators are acting only in their own selfish interests," the Count of Monte Cristo said the other day on a radio program by that name. (Mutual 8:30 p. m. EST Thursday.) "Some day all hate will be forgotten and all nations will live as brothers united."

This is an admirable but distinctly contemporary idea. It's a little surprising coming from our old friend the Count, though, of course, he was always a little ahead of his time since he has been through endless movies and plays since Dumas pere originally created him. As I recall the Count of Monte Cristo in its original, Edmund was more deeply concerned with, winning his freedom from the Chateau D'If, then getting his hands on a vast fortune in jewels, and finally personal vengeance than on any such ideological matters as the brotherhood of man.

In the radio episode I heard, the Count was up to his ears in, of all things, a wave of anti-American feeling provoked by the wicked Baroness. The Baroness is not the Baroness Danglers of the book but another girl entirely. She has golden hair and green eyes and is very, very bad and very, very sexy in about equal quantities. She is known as the Baroness Boucher but you might as well call her the Dragon Lady. The two have much in common.

In one half-hour episode the Count fought four duels and won all of them, hands down. The last one was fought in the French Chamber of Deputies, putting a halt to legislative business for the rest of that day. By the time he got around to that bit of swordplay, the Count had not only three duels in the space of a few hours behind him but also two bullets in him. These slight handicaps deterred the Count not a whit. He pitched in and dispatched the wicked Duke in a matter of fifteen seconds by my watch.

As a fan of the original Count, I was pleased to discover that Monte Cristo still has a weakness for landing in dungeons. In this piece, he was dungeoned once—the Baroness got him—but got out in a matter of hours. This is a great improvement over his old time. As I recall, it took him twenty years to get out of the Chateau D'If but then he's had lots of experience since.

There was also a good deal of talk about the papers in the strongbox and a man named Morell, who has the finest detective brain in all France. At first blush, these sound as if they had been cribbed from some of the more modern fiction; still, when you think about it, Dumas wasn't above such tricks either, so let's not complain.

Television has just dipped its feet into commercialism but already small, vexing problems are beginning to loom. One of these small problems concerns the billboards at professional baseball and football stadiums. Gillette, the razor-blade concern, is one of the earliest and staunchest supporters of television broadcasts of sporting events. Gem Razor Blades are fervent advocates of billboard advertising, particularly in ball parks.

Presently there is a long fly to left field or possibly a brilliant run around left end, close to the sidelines. If there is anything that irritates a Gillette man, it's a large sign extolling a Gem Razor blade right in the middle of a television broadcast which Gillette has paid for.

As a fan of the original Count, I was pleased to discover that Monte Cristo still has a weakness for landing in dungeons. In this piece, he was dungeoned once—the Baroness got him—but got out in a matter of hours. This is a great improvement over his old time. As I recall, it took him twenty years to get out of the Chateau D'If but then he's had lots of experience since.

There was also a good deal of talk about the papers in the strongbox and a man named Morell, who has the finest detective brain in all France. At first blush, these sound as if they had been cribbed from some of the more modern fiction; still, when you think about it, Dumas wasn't above such tricks either, so let's not complain.

Television has just dipped its feet into commercialism but already small, vexing problems are beginning to loom. One of these small problems concerns the billboards at professional baseball and football stadiums. Gillette, the razor-blade concern, is one of the earliest and staunchest supporters of television broadcasts of sporting events. Gem Razor Blades are fervent advocates of billboard advertising, particularly in ball parks.

Presently there is a long fly to left field or possibly a brilliant run around left end, close to the sidelines. If there is anything that irritates a Gillette man, it's a large sign extolling a Gem Razor blade right in the middle of a television broadcast which Gillette has paid for.

Local Engineer Dies Of Injuries Suffered In B & O Train Wreck

Fireman Escapes With Leg Injuries

Injuries suffered when a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad express train wrecked two miles west of Oakland at 10 o'clock yesterday morning caused the death at 12:05 a. m. today of Charles H. Smith, 65, Oldtown road, the engineer.

Smith, who died in Memorial Hospital, suffered from burns of the abdomen and legs and severe shock.

He was almost buried in the locomotive cab under coal that poured in from the tender when the engine overturned. The burns came from scalding water that dripped on him from the boiler.

Smith's fireman, Luther B. Wotring, 31, 22 Virginia avenue, escaped with right leg injuries and was reported to be in good condition early this morning.

In the meantime, B. and O. wrecking crews worked in high winds and zero temperatures to clear the westbound tracks of the wreckage of No. 29, Jersey City to St. Louis express.

Is Dug From Cab

Rescuers dug Smith from his cab after the locomotive and seven cars of the 16-car train careened off the main line on the second curve beyond 88 Bridge and piled over on their sides in a deep cut.

Tumbling coal almost buried the engineer after scalding water from the boiler dripped over him as the big Mountain-type locomotive toppled off the rails.

A member of the emergency crew helping to clear the tracks was added to the injured list last night when he stepped from a work car, plunged through a trestle 40 feet to the icy, rain-swollen Youghiogheny River.

The workman, Brown Kain, 45-year-old Keyser, W. Va., negro, said afterwards that he was carried 100 yards down stream before he was able to swim to shore.

Kain walked back to the train in the near zero weather, and a company doctor who examined him said he had suffered a dislocated shoulder. He was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, for further treatment.

Both eastbound and westbound tracks were blocked by the wreck, forcing the Cincinnatian, B. and O.'s new streamliner, to detour through Cumberland yesterday morning.

Traffic on the eastbound track was restored, however, in about four hours, and trains were running on the eastbound track yesterday afternoon. The Cincinnatian went through about an hour late, according to reporters who were at the scene, and No. 11 likewise went through.

The westbound track was torn up for about 200 yards and it was considered unlikely that it will be cleared completely before Thursday.

Seven Cars Derailed

Wotring, the fireman, jumped from the locomotive as it left the rails and started plowing down the roadbed.

The next seven cars of the train which carried no passengers, also left the rails and overturned, but the other nine remained upright.

Smith, almost buried in coal, gave directions to trainmen as they worked desperately to remove the coal. Water from the boiler was dripping on him. He was fully conscious when he finally was removed from the cab.

Both men were given preliminary treatment by Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, B. and O. physician at Oakland, before they were brought to Memorial Hospital.

No. 29 is made up at Jersey City, arrives in Cumberland at 7:42 a. m., and leaves here at 8:09.

It was reported that of the seven cars derailed, the five directly behind the engine and tender were not so badly damaged as the sixth and seventh cars which gave the appearance of having been whipped about when the engine plunged off the track.

H. F. Wyatt, superintendent of the Cumberland Division, along with other B. and O. officials went to the accident scene immediately yesterday morning and were still there last night. They had assigned no cause for the crash.

Smith, an employe of the B. and O. for about 45 years, was a native of Piedmont, W. Va., but lived in Cumberland for the past five years. He was a widower and is survived by four children, Everett and Glenn Smith, Piedmont, and Mrs. Alma Coffman, Woodstock, Va., and Mrs. Louise Taylor, Portsmouth, Va.

Wotring, who has been employed by the B. and O. for four years, is a veteran of World War II and served with the Quartermaster Corps in Italy. He was discharged from the Army in August 1946 and resumed his employment with the railroad. Married, Wotring has one daughter, Sandra Kay, 6.

See Proposes Bill Ending Property Qualifications

Terms City Election Law Unconstitutional

A bill that would eliminate property qualifications as a requisite for persons seeking election as mayor or councilman of Cumberland has been introduced in the House of Representatives by Delegate Charles M. See.

At the present time, the law requires a candidate for City Council to have $500 worth of assessable property for a period of two years next preceding the election. A candidate for mayor must have $1,000 worth of assessable property for a period of two years next preceding the election. Taxes on the property must be paid.

See said his bill eliminates this qualification, which he termed "unfair and unconstitutional." The present law, he added, is unfair to returned war veterans who may not have been able to acquire property.

Not Required Of Others

"A man's ability," See declared, "should be judged by the voters and not by property qualifications."

No other public official in Maryland, "from the Governor on down," is required to own assessable property, See asserted, adding that this qualification likewise is not required of the President of the United States or of members of Congress.

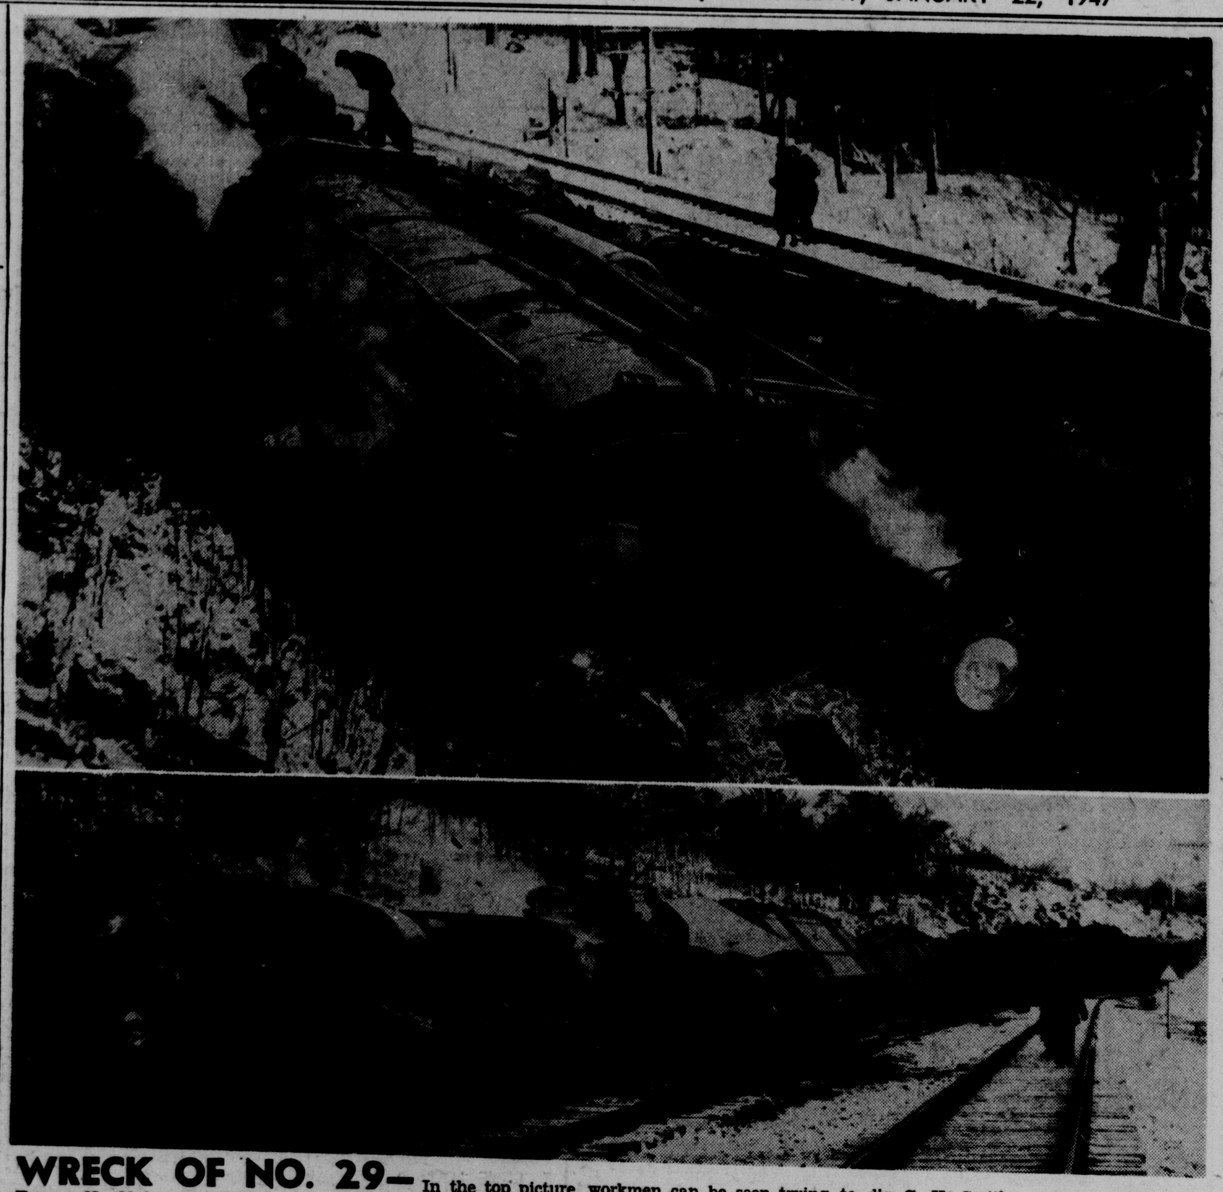
Under the present law requiring property qualification, possession of an automobile on which taxes are being paid would be sufficient, even though the candidate held no real estate, See said. He added that he believes one member of City Council several years ago was able to hold the office because his assessable property was an automobile.

Judges Would Fix Salary

Another bill applying to this county was introduced by the Washington County Delegation, according to See. He said this measure would enable the judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, comprising Allegany, Washington and Garrett Counties, power to fix the salary of the court stenographer, which is now fixed by the Legislature.

The measure, See said, was introduced at the request of Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judges George Henderson and Joseph Mish.

Delegations of the three affected counties will meet to discuss the bill, See said.



WRECK OF NO. 29— In the top picture, workmen can be seen trying to dig C. H. Smith, engineer of B & O Express No. 29 from the cab of his train which wrecked yesterday about one mile from Oakland. Smith, a resident of this city, died this morning at 12:05 in Memorial Hospital as the result of injuries suffered when he was scalded and partially buried by coal from the engine as it overturned. He was rescued about 20 minutes after this picture was taken. The lower picture shows the engine and seven cars where they left the tracks. L. B. Wotring, Virginia avenue, fireman on the huge mountain-type locomotive, jumped clear of the engine, sustaining only bruises of both legs and shock, physicians said. At a late hour last night, crews were still trying to clear the wreckage and get tracks open.

Two Local Hospitals Approved By Surgeons

Memorial and Allegany Hospitals again have qualified for approval following the 29th annual survey completed December 31 by the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Irvin Abell, Louisville, president and chairman of the board of regents, commented that in 1946 more was expected in the way of conformance with requirements than could be required during the war. For the first time since hospital standardization was started by the college in 1918, when only 89 hospitals were approved, there is a decline, he said, in the number of approved hospitals compared with the previous year. In 1945 the total was 3,181 approved in the United States as compared to 3,118 approved by December 31, 1946.

Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, associate director of the college, said hospitals are reconsidered for approval each year, and that the fact a hospital is once approved does not mean that it stays approved.

Board Opposes Plan To Abolish Orphans Court

County Commissioners Discuss Legislation

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners voted yesterday to oppose a measure intended to eliminate Orphans Courts in Maryland, if the proposed bill comes before the General Assembly.

Judges of the Orphans Court appeared before the board yesterday at the regular commissioners' meeting and appealed for their support in a move to oppose the bill. It was explained the recommendation to abolish the court is included in the Sherbow Report, recently released.

The board approved a request of William A. Wilson and Nelson W. Russler, representing the Volunteer Firemen's Association, for their support of a bill which will provide $575 for the new fire company formed at Ellerslie. The measure does not affect allowances to existing companies, it was explained.

Grant Tax Exemption

A 50 per cent tax exemption was granted by the board to the Knights of Columbus Council in Frostburg, on 1947 taxes. One-half of the Council's building on East Union Street is used for fraternal purposes, it was explained, and the exemption is authorized under state law.

Oliver B. Wittig, Frostburg, declared, in a letter to the board that the request of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company for a tax exemption on machinery, tools and equipment, "is unreasonable and should be denied."

In another letter, A. D. Twigg, 860 Sperry Terrace, said he favors the extension "for seven or 10 years," whatever the board decides.

Going To Annapolis

Members of the board indicated yesterday they will leave this morning for Annapolis, to attend a conference at 10 a. m. with State Senator Robert B. Kimble and county members of the House of Delegates, to discuss proposed legislation of interest to the county.

Commissioners Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., William H. Lemmert and James Holmes, Clerk to the Board James G. Stevenson and Attorney to the Board Lewis M. Wilson will make the trip. The county officials were invited to attend the conference by Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the county delegation.

Mrs. Stella Hamburg appeared with a petition signed by 18 citizens, asking for repairs to a side road near the Mt. Savage Road. The matter was referred to County Engineer Albert Paye for investigation.

Mrs. William Barncord requested that a drain be installed along the Cash Valley Road. The matter was also referred to the engineer.

Hearing Date Fixed

William A. Gunter, counsel for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, asked that a hearing be held February 14 by the board, on the proposed closing of a road and crossing over the tracks near Walters' Beach, near Corriganville. The volunteer firemen and other groups there have voiced opposition to the proposed closing of the road and crossing.

The board approved the transfer of the abandoned Eckhart School to the Lower Eckhart Street Lighting Association, to be used as a community center.

Engineer Paye reported that he found the Laurel Run Road and bridge in good condition. A complaint was recently received from Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Metz, who said the road needed repairs and the bridge railing was off.

Paul Poorbaugh, of Corriganville, requested repairs to the Poorbaugh Road, near the Mt. Savage Road. The engineer will investigate.

Manslaughter Case To Resume In Court Today

Leo J. Stemp Takes Stand In Own Defense

The case of Leo J. Stemp, 22, Piedmont, W. Va., being tried in Allegany County Circuit Court on a charge of manslaughter, will be argued before the jury today, it was indicated by attorneys late yesterday afternoon, as court recessed until 9:15 a. m. today.

Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, indicated to the court that he wished to call a couple of rebuttal witnesses for this morning's session. Defense Attorney Edward J. Ryan indicated he had presented all of his witnesses after the defendant testified. Court attaches anticipated that the case should go to the jury before noon, unless there are unexpected delays.

Stemp is charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of two other veterans, James T. Hughes, 22, and Robert L. Dancer, 27, both of Piedmont, in an auto crash about 12:30 a. m. December 5, on the McCoole-Westernport highway.

Another youth, Theodore Combs, is still confined to his home as a result of the accident, according to the state's attorney, and a fifth youth, also in the wreck, Russell Morehead, testified in the case yesterday.

Stemp took the stand in his own defense and after questioning by Ryan, said he was "knocked out" before the car crashed against a pole, and remembered little about the details of the accident.

Heated Legal Battle

There were repeated clashes between defense and prosecution counsel during the examination of both Morehead and Stemp by State's Attorney Harris.

Statements, signed by the two men following the crash were presented by Harris, and he read questions and answers from them. Some of the statements attributed to the two young men were denied by them on the witness stand.

Ryan interposed numerous objections and appealed to the Court several times, in protest to the state attorney's method of dealing with the witnesses.

Most of the objections were overruled, but Associate Judge Henderson instructed Harris to "ask questions in simple form and make no statements after the question."

Ryan protested that Harris was arguing with the witnesses and appealed to the bench several times "for the court's indulgence and protection." On one occasion, when he was interrupted several times by Harris, Ryan declared, "I find it difficult to control myself."

Stemp Tells of Crash

Stemp testified that the group of five young men, including himself, met "by accident" in the American Legion Home at Piedmont, W. Va., and at his invitation, they left there about 11:45 p. m. to go to Keyser, where they planned to get something to eat and then return to their homes.

All five of them, both Stemp and Morehead testified, got in the one seat of the coupe, with Stemp at the wheel. It was shown that some of the men had "two or three bottles of beer," but Stemp and Morehead each declared that they were sober.

On the way to Keyser, Stemp told the jury, he noticed "a rock or something which appeared to be a rock" in the road and said he swerved the car to the right to avoid hitting the object. As he did so, he testified, the car dropped off the pavement on to the shoulder. As he pulled the wheel to get back on the highway, he declared, he lost control of the machine, and it ran across the road to the left. He said due to the crowded condition and the swerving of the vehicle, he cracked or bumped his head on the side of the car and was dazed or "knocked out."

Stemp testified that he did not remember much after that and did not know until afterwards that the car had struck a culvert and a pole.

Refutes Signed Statements

He said some of the statements attributed to him in the signed statements of the prosecutor were not correct. Both Stemp and Morehead, on questioning, told the jury that some of the information in the statements was given to them by the prosecutor during the questioning.

They referred particularly to questions and answers about a "gin bottle under the seat of the car," and other questions to which both made affidavit, a few days after the crash.

Stemp told the jury his car was working all right mechanically, and said his speed just before the crash was around 45 miles per hour. Morehead estimated the speed at about the same figure, although he said he could not see the speedometer, as one of the other young men was sitting on his lap.

The prosecutor, in his opening statement, said the group of young men were in the American Legion Home at Piedmont on the night of December 4 and that Stemp admitted drinking two bottles of beer, but "the State will show it was more than two bottles."

Harris asserted that Stemp asked the other four to accompany him to Keyser, where they planned to get something to eat, and that all five were on the single seat of the small coupe. The prosecutor also cited that the mishap occurred on a straight, level stretch of the highway, and that the machine was examined, following the crash, by State Trooper Walter Wilt.

"The officer said he found the brakes and steering in good condition, and all four tires were still inflated—indicating that the accident was not caused by mechanical trouble of any kind," Harris declared.

Charges Excessive Speed

Harris also asserted that the machine was being operated at excessive speed and in a negligent manner. He said measurements taken by State Police showed the right wheels of the car dropped several inches off the concrete shoulder, the car ran along the highway for 27 feet, careened across to the left side, wrecked a concrete culvert and kept going until it sheared off a power pole.

Harris said the terrific impact "tore a huge chunk" out of the pole, knocking down the high tension lines and causing a stoppage of

Parr Named To Succeed Johnson

District Forester William H. Johnson, 831 Gephart Drive, is to be transferred to the Bel Air District and William A. Parr, district forester at Laurel is to be assigned here, effective about February 15, Joseph H. Kaylor, state forester announced yesterday.

Johnson, who succeeded H. C. Buckingham, now assistant state forester, as district forester here in November 1942, has been in the forestry service for a number of years. He came here from Garrett county where he was assigned in 1936 with the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Kaylor yesterday praised the work of Johnson here and said he has an excellent record in organization, the education program and reduction in fire losses in the district. Asked why Johnson is being transferred, Kaylor said, "we have a situation in the Bel Air section that we think he can handle and need him down there."

Johnson is a native of Hazelton, Pa., and a graduate of Penn State. He is married and has one son age six years. He said yesterday he plans to leave his family here until he can get located in Bel Air and laughingly added, "no my house here is not for rent."

Parr is no stranger to this county. He was assigned to the Forestry service in this district in 1945 and 1946 as farm forester. He has been in Maryland Forestry service over two years and after leaving here was made District Forester at Laurel. He is a graduate of Cornell University and a native of Ithaca, N. Y. Parr is married and said yesterday, "I have one daughter, four weeks old today." He plans to bring his wife and daughter here "when he can find a house."

Well Conducted Civic Orchestra Makes Debut Here

The first concert of the Cumberland Civic Orchestra, under the direction of S. Lua Sykes, was well received by a capacity house last night, at Allegany High School auditorium.

Sykes was a decisive conductor, obviously knew his score well and kept good control of the orchestra at all times. The audience was well pleased with the presentation of the program, which as designed to appeal to all types of audience going from symphonic work to light classical.

The orchestra is composed of 44 members drawn from the Tri-state area and is the other half of the program of music education in the community life, visioned last summer by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools of Allegany county. The Cumberland Choral Club and the orchestra have both given proof now that the program is well started.

During the intermission an appeal was made for additional members for the orchestra. All string instruments are wanted and 12 more violinists are needed immediately.

The program opened with the "Procession of the Mastersingers," Wagner; and included "Andente Sixth Symphony," Tschaikowsky; "Chop Sticks," Evans; "Clarinet Concerto," Mozart, solo by Charles Strother; selections from the "Red Mill," Victor Herbert; "Deep Purple" with piano solo by Miss Patricia Doerner, who followed with an encore solo, "Clair de Lune;" "Dream Pantomime", from Hansel and Gretel; the string orchestra played "Love's Dream", "After the Ball"; and the program concluded with "Rhythmelodic Sketch", Dasch.

Possibility Of Licensing Bingo Is Suggested At City Conference

Heskett Prepares Tentative Bill

Although members of the City Council said yesterday that licensing of bingo games was suggested at a recent conference as a means of increasing city revenue, they stated that no definite agreement was reached as to the license fee, and that the conference was merely a preliminary one.

Mayor Thomas S. Post, contacted last night in Washington, D. C., where he and Commissioner Myers G. Light are attending a meeting of the U. S. Conference of Mayors, stated that he does not favor licensing of any gambling, and that such licensing "is not a proper means of revenue." The mayor added that the recent conference was called chiefly to consider bills which the city might be prepared to sponsor in the state legislature.

Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, disclosed that he has drawn up a proposed bill setting $1,000 as an annual fee to be paid by operators of bingo games, but city officials said that that was only one of several proposed fees mentioned in connection with the suggestion.

$1,000 Fee "Tentative"

Heskett said the mayor did not ask him to draw up the bill, but that he had prepared it after the conference to "get it out of the way" and to have it ready in the event of further consideration by the council. He explained that the $1,000 figure is entirely tentative.

Commissioner William V. Keegan said the matter was brought up at a general conference to talk over possible sources of revenue for the city, and that he knows nothing of any definite agreement regarding licensing of bingo games.

Similar statements were made by Commissioners William J. Edwards and Clifton E. Fuller. Commissioner Light said he could make no comment pending further study of the matter. Light said he and the mayor plan to return here tonight.

Tax Bill Ready

The Mayor and Council is backing a bill to give the city more or less permanent authority to add 15 cents to the tax limitation for general purposes. This limit by the charter is 75 cents, but under special legislation it was advanced to 90 cents to enable the city to pay employes a 20 per cent bonus over their 1943 base pay.

The proposed new bill would enable the 15 cent additional "to be continued in the discretion of the Mayor and Council." The present act limits authority to six months after the end of the war and expires this June.

The new bill also provides for payment of the 20 per cent bonus, but under it the council could do away with the 15-extra levy and thus eliminate the bonus.

Ridgeley Legion Endorses More Pay For Teachers

Posts Contributes $100 To Aid Program

Urging that action be taken to place West Virginia uppermost in the nation's educational system and to increase the pay of West Virginia public school teachers, members of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136 American Legion unanimously endorsed an education legislative program last night.

Post Commander Jack Murrell and Adjutant William L. Dailey declared the post membership discussed the situation thoroughly and authorized a letter to John I. Rogers, Mineral county member of the West Virginia House of Delegates, urging him to support "any legislation that will improve the lot of public school teachers, and put the education system in West Virginia to a top position in the United States."

The post unanimously voted to contribute $100 to the Mineral County Education Association to help defray expenses of preparing and urging the passage of bills to come before the state's legislature. Dailey said the check was mailed last night.

In recent weeks, Dailey has prepared figures and data on the situation in West Virginia, and presented his information to the post last night. Most of the members were pretty well informed of the situation, he declared, and he expressed his appreciation as well as that of the post membership to the Cumberland News for publication of facts and figures on the problem.

Dailey explained that West Virginia ranks 47th in the country in education and its teachers are among the lowest paid in the nation, resulting in a shortage of teachers and a low standard of qualifications generally.

The action of the post last night, Dailey declared, "is the kind of thing the Legion is supposed to do. More posts should take a similar stand for the good of all, on such questions," he said.

75 Mt. Royal Pupils Will Take Train Excursion To Keyser Today

Children Studying Transportation

Approximately 75 pupils in the second grade of Mt. Royal School, most of whom have never been on a train, will board the "Metropolitan Special" at the Queen City Station today for a trip to Keyser, W. Va., for first-hand information about transportation in connection with their social studies classes.

Mrs. Margaret Weakland and Mrs. Edith MacMannis, the two teachers of the second grade, will accompany the children on the Baltimore and Ohio train trip. They will leave the school by bus at 10:45 a. m. for the station, to allow ample time for each child to have the experience of purchasing his own ticket.

Editor To Make Trip

Matthew W. Grove, district passenger agent for the B. and O. Railroad, and Miss Inez DeVille, Baltimore, field editor of the Baltimore and Ohio Magazine, will also make the trip. The train is scheduled to leave Cumberland at 12:02 p. m., arriving in Keyser at 12:34.

Mr Grove said arrangements are being made to have a caboose on the siding at Keyser for the children's inspection. During the train trip to Keyser, the children will have an opportunity to inspect a Pullman berth made up for night occupancy, and will be shown the dining car.

The excursion will be the first of its type ever arranged for Mt. Royal pupils, and is thought to be the first held for Cumberland school children. Before the war several trips to farms and dairies were arranged for pupils, but this is the first train trip to be sponsored, as far as is known.

Charles L. Kopp, county superintendent of schools, will be unable to make the trip, but Miss Winifred Green, supervisory teacher for the

Dispute In Georgia Can't Happen Here

Maryland is not likely to become involved in a dispute over who is governor such as now faces the State of Georgia, since Maryland's Constitution of 1867 takes care of succession to the chief executive's chair.

In fact, this state faced a situation when Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor resigned to accept his United States Senate seat that is similar in some respects to the condition existing in Georgia.

However, Governor-elect William Preston Lane, Jr., was elected by the General Assembly to serve as governor for the few remaining days of O'Conor's term. He took office and then on January 8 was inaugurated for the four-year term to which he was elected by the citizens of the state in November.

The Maryland Constitution provides that in the case of death or resignation of the governor, removal from the state, or other disqualification, the General Assembly shall elect some other qualified person to be governor.

Should there be a vacancy in the office of governor during the recess of the Legislature, the president of the Senate discharges duties of the office until a governor is elected by the Legislature, according to the Constitution.

In the event the president of the Senate should die, resign, move from the state or refuse to serve, the duties of the office of governor devolve upon the speaker of the House of Delegates, who would serve until a governor is chosen by the General Assembly.

For any vacancy in the office not provided for, the Constitution declares that the Legislature should be convened by the secretary of state for the purpose of filling the vacancy.

VFW To Hold Election Of Officers March 18

Plans for their annual election were discussed last night at the regular meeting of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, according to Post Commander Raymond Reynolds.

It was decided that nominations will be held from the floor at the first meeting in March, with the election held by secret written ballot at the second March meeting.

The post meets regularly the first and third Tuesdays of each month, which will make the election date March 18.

Local Engineer Dies Of Injuries Suffered In B & O Train Wreck

Fireman Escapes With Leg Injuries

Injuries suffered when a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad express train wrecked two miles west of Oakland at 10 o'clock yesterday morning caused the death at 12:05 a. m. today of Charles H. Smith, 65, Oldtown road, the engineer.

Smith, who died in Memorial Hospital, suffered from burns of the abdomen and legs and severe shock.

He was almost buried in the locomotive cab under coal that poured in from the tender when the engine overturned. The burns came from scalding water that dripped on him from the boiler.

Smith's fireman, Luther B. Wotring, 31, 22 Virginia avenue, escaped with right leg injuries and was reported to be in good condition early this morning.

In the meantime, B. and O. wrecking crews worked in high winds and zero temperatures to clear the westbound tracks of the wreckage of No. 29, Jersey City to St. Louis express.

Is Dug From Cab

Rescuers dug Smith from his cab after the locomotive and seven cars of the 16-car train careened off the main line on the second curve beyond 88 Bridge and piled over on their sides in a deep cut.

Tumbling coal almost buried the engineer after scalding water from the boiler dripped over him as the big Mountain-type locomotive toppled off the rails.

A member of the emergency crew helping to clear the tracks was added to the injured list last night when he stepped from a work car, plunged through a trestle 40 feet to the icy, rain-swollen Youghiogheny River.

The workman, Brown Kain, 45-year-old Keyser, W. Va., negro, said afterwards that he was carried 100 yards down stream before he was able to swim to shore.

Kain walked back to the train in the near zero weather, and a company doctor who examined him said he had suffered a dislocated shoulder. He was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, for further treatment.

Both eastbound and westbound tracks were blocked by the wreck, forcing the Cincinnatian, B. and O.'s new streamliner, to detour through Cumberland yesterday morning.

Traffic on the eastbound track was restored, however, in about four hours, and trains were running on the eastbound track yesterday afternoon. The Cincinnatian went through about an hour late, according to reporters who were at the scene, and No. 11 likewise went through.

The westbound track was torn up for about 200 yards and it was considered unlikely that it will be cleared completely before Thursday.

Seven Cars Derailed

Wotring, the fireman, jumped from the locomotive as it left the rails and started plowing down the roadbed.

The next seven cars of the train which carried no passengers, also left the rails and overturned, but the other nine remained upright.

Smith, almost buried in coal, gave directions to trainmen as they worked desperately to remove the coal. Water from the boiler was dripping on him. He was fully conscious when he finally was removed from the cab.

Both men were given preliminary treatment by Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, B. and O. physician at Oakland, before they were brought to Memorial Hospital.

No. 29 is made up at Jersey City, arrives in Cumberland at 7:42 a. m., and leaves here at 8:09.

It was reported that of the seven cars derailed, the five directly behind the engine and tender were not so badly damaged as the sixth and seventh cars which gave the appearance of having been whipped about when the engine plunged off the track.

H. F. Wyatt, superintendent of the Cumberland Division, along with other B. and O. officials went to the accident scene immediately yesterday morning and were still there last night. They had assigned no cause for the crash.

Smith, an employe of the B. and O. for about 45 years, was a native of Piedmont, W. Va., but lived in Cumberland for the past five years. He was a widower and is survived by four children, Everett and Glenn Smith, Piedmont, and Mrs. Alma Coffman, Woodstock, Va., and Mrs. Louise Taylor, Portsmouth, Va.

Wotring, who has been employed by the B. and O. for four years, is a veteran of World War II and served with the Quartermaster Corps in Italy. He was dischafged from the Army in August 1946 and resumed his employment with the railroad. Married, Wotring has one daughter, Sandra Kay, 6.

See Proposes Bill Ending Property Qualifications

Terms City Election Law Unconstitutional

A bill that would eliminate property qualifications as a requisite for persons seeking election as mayor or councilman of Cumberland has been introduced in the House of Representatives by Delegate Charles M. See.

At the present time, the law requires a candidate for City Council to have $500 worth of assessable property for a period of two years next preceding the election. A candidate for mayor must have $1,000 worth of assessable property for a period of two years next preceding the election. Taxes on the property must be paid.

See said his bill eliminates this qualification, which he termed "unfair and unconstitutional." The present law, he added, is unfair to returned war veterans who may not have been able to acquire property.

Not Required Of Others

"A man's ability," See declared, "should be judged by the voters and not by property qualifications."

No other public official in Maryland, "from the Governor on down," is required to own assessable property, See asserted, adding that this qualification likewise is not required of the President of the United States or of members of Congress.

Under the present law requiring property qualification, possession of an automobile on which taxes are being paid would be sufficient, even though the candidate held no real estate, See said. He added that he believes one member of City Council several years ago was able to hold the office because his assessable property was an automobile.

Judges Would Fix Salary

Another bill applying to this county was introduced by the Washington County Delegation, according to See. He said this measure would enable the judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, comprising Allegany, Washington and Garrett Counties, power to fix the salary of the court stenographer, which is now fixed by the Legislature.

The measure, See said, was introduced at the request of Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judges George Henderson and Joseph Mish.

Delegations of the three affected counties will meet to discuss the bill, See said.

Smith, a resident of this city, died this morning at 12:05 in Memorial Hospital as the result of injuries suffered when he was scalded and partially buried by coal from the engine as it overturned. He was rescued about 20 minutes after this picture was taken. The lower picture shows the engine and seven cars where they left the tracks. L. B. Wotring, Virginia avenue, fireman on the huge mountain-type locomotive, jumped clear of the engine, sustaining only bruises of both legs and shock, physicians said. At a late hour last night, crews were still trying to clear the wreckage and get tracks open.

75 Mt. Royal Pupils Will Take Train Excursion To Keyser Today

Children Studying Transportation

Approximately 75 pupils in the second grade of Mt. Royal School, most of whom have never been on a train, will board the "Metropolitan Special" at the Queen City Station today for a trip to Keyser, W. Va., for first-hand information about transportation in connection with their social studies classes.

Mrs. Margaret Weakland and Mrs. Edith MacMannis, the two teachers of the second grade, will accompany the children on the Baltimore and Ohio train trip. They will leave the school by bus at 10:45 a. m. for the station, to allow ample time for each child to have the experience of purchasing his own ticket.

Editor To Make Trip

Matthew W. Grove, district passenger agent for the B. and O. Railroad, and Miss Ines DeVille, Baltimore, field editor of the Baltimore and Ohio Magazine, will also make the trip. The train is scheduled to leave Cumberland at 12:02 p. m., arriving in Keyser at 12:34.

Mr Grove said arrangements are being made to have a caboose on the siding at Keyser for the children's inspection. During the train trip to Keyser, the children will have an opportunity to inspect a Pullman berth made up for night occupancy, and will be shown the dining car.

The excursion will be the first of its type ever arranged for Mt. Royal pupils, and is thought to be the first held for Cumberland school children. Before the war several trips to farms and dairies were arranged for pupils, but this is the first train trip to be sponsored, as far as is known.

Charles L. Kopp, county superintendent of schools, will be unable to make the trip, but Miss Winifred Green, supervisory teacher for the

Robinette To Head Bakers Union Here

Charles W. Robinette, 209 Fairfax street, was re-elected president of Local 246, Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union of America, AFL, at the annual election of officers held Saturday at Allegany Trades Council hall.

Other officers of the local are Ernest Yaider, 12 Front street, vice president; Russell George, Midland, corresponding secretary; Elmer E. Jeffries, Midland, financial secretary-treasurer, and Charles Mackert, Fort Ashby, W. Va., sergeant at arms.

Officers will be installed at a meeting of the local February 22.

VFW To Hold Election Of Officers March 18

Plans for their annual election were discussed last night at the regular meeting of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, according to Post Commander Raymond Reynolds.

It was decided that nominations will be held from the floor at the first meeting in March, with the election held by secret written ballot at the second March meeting.

The post meets regularly the first and third Tuesdays of each month, which will make the election date March 18.

Two Local Hospitals Approved By Surgeons

Memorial and Allegany Hospitals again have qualified for approval following the 29th annual survey completed December 31 by the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Irvin Abell, Louisville, president and chairman of the board of regents, commented that in 1946 more was expected in the way of conformance with requirements than could be required during the war. For the first time since hospital standardization was started by the college in 1918, when only 89 hospitals were approved, there is a decline, he said, in the number of approved hospitals compared with the previous year. In 1945 the total was 3,181 approved in the United States as compared to 3,118 approved by December 31, 1946.

Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, associate director of the college, said hospitals are reconsidered for approval each year, and that the fact a hospital is once approved does not mean that it stays approved.

Board Opposes Plan To Abolish Orphans Court

County Commissioners Discuss Legislation

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners voted yesterday to oppose a measure intended to eliminate Orphans Courts in Maryland, if the proposed bill comes before the General Assembly.

Judges of the Orphans Court appeared before the board yesterday at the regular commissioners' meeting and appealed for their support in a move to oppose the bill. It was explained the recommendation to abolish the court is included in the Sherbow Report, recently released.

The board approved a request of William A. Wilson and Nelson W. Russler, representing the Volunteer Firemen's Association, for their support of a bill which will provide $575 for the new fire company formed at Ellerslie. The measure does not affect allowances to existing companies, it was explained.

Grant Tax Exemption

A 50 per cent tax exemption was granted by the board to the Knights of Columbus Council in Frostburg, on 1947 taxes. One-half of the Council's building on East Union Street is used for fraternal purposes, it was explained, and the exemption is authorized under state law.

Oliver B. Wittig, Frostburg, declared, in a letter to the board that the request of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company for a tax exemption on machinery, tools and equipment, "is unreasonable and should be denied."

In another letter, A. D. Twigg, 860 Sperry Terrace, said he favors the extension "for seven or 10 years," whatever the board decides.

Going To Annapolis

Members of the board indicated yesterday they will leave this morning for Annapolis, to attend a conference at 10 a. m. with State Senator Robert B. Kimble and county members of the House of Delegates, to discuss proposed legislation of interest to the county.

Commissioners Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., William H. Lemmert and James Holmes, Clerk to the Board James G. Stevenson and Attorney to the Board Lewis M. Wilson will make the trip. The county officials were invited to attend the conference by Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the county delegation.

Mrs. Stella Hamburg appeared with a petition signed by 18 citizens, asking for repairs to a side road near the Mt. Savage Road. The matter was referred to County Engineer Albert Paye for investigation.

Mrs. William Barncord requested that a drain be installed along the Cash Valley Road. The matter was also referred to the engineer.

Hearing Date Fixed

William A. Gunter, counsel for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, asked that a hearing be held February 14 by the board, on the proposed closing of a road and crossing over the tracks near Walters' Beach, near Corriganville. The volunteer firemen and other groups there have voiced opposition to the proposed closing of the road and crossing.

The board approved the transfer of the abandoned Eckhart School to the Lower Eckhart Street Lighting Association, to be used as a community center.

Engineer Paye reported that he found the Laurel Run Road and bridge in good condition. A complaint was recently received from Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Metz, who said the road needed repairs and the bridge railing was off.

Paul Poorbaugh, of Corriganville, requested repairs to the Poorbaugh Road, near the Mt. Savage Road. The engineer will investigate.

Soldier Is Held

Paul Ziler, 223 Arch Street, a soldier, is being held in the City Jail for Military Police on AWOL charges. He was arrested yesterday morning by Police Sgt. R. R. Johnson.

Maryland's Constitution Provides For Succession To Governor's Chair

Dispute In Georgia Can't Happen Here

Maryland is not likely to become involved in a dispute over who is governor such as now faces the State of Georgia, since Maryland's Constitution of 1867 takes care of succession to the chief executive's chair.

In fact, this state faced a situation when Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor resigned to accept his United States Senate seat that is similar in some respects to the condition existing in Georgia.

However, Governor - elect William Preston Lane, Jr., was elected by the General Assembly to serve as governor for the few remaining days of O'Conor's term. He took office and then on January 8 was inaugurated for the four-year term to which he was elected by the citizens of the state in November.

The Maryland Constitution provides that in the case of death or resignation of the governor, removal from the state, or other disqualification, the General Assembly shall elect some other qualified person to be governor.

Should there be a vacancy in the office of governor during the recess of the Legislature, the president of the Senate discharges duties of the office until a governor is elected by the Legislature, according to the Constitution.

In the event the president of the Senate should die, resign, move from the state or refuse to serve, the duties of the office of governor devolve upon the speaker of the House of Delegates, who would serve until a governor is chosen by the General Assembly.

For any vacancy in the office not provided for, the Constitution declares that the Legislature should be convened by the secretary of state for the purpose of filling the vacancy.

Manslaughter Case To Resume In Court Today

Leo J. Stemp Takes Stand In Own Defense

The case of Leo J. Stemp, 22, Piedmont, W. Va., being tried in Allegany County Circuit Court on a charge of manslaughter, will be argued before the jury today, it was indicated by attorneys late yesterday afternoon, as court recessed until 9:15 a. m. today.

Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, indicated to the court that he wished to call a couple of rebuttal witnesses for this morning's session. Defense Attorney Edward J. Ryan indicated he had presented all of his witnesses after the defendant testified. Court attaches anticipated that the case should go to the jury before noon, unless there are unexpected delays.

Stemp is charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of two other veterans, James T. Hughes, 22, and Robert L. Dancer, 27, both of Piedmont, in an auto crash about 12:30 a. m. December 5, on the McCoole-Westernport highway.

Another youth, Theodore Combs, is still confined to his home as a result of the accident, according to the state's attorney, and a fifth youth, also in the wreck, Russell Morehead, testified in the case yesterday.

Stemp took the stand in his own defense and after questioning by Ryan, said he was "knocked out" before the car crashed against a pole, and remembered little about the details of the accident.

Heated Legal Battle

There were repeated clashes between defense and prosecution counsel during the examination of both Morehead and Stemp by State's Attorney Harris.

Statements, signed by the two men following the crash were presented by Harris, and he read questions and answers from them. Some of the statements attributed to the two young men were denied by them on the witness stand.

Ryan interposed numerous objections and appealed to the Court several times, in protest to the state attorney's method of dealing with the witnesses.

Most of the objections were overruled, but Associate Judge Henderson instructed Harris to "ask questions in simple form and make no statements after the question."

Ryan protested that Harris was arguing with the witnesses and appealed to the bench several times "for the court's indulgence and protection." On one occasion, when he was interrupted several times by Harris, Ryan declared, "I find it difficult to control myself."

Stemp testified that the group of five young men, including himself, met "by accident" in the American Legion Home at Piedmont, W. Va., and at his invitation, they left there about 11:45 p. m. to go to Keyser, where they planned to get something to eat and then return to their homes.

All five of them, both Stemp and Morehead testified, got in the one seat of the coupe, with Stemp at the wheel. It was shown that some of the men had "two or three bottles of beer," but Stemp and Morehead each declared that they were sober.

On the way to Keyser, Stemp told the jury, he noticed "a rock or something which appeared to be a rock" in the road and said he swerved the car to the right to avoid hitting the object. As he did so, he testified, the car dropped off the pavement on to the shoulder. As he pulled the wheel to get back on the highway, he declared, he lost control of the machine, and it ran across the road to the left. He said due to the crowded condition and the swerving of the vehicle, he cracked or bumped his head on the side of the car and was dazed or "knocked out."

Stemp testified that he did not remember much after that and did not know until afterwards that the car had struck a culvert and a pole.

Refutes Signed Statements

He said some of the statements attributed to him in the signed statements of the prosecutor were not correct. Both Stemp and Morehead, on questioning, told the jury that some of the information in the statements was given to them by the prosecutor during the questioning.

They referred particularly to questions and answers about a "gin bottle under the seat of the car," and other questions to which both made affidavit, a few days after the crash.

Stemp told the jury his car was working all right mechanically, and said his speed just before the crash was around 45 miles per hour. Morehead estimated the speed at about the same figure, although he said he could not see the speedometer, as one of the other young men was sitting on his lap.

The prosecutor, in his opening statement, said the group of young men were in the American Legion Home at Piedmont on the night of December 4 and that Stemp admitted drinking two bottles of beer, but "the State will show it was more than two bottles."

Harris asserted that Stemp asked the other four to accompany him to Keyser, where they planned to get something to eat, and that all five were on the single seat of the small coupe. The prosecutor also cited that the mishap occurred on a straight, level stretch of the highway, and that the machine was examined, following the crash, by State Trooper Walter Wilt.

"The officer said he found the brakes and steering in good condition, and all four tires were still inflated—indicating that the accident was not caused by mechanical trouble of any kind," Harris declared.

Charges Excessive Speed

Harris also asserted that the machine was being operated at excessive speed and in a negligent manner. He said measurements taken by State Police showed the right wheels of the car dropped several inches off the concrete shoulder, the car ran along the highway for 27 feet, careened across to the left side, wrecked a concrete culvert and kept going until it sheared off a power pole.

Harris said the terrific impact "tore a huge chunk" out of the pole, knocking down the high tension lines and causing a stoppage of
